WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

We are sorry to hear that Orlando Brooks is quite ill at his home four miles from the city.

Mrs. F. L. Houghton is the fortunate winner of the Hostetler bowling trophy for this month.

After an illness of about twenty days, W. H. Butts is again able to be on the streets, looking very much the worse for wear.

C. E. Corson of The Dalles, a Sumpter visitor, picked up a nugget near town the other day. Its estimated value ranges from 10 cents to $5.—News.

The fickle weather of the past few days has caused the river to be fickle, and instead of rising it fell yesterday, standing at 14.1 this morning.

Elder O. P. Bailey will hold preaching service in the Calvary Baptist church tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, commencing at 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited to be present.

Prof. St. Lawrence, the blind phrenologist, is in the city and will begin this evening and give a series of entertainments in the Baldwin. Admission free.

The latest word as to the condition of Bessie Rowland was received yesterday, and was to the effect that her condition had not changed, the disease seeming to be taking its course, and admitting of no change one way or the other.

The East End will be lively from now on, as the wool teams begin to arrive. This morning two large ten-horse teams came in from the interior, bringing the first clip of the season to the Wasco warehouse. We are glad to see them making their appearance.

Mr. Corlies Merritt, editor of the Heppner Gazette, stopped over in The Dalles last evening, remaining today, on his way home from Portland where he has had a week's hospital experience. Mr. Merritt is an old-time newspaper man, having been identified with the work for over twenty years.

J. H. Carlock, of the U. S. Geological Survey, was in town last night to meet Tom Maxwell, who is also connected with the survey, and has just arrived from Washington. Thirty or forty members of the survey will in the near future set out to make surveys, a portion of them near Baker City and others in the vicinity of Mt. Adams.

Mrs. Wm. Tackman has just added a new greenhouse to her already commodious quarters, which is to be filled with the choicest of roses. Another addition will also be built, which will be devoted to the special culture of chrysanthemums, so that Dalles people need not send to Portland to obtain the choice large flowers. She is making her greenhouse all that can be found in large cities.

On next Saturday evening the "Illi-hee" bowlers of Salem will meet The Dalles bowlers in a contest game on the club alleys. The Oregonian says the Salem bowlers have "donned their war paint." If they beat our boys they'll have to carry their tomahawks as well. We have not heard as yet the names of the Salem team, and only know that "Handsome Jack" Darcy is one of them. Therefore we conclude the ladies of The Dalles will be permitted to witness the game.

Last Wednesday John Epping, a bridge carpenter, got into a fracas in Hood River and was arrested for assault and battery by Constable Olinger. He, however, escaped, and nothing has been seen of him since, until last night when Sheriff Kelly located him in a car occupied by bridge carpenters in the yards here. He at once secured him and telephoned to Constable Olinger, who will arrive this afternoon and get his prisoner.

On the evening of April 8th Mr. M. B. Presby, father of Lawyer W. B. Presby, died at his son's residence in Goldendale in the 80th year of his age. His widow and three children survive him. His life was devoted to active business pursuits. Much of his time was given to lumbering, principally to the production of timber for ship building. For five years, from 1859 to 1864, he was engaged in mining in Colorado. The greater part of his life was spent in New England.

The Independent Order of Old Bachelors, an aggregation of "single gentlemen" recently organized in this city, is to make its first appearance before a Dalles audience on next Friday evening at the Christian church. Their program is exceedingly unique and original, and the refreshments will be served up in characteristic bachelor style. General admission 15 cents, or 25 cents per pair. Old maids 50 cents. Our readers are asked to keep this in mind and be in attendance. Program will be published later.

Miss Grace Maynard, the young woman who was in The Dalles a few months ago with McEwan, the hypnotist, has been called to take the long sleep from which even the great hypnotist cannot awaken her, and which, it would seem, is preferable to the sleep she had been taking. She died recently at St. Cloud, Minnesota. Although she seemed well when in this city, it was said she contracted a severe attack of pneumonia at Salem, as a result of being thrown into the river by a boat capsizing, she being out with a boating party at the time.

Captain S. B. Ormsby recently received a letter from the department ordering him to inspect nine townships of land on the headwaters of the Des Chutes river, in the Cascade forest reservation, with a view of restoring that portion to the public domain. Superintendent Ormsby will start across the mountains for the purpose of making the desired examination as soon as the condition of the roads and trails will permit of travel. This is one of a number of cases, in states having forest reserves, where efforts are being made to have portions of the reserves restored to the public domain, and thrown open to settlement.

News reached the city this morning of the death of Maggie Keys, youngest daughter of Wm. Keys, Saturday at Mayville, Gilliam county. She has been ill for some months of consumption, which hardly seems possible, for upon her visit to this city hardly a year since she was so strong and well appearing. Maggie was very well known and a favorite in The Dalles during her residence here. She was graduated from the Wasco Independent Academy in the class of '91, and was a very bright student; as well as possessing a cheerful disposition which carried sunshine with it. Her friends will learn the sad news with deep regret.

Moro people are working hard to obtain the mail contract for the route between that city and Prineville. Their promises are numerous and far reaching but the fulfillment is yet to come. They are sending out advance agents along the line soliciting signers to a petition for the same. So far as we can ascertain but an hour or two will be gained in time, which is the only advantage to any one except the Moro people. The Antelope Herald says: "Mr. C. C. Kuney, of Moro, spent the latter part of last week in our town, circulating a petition for a change in the present Prineville-Antelope-The Dalles mail route. The proposed change, as we understand it, involved the abandonment of the above named route, and the creation of a new one from Moro to Prineville, via Antelope. We understand that Mr. Kuney was fairly successful, a number of our citizens signing the petition. However, many others could see no special advantage to be derived by anyone except the good citizens of Moro, and as Moro's gain would be The Dalles' loss, they refused to sign the petition."

Friday Mrs. Carrie Day, of Viento, who for some time past has been out of her mind at times, caused by physical ailments, took a notion to leave her family and stay with her sister in this city, and therefore came up on the train that day. Her father was here visiting, and the next morning sent her back home on the boat. Her daughter saw her approaching the house and ran to a neighbor, but her husband, who was at home, irritating her somehow caused one of her violent spells to return, and she grabbed a stick of wood and beat him over the head. He then appealed to the officers, who took her in charge and telegraphed to the sheriff here. Saturday she was brought to this city and being adjudged insane, Deputy Sheriff Sexton and Constable Tucker conveyed her to the asylum yesterday morning. She is a sad-looking woman and rational enough at times. Everyone who saw her pitied her and the officers say they seldom have a patient to convey that so elicits their sympathy.

AT HOOD RIVER.

How the Teachers Enjoyed the Visit and Were Benefited by the Meeting.

A more enthusiastic crowd of persons could not be found than the teachers and their friends who returned from Hood River Saturday night, loud in their praises of the trip, the institute, and above all the beauty of Hood River and the hospitality of its people.

Arriving in that now-thriving little berg, they were met by a delegation of teachers and others, who soon had them comfortably seated in a hack driven by Capt. J. H. Dukes, and they were driven over the beautiful road above the city, where was obtained the grandest view of Mt. Hood and Mt. Adams imaginable. It was just the day for such a drive. Upon returning they spent a short time in walking about the city and viewing the many improvements now going on, after which they were taken to the school house where the meeting was to be held. Much has been said by them regarding the neatness of the building and the air of interest in their school which pervades the atmosphere there.

Hon. E. L. Smith welcomed the visitors in an eloquent and most cordial manner, which just captured the teachers, particularly the young ladies. Prof. Gavin answered in a happy manner, assuring the people of Hood River that they were glad to be privileged to meet with them.

Director N. C. Evans being compelled to visit Portland, was not present to speak on the subject assigned him, "Our Schools."

Some of the best papers ever read at an institute in the county were those by Mrs. E. L. Smith, Miss Minnie Elton and Miss White, while Troy Shelly gave a splendid talk on "How to Teach Multiplication."

Miss Salina Phirman told how she taught number work in the first grade, and her remarks were at once interesting and entertaining, as she illustrated her methods.

Prof. J. S. Landers covered a part of a wide field embraced in the subject "Literature in the Schools," in a manner which at once caused every one present to be interested. The question intended to be brought up was how shall we have literature in the schools? and the answer naturally was, create a school library. It was discovered that about seventy per cent of the districts of the county have started libraries since November 1st.

This subject was very thoroughly discussed by Supt. Gavin, J. T. Neef, Troy Shelly, C. D. Thompson, J. M. Carroll, H. L. Howe, Hester-Howe, Kate Davenport and Mrs. E. M. Wilson.

During the session some of the best of singing was listened to, which was furnished by the school children, under the direction of Miss Ann Smith.

At the noon hour the visitors were escorted to the hotel by a committee of teachers and friends, who joined them in the dinner served.

The meeting closed at 3:30 o'clock, and about 4:30 they started for the boat landing. Although the wind blew heavily, the return trip was very enjoyable and they reached home at 7 o'clock.

These educational meetings are not only instructive, but a great benefit to the teachers, giving them an opportunity to recuperate after weeks of arduous work.

REGARDING THE SEWER SYSTEM

An Engineer to Be Employed to Investigate—Concerning Glove Contests.

The council met in special session Saturday night, with Mayor Nolan presiding and Councilmen Kuck, Johnston, Johns, Clough, Gunning, Stephens and Keller on hand.

The mayor stated that the object of the meeting was to hear the report of the special sewer committee which was appointed to investigate the proposed sewer system for the city and advise concerning the best means to the end desired. Kuck, of that committee, recommended that a civil engineer be employed to look into the proposed system and report as to its feasibility. Whereupon, on motion of Councilmen Johnston, the recommendation was accepted and the committee directed to employ W. J. Roberts, formerly of The Dalles, but now of Pullman, Wash., as such engineer. The recorder immediately wrote Mr. Roberts to that effect.

An application having been made for license to give a glove contest in our city next Saturday evening, and no ordinance being on the statute books regulating such matters, Councilman Stephens introduced Ordinance No. 300, which reads as follows: "The proprietors or agents of all exhibitions of prize fighting, glove contests or exhibitions of skill in glove fighting, shall pay a license of $50 for each exhibition." On motion of Councilman Johns, it was placed on its final passage, every councilman favoring the same.

It was then reported that a nuisance to the city existed under the Chinese house at the corner of Second and Union streets. On motion of Councilman Gunning the matter was referred to the committee on health and police.

Meeting then adjourned till the night for the regular meeting.
