Cleveland Bicycles . . .

FOR 1899.

The models for the coming season will be No. 61, men's roadsters, $50; No. 62, woman's special light roadster, $50; No. 66, men's regular roadsters, $75; No. 67, woman's regular roadster, $75; No. 68, men's roadster thirty-inch wheel, $75. Quality is Cleveland throughout, not a part slighted not a machine unworthy of a Cleveland name plate.

1899 changes—Wider handle bars, with new internal expanders, improved automatic oiling device, flush frame head, increased gauge of tubing, longer frame and new reinforcements, new ball bearing spokes, also new hubs. The Burwell detachable tire, more air, more comfort; special bearings along new lines. Crank yoke changed, doing away with disc on chain side; dust proof pedals; improved Cleveland gear case; new saddles. The 1899 models are superior to any Cleveland ever offered to the public. They have more original ideas.

We have just received some '99 models. Call and see them. It's quality that talks these days, and Cleveland quality is talking loud.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Hear McEwen At the Vogt tonight. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents admission. Elks meeting at 7:15 o'clock tonight. Certainly you must see the cake walk at the McEwen entertainment tonight. Don't miss the fun.

At the three-cornered bowling contest last night at the club a team composed of A. L. Gude, S. Nutting and J. Vogt captured the medals.

At the close of his entertainment tonight Prof. McEwen will be entertained by the Elks of our city, who always make visiting members welcome.

Presiding Elder Warner has arranged to remain over Sunday and conduct the services at the Methodist church tomorrow. They will partake of the revival nature, and all are invited to be present.

A gentleman's dog skin glove was picked up on the street this morning and brought to this office. As it is comparatively new, no doubt the owner will be willing to pay for this advertisement and receive the glove.

At 2 o'clock today Pat Kelly, one of McEwen's subjects, was put to sleep by the great hypnotist, and his resting place is in E. Jacobsen's window, which is continually surrounded by a crowd of spectators. If he dreams at all, he'll surely imagine himself in a refrigerator. Tonight at 8:45 he will awake, and take part in the entertainment.

This morning about 3 o'clock the city jail came near getting its share of the work of the fire demon. The stove pipe which passes through the wall, and which is encased in cement, became overheated and the wall began to smoke. Phirman was in the marshal's office at the time and with the assistance of a prisoner, ripped a board from the wall, and soon prevented what gave promise of being a genuine fire.

Superintendent Gardner, of the Boys and Girls' Aid Society, arrived in the city last night and is today inquiring into the case of the four boys mentioned yesterday. It is also said there are some other children to whom his attention has been called. If ever there was an officer suited to his position it is Mr. Gardner, and whatever children are committed to his charge are in good hands, and will fare well.

The winter is certainly a continued one and comes in short chapters. This morning very early the ice began to come down the river as placidly as if it had received an invitation, and by noon the river was blocked up to about the foot of Washington street. Anticipating no such an occurrence, neither the D. P. & A. N. boats nor the Klickitat had been taken to Hungry Harbor, and now are at the mercy of the ice blockade. What the result will be, remains to be seen. It is hoped, however, they will not fare badly.

For the past week there have been two men advertising and introducing a new kind of soap among our citizens. It is known as Blue Mountain toilet soap. The above named soap is made from the product of a mineral soap mine located in Eastern Oregon, and is without a doubt the best five cent soap on the market. It is put up by the Columbia Star Manufacturing Company of Portland. Their Sunshine scouring soap is without an equal for cleaning or scouring of whatever nature, and is harmless to the skin, as it contains no acids. For sale by all up-to-date grocers. Ask your dealer for it.

Usually newspapers, as well as individuals, never know just how much is thought of them, nor how good they are, as the Irishman would say, until they are dead. There are exceptions to every rule, however, and THE CHRONICLE finds itself the exception in this case. The Moro Observer eulogizes us, while it mourns over our demise thusly: "The demise of The Dalles Evening Chronicle is regretted. It was a lively little paper. We miss its daily visit." While we appreciate the fact that we are so sincerely mourned by so close an Observer, we would beg leave to inform Brother Ireland that THE CHRONICLE is a pretty lively corpse, and while we have found it necessary to call twice a week instead of six times, yet we are not ready to have our obituary written nor to be buried alive. We are neither dead nor sleeping, as the Observer will find out if it again presumes to hold an inquest over us.

SHOT IN A SALOON.

Michael Schwartz Almost Loses His Life By a Shot Fired By John Sheehy.

An exciting scene took place at Michael Schwartz's saloon this morning at 4 o'clock when Michael Schwartz, a bartender by profession, and known to be a peaceable man, came near losing his life by being shot by a man who has always been considered a respectable, law-abiding citizen, making the occurrence doubly regretted. It seems that Frank Summers and John Sheehy, both of whom were said to be under the influence of liquor, became involved in a discussion, which resulted in a quarrel. At the time of the shooting the saloon was occupied by Summers, Schwartz, Sheehy, and Chenoweth.

The two men who were quarreling stood in front of the bar, but a distance apart, while behind Summers was Schwartz. When the discussion became heated, Sheehy pulled out a 44-calibre British Bull Dog revolver and fired at Summers, who stepped aside, when the ball struck Schwartz on the right side of the face, slightly under and in front of the ear, and passing through the head, came out on the opposite side in about the same place that it entered. Another shot was fired, but Summers struck his hand and caused the shot to miss the mark and lodge in the ceiling.

Nightwatchman Phirman was summoned and immediately took Sheehy in charge, and in a short time Sheriff Kelly, who had received word of the shooting, made his appearance, when Sheehy, who made no resistance, was arrested and taken to the county jail to await developments in the case.

The unfortunate victim, Schwartz, who was more than plucky, endeavoring to prevent further trouble after he had been shot and bearing up bravely for a time, was finally taken to his room over the saloon, and Dr. Hollister being called, examined the wound and found the upper part of the jaw badly shattered. However, the patient is able to talk a little and is conscious. The doctor seems to be of the opinion that there is some show of recovery, which all concerned sincerely hope will be the outcome of the dreadful affair.

Sheehy is a freight conductor on the O. R. & N. road, and, as far as we can learn, is well thought of by not only his employes, but all of his friends, who deeply regret the occurrence. Upon realizing the enormity of the crime he was very remorseful and wept bitterly.

There is but one lesson to be drawn from these tragedies, which are constantly being enacted about us, and which frequently cause the death of citizens, often men who are respected, but who, failing to learn from the experience of others, themselves become actors in the fatal scenes. All who neglect to heed the lessons, place themselves in a position to suffer the same consequences.

ASLEEP—FAST ASLEEP.

The Great McEwen Appeared at the Vogt Last Night.

It was a difficult matter to get the audience warmed up to the situation last night at the Vogt, and when the curtain rose they came to the conclusion that they were to play freeze out, the coldness of the night, making it difficult to heat so large a hall. McEwen seemed to think he was to be the principal participant in the game, as it was with difficulty that he secured a class with which to commence his entertainment. While there may seem to be no reason for hesitancy on the part of the audience in acceding to the requests of the great hypnotist for subjects with which to carry on his class, yet we cannot see, as he seems to, that it is through any disrespect for him, but merely a hesitancy on their part to face an audience and perform actions while in that state.

However, in time the required number was obtained and an entertainment at once wonderful and pleasing to the beholders was given. Dalles people who heard McEwen last year and were so delighted with the performances, knew what to expect, and were not disappointed. This year a number of new features are introduced, adding much to the entertainment. McCoy is an artist on various musical instruments, in baton swinging and juggling, and the fact that he executes these so admirably while under the hypnotic influence, makes them the more appreciated.

The most remarkable part of the program is that in which Miss Maynard appears and is placed in a cataleptic state. She is claimed to be the greatest of cataleptic subjects, and surely, judging from the performance last night, no one will doubt that the claim is just. While in this state she is placed in a position with her head resting on one chair and her feet on another, when five men stand upon her rigid form. Afterward McEwen stood alone and at his word the form was bent and then resumed its former position. This feature has never been introduced but once before on the stage.

While a fairly good audience was present last night, no doubt the hall will be jammed tonight, when the cake walk will be introduced, presumably led by "Pat" McNeil. It is also promised that the hall will be sufficiently warm.
