

Special for This Week in Dress Goods.

There seems to be a greater demand for Black Goods than Colored, although the season of the year naturally would warrant the reverse of this demand; but as we are not the ones to dictate to our customers what they shall wear or how they should wear it, we will comply with their request and give them Black Goods unhesitatingly. Furthermore, to show that we are not only pleased to give them what they ask for, we will quote them special prices on these goods for ONE WEEK. These quotations are on FIGURED GOODS ONLY.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Look out for the marshal when you spin down the sidewalk on your wheel. Burnt leather novelties new at A. M. Williams & Co's. Have you seen them? Potatoes are worth 2 cents a pound in Southern Oregon, where a few years ago they were sold at 35 cents a sack.

Invitations have been received in this city for the graduating exercises of the Hood River public school, which take place tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Sara V. Reed will be in the city Saturday, and will be glad to meet all interested in the Viavi remedy at their room in the French block from 9 till 2 o'clock.

Special sale in trimmed hats and walking hats at the Campbell & Wilson Millinery Parlors. Sale commencing May 5th and continuing until Monday, May 15th.

The new band has secured the lower floor of the Union street school house for a band room, which they will use for practicing. A few changes will make it just the place they need.

Eminent physicians claim that girls who practice at the piano a great many hours daily will sooner or later fall victims to nervous prostration. This is reassuring news to the long-suffering neighbors.

Dr. and Mrs. Logan are now domiciled in their new home—the Thornbury property, which they have leased. Mrs. Thornbury's friends here regret to learn that she will probably make her home in Portland. She will, however, remain with her daughter, Mrs. Hudson, for a few weeks.

The body of Nicholas Billings, who died Tuesday at Hood River, was brought to this city for burial. The funeral took place from the Catholic church this morning at 10 o'clock. The remains were accompanied by the wife of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mohr, Mrs. John Mohr and Mr. Schetzley, all of whom returned on the afternoon train.

Colonel Pat Donan received a telegram from Portland yesterday morning conveying the news of the death of his only child, a boy seven months old. The news was a sad shock to the father, the little one being the pride of his declining years. He left for Portland in the afternoon and was accompanied to the train by several sympathizing friends. —Spokane Review.

A letter received from Mrs. Butler and dated April 25th, says she had just received word that Mr. Butler had reached Atlin City. The trail is said to be in a terrible condition and there is little travel over the route. Mr. Butler took, although it has been considered the easiest way of getting there until the cold weather broke up.

R. J. Gorman, who returned from Hood River last night, reports things lively there. The Davidson saw mill is going up rapidly and 400 men will be employed therein when it is finished. Dick, who has been assisting putting in acetylene gas lights, says Hood River is over run with gas at present, three companies vying with each other. Surely Dick was not in the background when it comes to furnishing his share.

Mr. Percy Levin arrived in the city last night from Astoria, where he has just given a play in connection with Astoria society people. He is desirous of placing a production on the boards here with the assistance of local talent, and will play on a percentage for the benefit of some home organization, perhaps the club. He comes with the best of recommendations, and it is more than likely that a play will be given here.

Those interested in amateur photography will doubtless be pleased to learn that Mr. G. M. Weister, an enthusiast in that line, will meet the amateurs of The Dalles at the county court house on Friday evening at 8 o'clock and give an exhibition of Lantern slide views of Northwestern scenery, and perhaps demonstrations of work with Velox paper, and such things as interest amateur photographers. Mr. Weister would like to meet as many of the amateurs as convenient.

A telegram coming all the way from Rome contains news which will be received all over the world with deep interest. It says that Professor Carvello, of Palermo university has discovered a cure for consumption, and those who read it will hope that it proves more effectual than has many alleged cures for this dread disease. He feeds consumptives on prepared air, which has permeating it a medicated soothing vapor. In the middle of January it was given to twenty-six consumptives. Now ten are entirely cured, nine almost well, five much improved, and two dead. He is receiving much popular support from wealthy persons.

Monday THE CHRONICLE printed a long article regarding an exciting race which is now on between a Portland company, known as the Wapinitia Valley Irrigation Company, and a Dalles company, known as the Juniper Flat Irrigation Company, in reference to water rights in Clear Lake region, each company having sent representatives to the location in the endeavor to secure said right. On Monday H. R. Blue, representing The Dalles company, reached the place under dispute and posted his notice of location at 5:15 a. m., while Gaeton, representing the Portland company, arrived on the scene at 10 o'clock. Yesterday at 4:30 the Juniper Flat Company filed in the clerk's office three notices of location of water rights, and today at 11:30 the Wapinitia Valley Irrigation Company filed its notice. There no doubt will be a spirited contest regarding the case during the next term of court.

Last night sixty men of company B (colored) from Vancouver passed through on the 5:30 train, bound for Wardner, and the strikers may well quake in their boots when they see these invincibles who made the famous charge at San Juan make their appearance, for they mean business. As the train stopped at the Umatilla house, and the order was given to bring forward their buckets and load up with coffee, they proved that although they were "fast black" they would run, and soon they returned with the steaming beverage for their hungry companions. It was amusing to spectators to see one big fellow run from one car to the other with a large pan of canned beef, and all began to question whether or not it was "embalmed." The detachment was short a man, for as the train turned a curve just as they were pulling out of Portland the fellow was jolted from the car step, where he sat, and cut his head. The train stopped, but imagining he was left, he had received assistance and scrambled up the bank and was on his way back. He will probably join them later.

A New Feature in Journalism.

Portland has a venture in journalism which many of its residents are not aware of, but THE CHRONICLE reporter today had the privilege of perusing a copy of the "Nob Hill Spy," published every Saturday by Peters & Williams at 5 cents a month or 50 cents a year. Surely the residents of Nob Hill need not be without the news. One of its editors is Rob Williams, whom his boy friends were not aware had taken to journalistic work.

The Spy is about 2 1/2 x 5 inches in dimensions and has three whole pages devoted to advertisements. The boys have their own material and possessing a nice little press, need no better outfit. Its importance in newspaperdom is fully attested by the following editorial, which must have caused the Oregonian much chagrin: "We have no time to argue with the Oregonian, it must take care of itself." Another editorial says: "This paper is read over every week by hundreds of people. It doesn't cost much."

Like all other newspapers it takes note of the accidents and has the following: "A very narrow escape occurred on the corner of Fourteenth and Everett streets Tuesday afternoon. While the men were fixing the telephone wires one of the men dropped a hatchet lighting within a few inches of a 'pass-by-er.'" Truly the newspaper field is widening and the liberty of the press is not restricted to old or young.

He Thought It Was For Cigars.

One of the old 49ers strolled into Pease & Mays store a few days ago, and in viewing the many changes that have taken place in this establishment the past few months, his eyes seemed riveted upon a notion show case, something new and novel in these parts, and after gazing fore and aft at the piece of furniture, and testing the sliding qualities of the numerous drawers contained, remarked, "Well, do you know I had read of a cigar store being set up in The Dalles and knowing that Pease & Mays were into everything I took this for a stack of cigar boxes. Never mind, I'll send the old women in, you can't fool her. Good day."

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

South Side Hose Company's Application Accepted—Bicycles Must Keep off of the Sidewalks

On account of a meeting of the Hook and Ladder Company being held in the council chambers, the councilmen met at the recorder's office, last night, where Mayor Nolan presided, with Councilmen Keller, Clough, Johns, Stephens, Gunning, Michelbach Kuck, and Johnston present.

After the minutes of the two previous meetings—regular and special—had been read and approved, the application of the South Side Hose Company, No. 6, was read, as was also their recommendation from the fire delegates, and on motion of Clough the company was admitted as a permanent organization; Kuck then moved that they be furnished with the small cart now in the engine house and also 300 feet of hose. The new company will at once proceed to circulate a subscription among the residents of their section of the bluff and will build a hose house on the lot adjoining John Cates' property.

The question of bicycle riding on the sidewalks of our city was then discussed, and the marshal instructed to enforce the ordinance against it.

The committee on streets and public property reported that the various standing pipes used for filling the street-sprinkler are leaking and causing puddles of water on the streets, which prove to be a nuisance.

A petition was read from C. L. Phillips, who claims he has paid the balance due on the city lots formerly purchased by him, asking that he be given deeds to the same, which are lots 7, 8 and 9, in block 21, of Gates Addition: The matter was referred to the judiciary committee.

An ordinance which was introduced by Johns providing for the transfer of $1000 from the general fund to the sinking fund was passed. With this transfer $6000 has been so disposed of during the past year to be set apart for the future payment of the city debts.

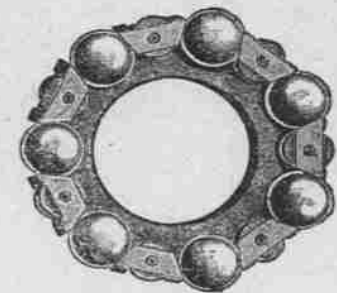

Reports from the recorder, marshal and treasurer were read and placed on file, the report of the latter being substantially as follows:

With each returning season the Lozier Manufacturing Co. show something new and desirable in bicycle construction. This season finds them with more good things than ever. One of these good things is the BURWELL BALL and ROLLER BEARING. Examine the illustration—notice particularly that the little steel roller between the balls transfers the motion without interruption and the balls cannot grind together as in ordinary bearings.
