WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

"The Gold King"
Tonight at the Vogt.

Metropolitan Opera Company in
"La Mascot" at the Baldwin tonight.

Miss Cora Joles, who has been visiting in Portland for the past week, returned home on the boat last night.

The Metropolitan opera company will arrive on the afternoon train. They should play to a full house tonight, for there is no doubt as to their merit.

Miss Christine Farrelly, of Portland, accompanied her cousin, who was on her way to Walla Walla, as far as this city. She will spend today with her sister, Mrs. Ed Sharp, returning home tomorrow.

Mrs. Ed Beck, who has been visiting in Portland, came up to the Cascades Sunday, and after spending a day with friends there, arrived home last night.

Rev. Evans, pastor of the M. E. church in Goldendale, accompanied by his wife, arrived yesterday from that place and will spend a day or two in the city.

Linen collars with wide stripes of pink or blue on white ground, are the latest fad in mens' furnishings, and can be procured at A. M. Williams & Co.'s. Price 15c; two for 25c.

Mrs. Sarah Reed, of the Viavi Co., arrived in the city last night from Portland. Read the notice of her lectures in another column and be sure to hear her, or you'll miss something good.

Those who fail to hear the Metropolitan Opera Company tonight at the Baldwin will miss something that Dalles people rarely hear—a good opera. From all reports we can obtain they are first-class, and should have a good house.

Henry O'Flaherty, who enlisted in company L. at this place last spring, is numbered among the list of the recent dead at Manila. He is a son of J. E. O'Flaherty, who lives at Barberton, Wash., and was not known here as far as we can learn. However, the death of the brave boy is not less regretted, and some home is made desolate by the news.

The Knights held another of their famous "fun and sociability" meetings last evening. These are becoming very popular, and 'tis not to be wondered at if the good times reported really occur. Next Thursday evening the Rathbones expect to give a dancing party.

Brigadier Marshall, of Portland, assisted by Staff Captain Willis, will conduct salvation army meetings at the army barracks on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. There will also be an ice cream supper on Thursday night. Capt. Duthie will bid farewell the same evening. Everybody invited.

Letters received by friends from C. E. Bayard, who is now at Spokane, tells of the improved state of his health. When he left this city many were deeply concerned as to his condition, fearing his disease would baffle medical skill, but the change has seemed to greatly benefit him, and he is very hopeful.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chipp, who were married recently in Portland, came up yesterday on the boat and remained over in the city until the midnight train. In the meantime a pleasant reception was given them by the Epworth League, at the home of Mrs. Nelson on Third and Liberty streets. About twenty-five were present to greet Mr. and Mrs. Chipp and afterward accompany them to the train, wishing them a happy wedded life.

Rev. Gentry Rushing, pastor of the Christian church of La Grande, will arrive in the city this afternoon, with a view of taking the pastorate of the Christian church of this place. Rev. Rushing is said to be a talented minister and an eloquent speaker. He will preach in the Christian church tomorrow evening, and probably the remaining evenings of the week. A general invitation is extended to all to be present.

Our senators and representatives are returning from Washington seemingly glad to get home again. Sunday Representative Tongue returned to his home in Hillsboro, while Senator Simon came Saturday night. Senator McBride will remain in the capital for about ten days. His home coming will be a sad one, his sister, Mrs. B. F. Giltner, having died a few weeks since. Mrs. Ellis' health being very poor, Congressman Ellis will be compelled to remain for an indefinite length of time.

At a meeting of the water commissioners last night bids were received for the construction of the man hole on Union street, near Seventh. Four bids were submitted, the two lowest by Messrs. J. C. Beudahl and J. Applegate, being for $109. As the bid of the former covered more work, the contract was let to him, providing he furnished good bonds. Some misunderstanding, however, came up afterward as to the plans, and it has not as yet been decided who will take the contract.

"The Dalles is generally considered to be a pretty slow city but it has got ahead of Walla Walla by commencing a sewer system. The pipes are to be of terra cotta, and the cost will be charged to the property benefiting thereby." So says the Walla Walla Statesman. We would like to be informed where that paper got the information regarding the slowness of The Dalles. Just move down here, Mr. Editor, and we'll show you what it means to live in a town where business is transacted. No Walla Walla gets will answer here, and you don't have to search down into the sewer system to find that out.

In writing to the committee on entertainment in Portland, one of the editors, whom we remember as being one of the most enthusiastic and daring on the trip through Colorado, expressed a desire to see Mt. Hood illuminated. The committee has made arrangements to gratify the wish and W. G. Steel has consented to carry out the scheme. This will be a wonderful sight to many who have no idea of the grandeur of our snow-capped peaks and who would go into ecstasies over the Kliekkat hills covered in snow. Now, if this scheme is only a success, as we hope it will be, it will be a great feature on the program prepared for our visitors.

The Noble Dramatic Company offers great inducements to the people of the Dalles. Being used to playing to crowded houses they offer the following inducements, that people may attend tonight and determine for themselves what their merits are. Each gentleman buying a 50-cent ticket for tonight's play at the Snipes-Kinersley drug store will be entitled to be accompanied by a lady who will be admitted free; or two ladies will be admitted on the same ticket if it be procured in the manner mentioned. They also give out tickets each evening, which will entitle each one to a chance in the drawings for two sets of furniture that will be given as souvenirs during their stay.

Yesterday morning two farmers, whose names we did not learn, came into the city and left their team and wagon in Sexton's feed yard. Being ready to return home they went up to the wagon and placed a mackintosh and overcoat on the seat, going out of the yard afterward to make some purchases they had forgotten. Upon returning they found the coats gone, and started out to investigate the matter. At one of the second-hand stores they were told that two men had been there attempting to sell some coats. The marshal was then found, and together with the store keeper went up to "tramp's camp" above the city, where two men were found whom the latter identified as the men who called at his store. The mackintosh was finally given up, but not the overcoat. They were arrested, and now occupy the city jail awaiting a trial.

A large number of friends attended the funeral of Roderick McNeil, which was held at the Catholic church this morning at 9 o'clock, and regret was expressed by all as they contemplated the suddenness of the call which had come to one who was in the "best health, and who it seems was so sadly needed by the large family of children who survive him. Father Brongest spoke of his life in a manner which told to the audience what an honest, upright man the deceased had always proven himself and of the kindness of his heart for all. The office and workshop of Mr. Glenn were closed during the services, and among the sorrowing friends were found many of his fellow workmen, who appreciated his worth. He was buried by the side of his wife, who died about eighteen months ago, and whose body was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery.

Yesterday afternoon the case of the commitment of the three Wand children to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society came up before Judge Mays. The complaint had been that the father was not a fit person to have the care of the children and that he was unkind to them. It, however, appears that the father and mother of Mr. Wand have been caring for the little ones, and being very much attached to them are willing to see that they are brought up in the right manner. It was therefore decided that it was not necessary to commit them to the care of others. This is a wise move, for if it is discovered that relatives of the children thus left are capable and willing to care for them, that is the place for them. The Boys' and Girls' Aid Society has enough of a burden on its shoulders in doing its duty, by those especially needing its care, and who have no one to look to for help.

Lectures on Health.
Mrs. Sarah M. Read, of Portland, will speak in the small K. of P. hall, at The Dalles as follows: Tuesday, March 14, at 2:30 p. m., to women, on "The Physiology of Digestion;" Wednesday, March 15, at 8 p. m., to married men and women, on "Nature's Method of Curing Disease;" and Thursday, at 2:30 p. m., to women, on "How to Regain and Keep One's Youth." A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in these subjects to be present. No admission charged.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

C. L. Schmidt for Clerk and J. G. Farley Our New Director.

Where were all the voters in the district yesterday? Did they imagine it was collection day and take to the woods? Out of 540 voters, only 85 were in the city, for surely had they been here they would have taken enough interest to vote for a clerk and director for our school district. But then eighty-five were enough to elect them, and we have a new director in the person of G. J. Farley, and C. L. Schmidt, who so successfully filled the unexpired term of G. P. Morgan, deceased, was re-elected clerk.

Mr. Schmidt had no rival candidate for the office, but had there been a number he would no doubt have received the majority of votes, being just the man for the place, and one who will keep a thorough and complete account of the school records of the district. All are satisfied with the choice.

For director there were two candidates, G. J. Farley and J. T. Peters, the latter being placed in the field at a very late hour. Mr. Farley came out ahead, with four votes more than his opponent.

The new director has always been interested in everything pertaining to the welfare of the city, and as the schools are a large part of that interest, he will undoubtedly fit well in a place so well filled by his predecessor.

The school district can boast of three competent directors—Dr. Doane, Judge Liebe and G. J. Farley, in whose hands she should fare well.

Noble's Dramatic Company.

The character of the play last night at the Vogt probably accounted for the small house, which greeted the Noble company. Dalles people were never known to be taken with a play of that description, preferring rather one of the quieter kind, such as the one to be given tonight, "The Gold King." It appears, however, that our tastes differ from those of audiences in other places they have visited, where they have always opened with "The Strategists." Perhaps we have too much strategy the year around in our own midst.

As to the company. It contains some good actors. Noble himself, with his wonderful talent of impersonating, is a whole show, and in the several climaxes where he found himself completely cornered, his acting was immense. The "drunk act," as it might be called, was especially good. The Irish character was also very taking, his make-up being perfect, while with his amusing antics he kept the audience in a roar of laughter. The character comedian, W. P. Burt, who took the part of "Pepper," the dude, came in for his share of praise, his facial expressions and easy grace when he appeared and gave a monologue by way of introduction, at once winning his audience.

But of course, as is always the case, the tots captured every one present, the older one with her graceful dancing, and the younger by her cute little actions and sweet voice. When she imitated her older sister in the dance and kicked her tambourine with her tiny foot, everyone seemed to feel like hugging her, so gracefully and cunningly did she dance about the stage.

We bespeak for them a better audience tonight.
