OPEN RIVER TO THE SEA.

The state needs a railway commission, and it needs an open river to the sea. When these are had, the railway problem will cease to exist in this state. The construction by the general government of a short portage road at Celilo on the Columbia river, and the improvement of the lower Snake river would open a competitive highway from the heart of the Inland Empire to the sea. The products of Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho could then be loaded on steamboats which would descend the Snake and the Columbia to Celilo. There the cargoes would be transferred to other steamers lying at the lower end of the portage road, and these in turn would bear them to sea-going craft on the lower Columbia.

This would bring down freight rates in a jiffy, and the railroads would have no appeal to the legislature or the courts. The railroads would meet the river cut and go on handling the tonnage of the interior; and we may be sure they would be glad to do the business, even though rates were lowered forty or fifty per cent.

With an open river to the sea and the lower freight rates which that would bring, the agricultural interests of this section would be as prosperous as are now the mining interests. Five or six cents would be added to the price of every bushel of grain grown in this section; and taking one year with another, five cents on a bushel of wheat marks the difference between a dangerously close margin of profit, and a profit which would make better times for every worker in Eastern Washington. —Review.

The public at large, it is not too much to say, does not share in the partisanship at the bottom of the unseemly controversy between Schley and Sampson. They feel that both admirals did grand service in the war against Spain, and that, as Schley once put it, "there was glory enough for both." What they desire is that both shall be honored. Some criticism has been made of the administration because of the advance of Sampson above Schley, but it is by no means an unprecedented thing to advance one officer of the navy or army over a senior in rank, when the emergencies of the case seem to warrant such a proceeding, and that the president believed Sampson was the right man for the chief command of the naval operations against the Spanish fleet and the Cuban ports held by Spain must be conceded. The trouble first took definite shape, so as to be dangerous, with the proposition to revive the grade of admiral, for the benefit of Rear Admiral Dewey, whose important work in the Philippine islands was deemed worthy of a reward no less. Friends of both the other rear admirals thereupon demanded that the other disused grade of vice admiral should be revived, and both parties wanted it for their favorites. It even went so far that the deserved and desired promotion of Admiral Dewey was endangered. In fact, the matter of reviving the higher grade was "hung up." It is to be hoped with the obstructions cleared away it may now be pushed through speedily, as the people desire it should be.—Astorian.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Inset vigorously upon having it if "something else" is offered you. Snipes-Kinersly Drug Co.
