CUBA AND HUMANITY.

Not long ago it was the fashion in certain circles to doubt the sincerity of humanitarian motives in the war with Spain. The proof is now too abundant to be questioned. Our troops in Cuba are leaving for home rapidly, and our forces in the island will be reduced to a small aggregate. The sum of $3,000,000 in gold and silver coin has been forwarded to Havana to enable the Cuban soldiers to return to civil life. Over $4,000,000 has been expended in furnishing rations to the Cuban army and to the destitute. Two large steamers are constantly engaged in the transportation of these supplies. About 40,000 Cuban men, women and children have been fed by the United States for some time, and the entire cost of each ration furnished is at least twenty-five cents. Ragged insurgents have been clothed and the sick receive treatment and medicines free. Postal facilities have been organized by American agents, but, as far as possible, civil offices are filled by natives.

Passing to the larger view of the case, the independence of Cuba has cost this country many lives and nearly $500,000,000. We refused the cession that Spain urged as its first choice when Spanish sovereignty was ended. If all this is not disinterested humanity, where in the annals of the world can it be found? But, in spite of this vital assistance, it is not yet proved that the population of Cuba, as now constituted, can successfully conduct a republic. There is a so-called Cuban Assembly, whose authority rests merely on self-assertion, and it has lost no time in antagonizing Gen. Gomez, after the United States had selected him to make out the list of Cuban soldiers entitled to receive a share of the $3,000,000 forwarded from the American treasury. No basis is left for skepticism on American humanity, but there is a problem concerning its speedy effectiveness in dealing with Cuban emotionalism and other peculiarities.—Globe-Democrat.

The details of an execution, always shocking, and yet to a multitude of morbidly curious persons fascinating, lose nothing of their gruesome character by the substitution of the electrical chair for the gallows. The intent of the law which substituted electrocution for hanging—or part of its intent, at least—was to rob legal execution of its sensational character, and make it a thing of mystery and silence. Even the subject was not to know until the fatal hour arrived, the day set for the execution of penalty. The grim ceremony was to be conducted quietly and with awesome dignity, the incident was to be closed with as little comment as possible. The plan presupposed an ideal state of the public mind which has evidently not yet been realized, since the details of the late electrocution in Sing Sing are complete—even minute—and leave nothing for the immediate community of the curious to desire except a chance to witness the scene so graphically described. It must be admitted, however, that civilization has made some advancement in recent years, since this opportunity is rigidly denied.—Oregonian.

The gold reserve keeps climbing upward, and has passed the $240,000,000 mark. Additions to this great sum are made daily, and so large a portion as 84 per cent of the customs revenue was paid in gold at New York in one week recently. Still gold is little seen in ordinary business transactions, despite the fact that the treasury is troubled to supply the demand for paper money, and small bills are so scarce that the New York banks are taking extraordinary measures to stock up with them.

Remarkable Rescue. Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued to use and after taking six bottles found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store. Only 50 cents and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

Notice to Tax Payers. I will promptly close the tax roll and turn over the delinquent list to clerk on first Monday in April. Interest on all county warrants paid in for taxes shall cease on and after the turning over of such roll. ROBERT KELLY, Sheriff, Wasco Co. The Dalles, March 15, 1899.
