UNFIT FOR GOVERNMENT.

That the Filipinos are unfitted for self-government and a place among civilized nations is shown by the observations of special correspondents on the islands, says the Review. The native warfare is a savage one. Night assassination, disregard of Red Cross flags, ambushing of unarmed men, are of frequent occurrence there, and their repetition in the future will be prevented only by ceaseless vigilance on the part of American troops.

The fact has been established that a few unprincipled leaders of ignorant natives are continuing the hopeless warfare. The impression is kept alive in the minds of their followers that Americans are on the islands to establish a government even more corrupt than that of Spain, although Aguinaldo knows well the officers who oppose him, and partook freely of their hospitality when he was a virtual refugee.

A repetition of the arguments advanced for retention of the Philippines seem useless in light of these facts, yet there are those who contend that Otis should haul down his flag and Dewey withdraw his squadrons from Manila bay. The enlisted men in the ranks of the First Washington, the officers and men of every American regiment on the island know differently, and they have good reason to feel the necessity of a vigorous military administration for some time to come.

The ultimate future of the islands rests with the natives themselves. They are not bettering their chances for early departure of American armies by their attempts at foul murder in the city and their barbaric actions in the field.

THEY MUST BE TAUGHT.

The American commissioners to the Philippines are causing to be translated into all the dialects on the islands the address of the president to the Filipinos. It is one of the most generous propositions ever made by a modern power, and shows the United States as being the great disinterested civilizing factor on earth, says the Telegram.

All this government requires of them is to lay down their arms and allow us to teach them how to grow to advanced and prosperous stages. The authority we propose exercising over them will be of the mildest type, and will endure only until we have taught them peaceful self-government.

What may eventuate should these half civilized peoples spurn our well-meant efforts is problematical. But in that case a war of extermination would be justifiable.

The pen with which the queen of Spain signed the treaty will be valued as a souvenir of a large transaction in real estate for the sum of $20,000,000, and other considerations.

It takes $12,000 to pass an American troop-ship through the Suez canal. The only way to keep even in this business is to build the Nicaragua canal.

Col. Ingersoll says that "Bryan's day is over. He knows more than he did." The colonel's first sentence is accurate. The second is a shade too optimistic.
