WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Special sale of school suits at A. M. Williams & Co.'s this week.

A recent dispatch announces the death of Mlle. Rhea, the famous actress, in Montmorency, France.

Have you read A. M. Williams & Co.'s ad? Spring roller-shades for your windows are quoted at 2 for 25 cents for tomorrow.

It looks something like a home-coming when the mail for the Oregon and California boys is ordered sent to San Francisco.

Two clips of wool were sold at the Wasco warehouse yesterday. The prices, which were not given out, we understand were fair.

Many were heard to compliment the artistic work displayed on the hide of the zebra (?) as he paraded in all his glory today. Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

A gentleman from Moscow states that there is from two to three feet of snow on the mountains twenty miles east of that place, and that further back it is from eight to ten. Scarcely any has yet melted and floods are feared in that section.

Since July 1, 1898, when Sheriff Kelly went into office, $90,000 in taxes have been collected and turned over to the treasurer. Yesterday $1100.26 of the '98 list, and $4638 21 of the '98 taxes were paid over to the treasurer.

THE CHRONICLE reporter predicts that in spite of the splendid entertainments given each year by the pupils of the public schools, this year's will be the crowning one of all. The teachers are working hard and the pupils doing their best, so we may expect a treat.

In publishing the general orders yesterday regarding the exercises on decoration day, that portion referring to the line of march was unintentionally omitted. The line will be formed on Second street, the right resting on Court, at 1 p. m. sharp, and will march down Second to Union, thence to Fourth and to the cemetery.

Lee Moorehouse, Pendleton's leading amateur photographer, who is making such a fine collection of Indian pictures and also local scenery, came down from Pendleton yesterday and spent today here. In company with our amateurs he made a tour up the river this afternoon for the purpose of snapping everything worth taking along the route.

Conductor Kelley, of the new O. R. & N. dining car service, states that Sunday 77 people were served on the car, and that it is expected that from this time on the business will be very good. When the car was first put on many predicted that the sand would cause much annoyance and that people would be compelled to eat the sand which is there; but the arrangements are all satisfactory and patrons are assured of the best that can be secured in the markets of the north coast.

The Columbia stands at 20 feet. A dispatch received this morning regarding the rivers above says: At Lewiston, 11.2, a rise of 7; Wenatchee, 18.4, rise of one foot; Umatilla, 12.8, rise of 4. During the next forty-eight hours there will be a more rapid rise in the upper rivers, while from Friday on at Umatilla and westward the rivers will begin rising more rapidly, the Columbia at this place standing at about 27 feet next Sunday. If she gets that high in three days she must walk along lively.

Mrs. Waud received a letter today addressed to the captain from Roland Grant, now at Concord, N. H., informing him that many of those who attend the Baptist convention in San Francisco in two weeks will no doubt come up to Portland and make the trip up the river to the Cascades. Dr. Grant, being a great friend of Capt. Waud, and supposing him to be still on this run has written letters of introduction to the captain to be presented by the tourists, who will no doubt be disappointed in finding that he is so far removed from the waters of the Columbia.

A wedding in which Dalles people are much interested took place in New York on the 17th of this month, when Miss Gertrude Meyer and Orlando N. Joslyn were united in marriage. Gertrude having been brought up in The Dalles and Mr. Joslyn having lived here for several years makes their union of interest to their many friends here. Mrs. Joslyn in writing to Mrs. Storrs informs her that she will visit The Dalles, reaching here about the 31st. As it has been a number of years since she left here for New York to study to be a trained nurse, all will be pleased to again have the pleasure of meeting her and wishing her well.

The following solicitors for the various railroads are in the city for the purpose of meeting the wool growers and impressing them with the superiority of their routes over any other as a means of shipping their stock, wool, etc.: R. B. Wilson, of the C. B. & Q.; J. V. Creighton, of the Northern Pacific; M. J. Bissell, of the Rio Grande Western; E. B. Duffy, Denver & Rio Grande; Frank Menzies, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific. C. McDaniels, representing Geo. Adams & Burke Co., live stock commission merchants of Chicago, is also among 'em. It isn't so easy a matter to pull the wool over a sheepman's eyes, and it requires the gift of gab to get a hearing.

The board of directors of our public schools have appointed Prof. T. J. Neff as principal of the schools, to fill the place vacated by Prof. Landers who has accepted the superintendency. In doing so, they have chosen well, judging from the splendid record which he bears as an educator. He is a graduate of Ann Arbor, and just before coming to this coast he was principal of a high school in Turner, Ill., one of the suburbs of Chicago. For the past few years he has been connected with the Hood River schools, where he has given entire satisfaction. We bespeak for our schools much success under the new administration of Profs. Landers and Neff. However, if they are as successful as during the years since Prof. Gavin took charge no more could be asked.

Considering it his duty as president of The Dalles dogs to welcome any visiting canines to our city, and extend to them the key of the city, upon noticing a fine lot of these animals coming up Second street last evening, "Billy McKinley,"

Mays & Crowe's beautiful animal, pranced out with all the pomposity imaginable to give them the glad bark. But alas! poor McKinley fell among thieves and his wool was in danger of needing protection, for he struck a free trade gang and it was a case of sixteen to one for a few moments thereafter. As is usual with that persuasion, they mistook his good intentions for hostility and thinking the show was all up unless they fought, they proceeded to whip him. But Billy's friends came to his protection, and soon the enemy was routed and his supremacy declared. It takes a pretty tricky dog to do up McKinley.

CIRCUIT COURT DOINGS.

Indian Jack Is Set at Liberty—Other Proceedings.

The grand jury are succeeding admirably in making this term a short one, from the number of not true bills they have discovered. The latest is the case of Indian Jack, who was charged with murdering an Indian boy at Celilo some weeks since, and whom no one thought had the least show for his life, and we doubt if he has if he ever falls into the hands of his fellow Los, who will lay for him. The grand jury evidently have good reason for their finding as they would have no object in turning loose an Indian (or any one else) whom they should by law find a true bill against; but there are more hooks and crooks to consider in what is termed law than are dreamed of in our philosophy. Jack was discharged from custody.

In the case of John Robinson vs. Alma Taylor et al.; confirmation was granted. J. A. Gulliford vs. Adolph Dietrich; settled and dismissed.

The petit jury was discharged at noon until tomorrow morning at 9. The grand jury is now considering the case of the State vs. F. N. Spicer, and the following witnesses have been subpoenaed: Dava McKalvey, F. W. Silvertooth, R. J. Pilkington, Laura Stocker, Al Esping, N. W. Wallace, J. M. Hamilton, E. T. Glisan, W. E. Kemp, Ethel Hamilton, Alex McLennan, Frank Bishop, W. J. Ashby, W. Bolton, E. C. Dickerson, W. S. Kelsay, Sam'l Glover, F. M. Dial, P. A. Kirchheimer, J. D. Tunny, D. H. Leech, N. R. Baird, Jno Little and W. H. Herman.

A Lively Day.

With the wool growers in convention, circuit court in full blast and Norris Bros' show making itself numerous, The Dalles has been unusually lively today, and the hotels and lodging houses were well filled last night.

If there's one time above another when those who have older grown feel like saying "Backward, turn backward on time in your flight, make me a child again just for today," it is when a circus comes to town, and the small boy is in his glory. Many a mother was surprised to see her son holding the reins which guided the small ponies in the parade this morning. But oh what fun for the boy! The schools were dismissed at 10:30 to enable the children to see the parade, and the streets were lined with little tots. The dogs which number about sixty of as fine animals as we have seen, and the cute little ponies claimed the attention of old and young.

The tent was pitched in the vacant lot adjoining Porter's stable, and a large crowd attended this afternoon's performance.

THE WOOL GROWERS

Meet Capt. Ormsby Today at the Club Rooms—Those Who Attended.

The Oregon wool growers met in the parlors of the Commercial Club this morning at 10 o'clock, with a goodly number of members and others interested in attendance. The president, Geo. A. Young, presided, with F. W. Wilson as secretary and D. M. French treasurer.

The principal object of the session was to meet Capt. Ormsby, agent of the forest reserve, and be advised concerning what is expected of them and what they may expect regarding pasture for their flocks, which is an all-important question at this time.

Most of the morning was taken up by the captain in reading the permit and explaining what is to be the closed area and how much will be opened to pasturage. The entire document will be published in the course of a few days, which will give those who were unable to attend a thorough understanding of the matter. Among other things it was determined that sheepmen will be compelled to reduce their flocks. Also that no charges will be made for pasturage.

These are a class of men who are ever wide awake, and as a matter of fact so many things combine to keep them on the alert, that no time for sleeping is allowed. They are compelled to watch lest the wolf enter the fold and destroy the industry entirely.

Members in attendance this morning were Geo. A. Young, H. O. Rooper, F. A. Young, Ridgeway; A. H. Breyman, J. W. Bailey, Portland; F. N. Jones, W. J. Lauder, J. H. Sherar, W. E. Hunt, Sherar's Bridge; J. H. Smith, J. V. O'Leary, Grass Valley; Frank Gable, Wapinitia; A. A. Bonney, Tygh; C. A. Rhea, Heppner; P. J. Walsh, J. A. Little, Antelope; R. R. Hinton, Bakeoven; C. M. Cartwright, Hay Creek; Horatio Fargher, Owen Jones, Nansene; D. M. French, A. S. Roberts, A. R. Thompson, D. P. Ketchum, John Dalrymple, Robt. Mays, F. W. Wilson, The Dalles.

The following new names have been added to the membership today: E. E. Mogan, Cross Keys; Marmaduke Maxwell, C. P. Uren, Ridgeway; Robt Smith, A. M. Tillson, Grass Valley; W. Bolton, C. B. Reece, J. McAndy, T. M. Reeder, Antelope; H. Wakerley, Bakeoven; John Somerville, Hay Creek; Jonathan Jackson, Sherar's Bridge.

CHARLES ROSS BADLY INJURED

Just so often are we called upon to chronicle some railroad accident, where some poor unfortunate has lost his life, or some member of his body while discharging his duties as a train man.

This time it is Charles Ross, a man well known in railroad circles and along the road where he has been employed for some time. However, of late he has not been connected with the O. R. & N. and only last night came up from Portland and took the place of brakeman on the work train, which was engaged in hauling gravel to fill in the bridge near Senfert's cannery. This morning about 11 o'clock when Ross was walking across the train on some gravel his ankle turned and losing his balance he fell, his left leg falling across the track and being almost severed short distance above the ankle.

He was brought to the city at noon and the company's physicians, Drs. Logan and Doane, dressed the wound as best they could and he was taken to the hospital in Portland, where it is expected the foot will have to be amputated.

Mr. Ross is an unmarried man about 30 years of age, and his relatives reside in Portland. He was very brave during his intense suffering and told the men who stood by just how the accident happened.
