GERMANY AND THE U. S.

All fair-minded persons can ap preciate the feelings of the Chicago German-Americans who have met in mass-meeting and protested against efforts made by the thoughtless or Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, the designing to engender bad feel- Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped ing between the United States and Hands, Chilblains. Best Pile cure on Germany. The declaration sent forth from that meeting has not exaggerated the part which men of German gists. birth and origin have played in the development of this nation. The German people are a great race. Their men are brave and their women virtuous. Science, art, music, philosophy and literature have been tremendously enriched by them. We have no better citizenship in this country than that presented by our German neighbors.

But there is no call to carry this grievance into political organization, and if the leaders of the Chicago movement are prudent, they will stop with their recent declaration. Americans of native birth have no liking for race movements of a retaliatory or recriminating nature. They are not pleased with the prospect of organized bodies of adopted Germans making political and social warfare on other bodies of adopted Englishmen and Canadians.

It should be remembered that the German press has been the chief offender in the small work of trying to excite a bitter feeling between For Comfort, Economy and Pleasure, travel by the steamers of The Regulator Line. to excite a bitter feeling between part it was outspoken in expressions of sympathy for Spain and condemnation of America. We know now that these violent and sometimes brutal outbreaks reflected neither the sentiment of the German government nor the German people, but there was a time when this was not so clear. It is a pity the Chicago meeting neglected to call the anti-American press of Germany to ac

It is time to drop the matter. Cordial relations exist between Germany and the United States, and there is no il! will here against German-Americans. The converse is the case; there is very general and deepseated affection and respect for this admirable element of American citi-

It is of little use in any connection and a dangerous, useless weapon at nearly all times. Among civilized people it has no value, and those who persist in making daily use of it by carrying it on their persons should be severely dealt with. They are law breakers, and should not be allowed to indulge in a senseless, murderous practice at the risk of other more valuable lives .- East Oregonian.
