REPEATED THE PERFORMANCE

At the request of many, a repetition of "A Summer's Fancy" was given last While many considered the rendition as good as that of the previous night, THE ton, druggists. *CHRONICLE seemed to notice a lack of the vim which was so prominent the night before, due to a smaller audience and fatigue on the part of the performers. Stubling, agent, The Dalles. M17-3m The specialities by J. F. Hampshire and P. H. Levin were, however, a great addition to the play, and very pleasing to the audience.

It was with much reluctance that the members of the cast gave the repetition, But owing to the disappointment felt at the first night's performance when they were compelled to play to a much smaller audience than our home talent has ever been greeted by before, and considering that perhaps it was due to the fact that they could not be persuaded that local talent could give a good last night. The prices were therefore assure no disappointment. reduced and other specialties introduced, but, in spite of the fact that the first performance was so highly spoken of, there was hardly a halt house last

While we sympathize with the idea that people are often called upon to inflict upon themselves the torture of listening to home talent for the sake of helping along the cause for which the time the local talent flatter themselves that patronage is often given to traveling shows which are infinitely inferior, and the proceeds of which is not to be

This entertainment will cost something, and as there have been numerous calls on our citizens of late, it was deemed best to improve the opportunity to give them something in return for their timber and running water in Hood River Valley, suitable for homestead and timber entries.
