WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Bobby Gaylor At the Vogt tomorrow night. August Buchler will place his celebrated Bock beer on tap Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Crawford R. Thoburn, pastor of Centenary Methodist church at Portland will dedicate the new Methodist church at Moro next Sunday.

Fresh solio paper and Eastman's films all sizes direct from the manufacturer at Snipes-Kingersly Drug Co.

At Columbus, O., three of the leading churches—Congregational, Methodist and Baptist—have adopted the rule that women remove their hats. There is opposition among the women, but the movement promises to make gradual progression. At the Baptist church several maids are employed to wait upon the ladies as they enter, take their hats and wraps and issue checks for them.

The Salt Lake papers all speak well of the Bobby Gaylor Company, which plays here tomorrow night. The Tribune says he is a very sharp-witted Irish comedian, and that whenever he visits that city he is sure of a crowded house.

James S. Stewart, editor of the Fossil Journal, went all the way from Fossil to Portland to hear "Ian Maclaren." Mr. Stewart is one of the liveliest, brightest editors of the state, and never misses an opportunity to hear something good. He was brought up in the same town with John Watson and they played together as boys. That is one reason he was so anxious to see him.

The Dalles zephyrs have again been dealing in real estate today, and it has come up with a vengeance, much to the disgust of teamsters who have had to encounter it. A number of wool teams came in this morning in spite of the sand. The wool which is now arriving is said to be that from the country nearer town, none from the Antelope section having as yet made its appearance. Large loads of pelts are now being brought in every day.

Portland scalpers have been taught a lesson in buying up theater tickets by their experience in that regard with the seats for the Bostonians, and they are now returning them to the box office. The city council has also passed an ordinance providing a brokers' and speculators' license for those dealing in theater tickets. A license fee of $20 per day is fixed for all persons engaged in selling theater tickets for profit except the manager of a theater. Violation of the ordinance is punishable by a fine of $50 or 25 days imprisonment, or both. The accident which happened to Mr. Butts yesterday afternoon is deeply regretted by his friends, who feel he is scarcely able to withstand its results. It is difficult as yet to determine just how badly he is hurt, but having been kicked in the chest it is feared he may be injured internally. His left collar bone was broken, while his face and scalp received some slight wounds, and his right elbow was also badly bruised. He became conscious before he reached the house yesterday, but it has been necessary to administer opiates to relieve his suffering. He is now being cared for by Mrs. Crawford, the trained nurse.

One of the neatest, prettiest little business places in The Dalles will be occupied by the Daut Optical & Jewelry Co., in Mays & Crowe's building, which is now being completed. A partnership has been formed by P. G. Daut and S. D. Stouffer, and as soon as the furniture arrives and everything is in trim they will be ready for business. Some of the very latest and nicest furnishings have been ordered, and will arrive in about ten days. Cathcart and Strauss have formed a partnership and now occupy Daut's old stand on Second street, where they will be ready tomorrow to furnish customers with the best brands of cigars and tobacco.

Wednesday being the eightieth anniversary of Odd Fellowship, it was decided by the members of the order in this city to hold anniversary exercises on the regular meeting night of the Rebekahs. Accordingly, about eighty members and guests were present at the K. of P. hall to enjoy the program prepared. The literary and musical program consisted of a solo by Dr. Doane, a duet by Messrs. Crandall and Doane, a solo by Miss Maie Cushing, (with guitar accompaniment), and a short address by Hon. John Michell regarding the order and its benefits. The grand march, which was led by the leading officers of the order, and which at once proceeded to the small hall in quest of the banquet, was somewhat different from the usual custom which prevails, from the fact that every gentleman was required to have a partner, and could not get a "lady of his own," but must have some one's else sweetheart or wife. That may account for the fact that the banquet, which was served by A. Keller, was said to be his very best effort in that line, and to have been also the most enjoyable the guests ever sat down to.

The Game at Salem.

Our bowlers did not return last evening as was expected, but it is probable remained over in Portland to attend the opera. In the Salem Statesman, however, we find the scores by games, which show that The Dalles team was not beaten so badly after all, winning the first two games, and coming out only twenty-seven points behind on the total games. At the close of the games the visitors were entertained at the club rooms, where lunch was served. No doubt a third game will be planned in order to determine the stronger team of the two, although Dalles people have already decided that question in their own minds. The scores were as follows:

Table with columns for club names (ILLIHEE CLUB, DALLES COMMERCIAL CLUB) and individual players with scores for 1st, 2nd, 3d, and 4th games.

THE GIPSY OUTFIT.

A Bear That Was Bare—How the Baby Frightened a Deck Hand.

The passengers who came up on the boat Wednesday were greatly interested in and amused by a gipsy outfit which was taken on at Corbett's Landing, and consisting of three men, two women, a boy, two small children, three bears and numerous other adjuncts wholly indispensable to the completeness of such an aggregation. One bear in particular succeeded in making itself conspicuous for its very bareness. It was impossible to determine to what type it belonged, but from all appearances it might have been a pole or bear, being lank enough to be either, and surely lacked enough fur for a person taking only a furtive glance to decide it to be the latter. His neck was bare, the greater part of his body was bare, he being in the act of shedding, while his legs were barely covered.

But he bare his share of the burden and could dance the two-step or a cake walk as gracefully as many society people upon whose fortunes he depends for a living. His only fault in that line is that he might be classed among the "huggers." He is also a scrapper from away back and knocked the other bears out in every round.

When the steamer landed the women had their numerous goods, chattels and valuables arrayed on the beach, and the deck hands began the process of piling them on the deck. Noticing an old gunny sack lying among the other rubbish, one of the men grabbed it up and was in the act of slinging it on board, when it was seen to move as if alive and the brave man immediately dropped it like a hot potato, only to be informed that it contained a baby, and so it was tenderly brought ashore.

Many passengers who watched their actions on the trip up were led to wonder at the concern which one of the gipsy women seemed to feel regarding a little 3-year-old child who appeared to be ill. As one of the gentlemen passed by she besought him to do something for her little one. Stooping down he felt its head and pulse and told the woman that her child was quite sick, and needed care. She burst into tears and grabbing the little one in her arms, hugged it to her breast as tenderly as would any more civilized mother, and perhaps more tenderly than would many mothers of this age. Even among these uncouth, wandering people the mother love is still predominate, and those who noticed her cuddle the unattractive little babe so tenderly, felt there was yet some good in her make-up.

Our Brave Oregon Soldiers.

On every side do we hear praises of the brave Oregon boys who are now fighting for their country. Here is what "Freedom" a Manila newspaper says:

"In the battle of Malabon on Saturday, March 25th, the Second Oregon regiment U. S. V. took an active and leading part, and displayed courage, valor and endurance of the highest order. For years to come the work of this regiment last Saturday will be pointed out as an example of what can be achieved by volunteers. No veterans of Wellington or Napoleon or Grant could have done better. No one can possibly conceive the heroic bravery of the Second Oregon on this occasion unless he walked over the battle field; over the insurgent trenches, one after another; through the thickets and jungle; over open stretches where for 500 yards the boys faced a steady rain of bullets; and up to the final insurgent lines which consisted really of a fort with stone loop holes. This is not exaggeration. It is not half the truth. The whole truth concerning the work of this regiment will not be written. No one saw it all, and descriptions of those rushes through fields where the air was fairly charged with pulsing lead would hardly be believed. Why was the regiment not annihilated? God only knows. There is an old saying that it takes a ton of lead to kill a soldier. The natives are phenomenally poor marksmen. This fact and a favoring providence saved the Oregon—as it did other regiments—from destruction.

"The insurgents with repeating Mausers threw torrents of leaden hail at our lines at random—some bullets must find a victim.

"Col. Summers should be proud of his regiment; the Eighth Army Corps should be proud of this record; and the good people of the state of Oregon—can words express how they feel? People of Oregon, your sons have this day proved that their blood is like that shed at Thermopylae and Bunker Hill—the blood of heroes."

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store. 2

1041 Miles in Ten Hours.

With each returning season the Lozier Manufacturing Co. show something new and desirable in Bicycle construction.

This season finds them with more good things than ever. One of these good things is the BURWELL BALL and ROLLER BEARING.

Examine the illustration—notice particularly that the little steel Roller between the balls transfers the motion without interruption and the Balls cannot grind together as in ordinary bearings.
