IT IS REFRESHING.

It is refreshing to note the subsidence of the recent wave of sentimental sympathy for Aguinaldo and his army. As the truth is disclosed, and the world learns the irresponsible character of the so-called Filipino government, and hears of the atrocities committed by its army against the Red Cross, the Spanish prisoners, and even the Filipino people, the Hoarites begin to understand the absurdity of their recent hysterical declamations. They begin to realize that it was a mistake to measure their sentimental guesswork against the matured judgment and reliable information of the administration.

President McKinley has not been firing in the air. His sources of information were official and trustworthy. Months ago he learned from Dewey, Wildman, Merritt, Otis and other officials of the diplomatic and consular service and the army and the navy, the truth concerning Aguinaldo and his government and army. He knew that it would never do to pull down the flag and leave the islands to be plundered and oppressed by barbarians, because that step would have set the United States back 100 years in the estimation of civilization.

The Hoarites have made the further mistake of assuming that Aguinaldo represents the diverse interests of the islands, and that his government was the choice of a homogeneous nation. As a matter of fact, his so-called army of 30,000 insurgents is only one-third hundredth part of the Filipino population, and recent disclosures show that the larger part of these 30,000 soldiers have been fighting under duress. For these deceived and unwilling conscripts a sense of pity rises; but for Aguinaldo and his treacherous lieutenants, pity is wasted sentiment. The United States has fed them and clothed them; has given them arms and helped to rid them of their oppressors. It was proceeding to deal with them and their country in a spirit of unexampled breadth and generosity when they turned on their benefactor and bit the hand extended to aid them. Knowledge of these facts is sifting into the minds of the most hysterical Hoarites.—Spokesman-Review.

DECADENCE OF TITULAR NOBILITY.

Titled aristocrats of this day and time, unpossessed of anything but their patents of nobility, scarcely fare as well as the commoner who has a trade or a profession. This is particularly the situation in which the pauperized British nobleman finds himself, says the Telegram.

In illustration of this, last evening's dispatches mention that a New York theatrical manager has engaged the Earl of Rosslyn—a sure-enough, blue-blooded earl—as a member of one of his companies.

It is true that few peers of the realm of Great Britain give such publicity to their want of means to support their titles in befitting style, but it also is true that the United States contains many scores of moneyless titled Englishmen, in the various walks of life, earning a subsistence. Some of these are sufferers from the unbridled extravagance of their ancestors, and others have themselves to blame for their "come down in the world."

There is not a large city in the Union, according to a statement from a very authentic source, that holds not, or has not held, one or more of these unfortunate aristocrats, within the past decade and a half. Quite a considerable contingent of this class cross the Atlantic with a view of retrieving their fortunes by exchanging their noble names for the cash of American heiresses. There is hardly a doubt that the Earl of Rosslyn had such a scheme in his mind's eye when he left home, and never dreaming that the force of circumstances would reduce him to the rank of a common play actor.

A dozen years ago any titled Englishman or Frenchman who came to this country, however penniless, could have his pick among American heiresses. However, it is not so now. The "Papa Letters" have dwindled to a very insignificant number.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.
