Capt. Short now has a pilot house on the Dalles City, which is second to none on the river. It has been entirely rearranged and fitted up to the queen's taste.

Andrew Keller is not prospecting in front of his place of business, but merely intends to tap the main and secure a force of water sufficient to manipulate his ice cream freezer, thus making a great saving in elbow grease.

The condition of Mrs. J. H. Wood is considered very critical today, and much fear is entertained for her recovery. A consultation of physicians was, however, held this afternoon, and the report given was somewhat more encouraging.

After an illness of nearly two months, Mayor W. S. Mason, of Portland, died at his home in that city yesterday morning. While the mayor's ailment was sorosis, or enlargement of the liver, superinduced by an attack of la grippe nearly two months ago, the immediate cause of death was lack of nourishment. Being deprived of the necessary fuel the machinery of the human system refused longer to operate.

One of the very best ways of advertising a city or country is by means of the special editions gotten out by the various newspapers. The latest one to visit us is that of the Walla Walla Statesman, which has a style peculiarly its own, and deserving of especial credit from the fact that the entire publication is the work of the Statesman office. It is a splendid advertisement for that city, and covers every field necessary to that end.

Watch your chance, for it isn't often that a man has the good luck to find in the vest pocket of a new suit of clothes a brand new watch; but those who are so fortunate as to purchase a suit at Pease & Mays' this week will be thus privileged, for with every suit costing $10 and over, you will be presented with a good open-faced, silver watch, warranted for a year. It behooves you to call at their clothing department and inquire into the matter.

Last Saturday morning as The Dalles stage was leaving the stable, one of the wheel horses fell and scaring the others they proceeded up the street in a lively manner. The driver got rattled and threw down the lines and jumped off the stage. We suppose to catch the leaders. After dragging the horse about a block, they were caught by some passer by. The horse that had fallen was severely hurt and another one had to be put into his place.—Prineville Review.

Frank J. Alexander is in the city today representing the "Editorial Souvenir," a publication which will be gotten up description of the various cities of the state, and forwarded to every member of the National Editorial Association, which will visit our state in July. This will give them an idea of the different places along their route, and just what to expect as they make the trip. The Dalles should at least be represented by a page or two regarding our city and the vicinity, with some cuts of the scenery hereabouts.

Much concern has been felt by the relatives and friends of John Cooper since the dispatches received yesterday that E. D. Cooper had been injured in the conflict Sunday. It was thought by some to be one of the two nephews of D. J. Cooper who are among the volunteers, but their initials were W and P. J. P. Lucas, of the land office, however, has an explanation which it seems to us is a very plausible one. He says that among the volunteers from Dallas was Emmett Cooper, who was a member of Company M, and that while the name of the company and the initials are right, Cooper has been taken for Cooper, and Dallas for The Dalles.

The steamer Spokane has been placed in service on the Snake river between Sparta and Lewiston with double daily service and will be operated as a through mail, express and passenger steamer, making round trips daily except Saturday. Leave Riparia at 2:30 a. m., arriving at Lewiston at 12 o'clock noon. Leave Lewiston at 2:30 p. m. arriving at Riparia at 7 o'clock p. m. The steamer Lewiston will take the place of the Spokane on the same schedule Saturdays and at other times will be operated on a wild schedule, taking care of all local work. The object of this new schedule is to place the Wisten and Buffalo Hump countries more in touch with points on the O. R. & N.

Yesterday Mr. E. P. Fitz Gerald received a letter from his son, Lieut. C. C. Fitz Gerald, now on duty near Havana, and with it a number of very interesting pictures taken from the time he boarded the transport en route to the scene of conflict up till the present time. Among them are photographs of many of Havana's noted buildings and scenes of historical interest. Strange as it may seem, Lieut. Fritz Gerald tells his father that one day while in the vicinity of "Intrenchment No. 2," near Havana, he came across a salmon can containing the brand of Senfert Bros' cannery. The question now is, would it not be well to organize a court of inquiry and investigate the question whether or not the aforesaid firm has not been smuggling into the enemy's headquarters some of their "embalmed salmon," and if so make the punishment fit the crime. We believe, however, that even the salmon would revolt against such a state of affairs.

State Superintendent Ackerman will arrive in The Dalles this evening, and spend tomorrow visiting our public schools, after which he will make a trip to Heppner, returning in time to attend the educational meeting at Dufur. He was in attendance at the teachers association at Walla Walla last week, where an organization was effected which means much to the teachers of Oregon. Deeming it best, the Oregon State Teachers Association was divided in two divisions, to be known as follows: All the territory east of the Cascade mountains, as the eastern division of the Oregon State Teachers Association; and all west of the Cascade mountains to be known as the western division of the Oregon State Teachers' Association. Since so many teachers from Eastern Oregon were present at the Inland Empire Teachers' Association meeting, the state superintendent thought it an opportune time to perfect an organization, and the first meeting is to be held at La Grande, about the 1st of September. The definite time will be announced later.

FIGHTING AS SHE IS.

Harry Fredden And Earle Sanders Get Into the Fray by Strategy.

The following letter was received yesterday from Harry Fredden by his mother, and gives an idea of his experience at the beginning of the recent conflict. No doubt Harry has since seen more fighting than he dreamed of. He says:

If you remember in my letters to you, I spoke of trouble we expected to have with the natives before we left here. It has come at last, and it is a hot scrape, too. The battle of San Juan, in Cuba, or the charge of the Rough-Riders are not in it with the fighting that is going on here. I believe, from all reports, it is the hardest fight we have had since the beginning of the war with Spain. We have been fighting both day and night for the past eight days and it is just as near the end as when we began. It will take almost too long to go into detail and repeat it all as it happened, but you can get the most of it out of the papers which I will send you. We have lost a great many men, killed and wounded, even more than the papers state. But the Negro loss is so large they can't count them, nor will never know the exact number; for you can go on the battlefield and see them piled up in bunches of eight to ten feet deep, where a shell from Dewey's fleet has exploded, while others are just torn to pieces. As they do not hurry the burial of these victims, the dogs just feed upon them. It's a scene which I will always remember as long as I have life.

I was on the firing line and took part in battle, which very few men from the Oregon regiment can say, as we have taken no part in the fight. All we are doing is guarding the walled city to see that no outbreak occurs in the streets. It is a great sight to see Dewey's fleet shell the town, blow up a church, or to have a shell burst in the enemy's line. It does a man good to witness it, and still it seems wrong; but everything is fair in "love and war," as they have deliberately shot down our brave soldiers just as they would a dog. Who can blame us for killing every native we meet? We will do it yet if they don't stop fighting, in fact we have done more already in one week than the Spanish army has done in three years. Dewey has the German warships under arrest for landing war necessities to the natives, for they say, on the field, guns were found which came from Germany. Yet we don't know whether this is true or not, but I do know that Dewey has warships on each side of it
