The Democratic Brooklyn Eagle, in 1900 for the presidency, remarks that "the probability is Mr. Otney will vote for William McKinley for that office, and the Times will ask its readers to do the same thing." This forecast is probably correct.

Very likely Mr. Olney, if he voted at all in that year, voted for Mc-Kinley in 1896. It was said at the time that President Cleveland did not vote that year. If he had voted there is no doubt that it would have been also for McKinley. No doubt both will cast Republican ballots next year. The Republican party is going to get many Democratic votes in 1900. The reason of this is plain, of course. The Republican is the party of solidity, sanity and stability. It knows what the people want, and does it. Two parties are essential in a country with representative institutions. A little op position is a good thing to keep a party from dropping into carelessness and shiftlessness. The Democracy, if its imbecile leaders do not Telegrams from Otis, Dewey and H.A. STURDEVANT, reputable correspondents at Manila are the ones that the American people read with confidence.

Inspector General Breckinridge, MOLLIE V. O'LEARY, just returned from Cuba, says he is confident that "if a vote were taken today on a proposition for annexa tion to the United States it would be adopted by two to one." The DR GEISENDORFFER feeling will grow with the progress of events and the intelligent study of the subject.

The Spanish fleet at Santiago, consisting of four fine modern armored eruisers and two torpedo boats of the latest pattern, was totally lost in a battle in which it succeeded in Office hours, 2 to 4 p. m. killing but one man. Under the circumstances it is not worth while to rebuild the Spanish navy.
