TAKE NOTICE.

TO OUR ADVERTISERS:

All Changes in Advertisements must be handed in before 10 o'clock A. M., as no changes will be accepted in the afternoon. This rule will be positive. CHRONICLE PUBLISHING CO. The Dalles, January 10, 1899.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

F. H. Wakefield is building a neat little residence on the hill near the old fair grounds, which will be occupied by Assessor Whipple.

A recent advertisement in an Irish paper announced that Mr. So-and-so extracted teeth with great pain.

What's the matter with The Dalles when from one warehouse in the city is shipped to the interior 200,000 pounds of freight in two days? She's all right.

"Dearest," she murmured, "I'm so afraid you'll change." "Darling," he answered, "you'll never find any change about me." Which was painfully true in a double sense.

There will be a special meeting of the board of fire delegates this evening at 8 o'clock at the city hall. It is hoped that every member of the board will make an effort to be present.

Saturday is the day when the ladies of the Good Intent will have for sale everything in the pastry line, lemon and mince pies included. Remember the date, and call on them at Croes' store.

This afternoon some little school girls brought to this office a fancy flower basket which had been found on the street. The owner can have it by calling at the office and playing for this notice.

You can aid in swelling the monument fund by taking advantage of the cheap rates offered to Portland on the 30th, and spend a few days pleasantly attending the exercises being prepared by the committee there for your entertainment.

Souder's elephant brass band, which is one of the features of Ringling Bros' famous big circus this year is a musical organization composed entirely of elephants. It is one of the biggest hits of the season.

Messrs. J. W., D. M. and Smith French left for Hood River this morning. We learn that they are contemplating doing away with steam and utilizing water power from Hood river in generating electricity for the electric light plant.

The Regulator will make a trip to Stevenson next Sunday, and it is more than likely the base ball nine and those who wish to spend the day in Hood River and witness the game will take the boat for that place, leaving here at 8:30, and returning leave Hood River at 6.

Ringling Brothers' zoological collection is the finest display of rare and costly wild animals in the United States. The massively carved golden cages in which the animals are exhibited are the most elaborate and expensive ever constructed.

Mrs. Harris is a royal hostess, and assisted by the ladies, will entertain all who attend the "Evening with the German Authors and Composers" in her happiest manner. Beside the program is to be an exceptional one, as the best talent has consented to take part.

C. J. Van Dusen telephoned in today and said they were having some of the finest showers Tygh valley has ever experienced. He says if present conditions continue they'll be short of room in which to store their crops. Charlie always looks on the bright side, and he has ample reason this year.

A dispatch from Manila yesterday says that the Oregon boys are returning there from the front. A statement has been prepared which shows the number of deaths which have occurred in the army since the beginning of war with Spain as follows: In Cuba, 1399; in Porto Rico, 287, in Honolulu, 45; in the Philippines, 606; in the United States, 3872. Total, 6209.

Reports again are rife that the Oregon Railway and Navigation company is to put on another train from Portland to Huntington, connecting with the new Short Line train. In case this is done the long desired through car service for Spokane will probably be secured, allowing passengers to and from Spokane to make connections without having to change cars at night.

Many ladies of the Commercial Club have felt a little anxious for fear they might be debarred from attending the bowling contest tomorrow evening between the Astoria and Dalles teams. This anxiety was quite unnecessary as the Commercial Club has never been known to slight the ladies. Indeed, no club in the state pays such deference to the ladies as does our own. They may rest assured that they will be welcome tomorrow night.

River readings this morning were as follows: Lewiston, 12.6; a rise of one foot and four-tenths. Wenatchee, 19.6; rise of 1.2. Northport, 7.4; rise of 1.1. Umatilla, 13.6; rise of .8. Columbia, 21 feet; a rise of one foot. Pague still reiterates that on Sunday the river here will stand at 27; at Umatilla, 16; at Portland, 15 feet. In the year 1894 on May 24th, the river at this place stood 18.8 higher than it stood yesterday.

From Dr. Hollister who visited Dr. Frazier while in Oakland, we learn that the latter is more than pleased with his new home, and is building up a large practice there. He has secured the patronage of the Berkeley college students. Mr. C. W. Phelps who recently moved there from this place is not quite so enthusiastic over Oakland, he having been ill most of the time since he arrived there, and is planning to return to Oregon.

Hepner had a regular terror of a hail storm Tuesday, the worst, perhaps, that has ever visited that place, and the rain storm which followed fairly flooded the streets. The noise of the "hail upon the roof" fairly stopped a speech which Hon. Ellis was addressing to the court. A storm that can drown the voice of a United States congressman must have been a thundering one. What's the matter with trying that kind of a storm on some of the "silver-tongued" orators like Bryan for instance?

The Dalles had somewhat the appearance of a reservation yesterday, Indians by the wholesale lining the streets and holding up the corners. Last night two big "tyhees" thought they'd have a little circus of their own, and of course the swallowing of fire water was one of the principal feats, and as a natural consequence a few hours later the "skookum house" had swallowed them. This morning they were brought before the recorder and the city treasury swallowed $3 of their hard earned "chickamun."

At about 1:30 this afternoon a special passed through the city bearing the Fourth cavalry, composed of seventy-eight men under Major Morton, who have been stationed at Walla Walla for the past seven months and are now on their way to the Presidio at San Francisco, and from there to Manila. Among them was Homer Barnett, a hair brotler of N. M. Eastwood, whom he had not seen for several years and was delighted to meet at the depot. The young man was much pleased at the prospect of reaching Magila ere long, and said he had been anxious to be there ever since fighting began.

This morning the grand jury brought in a finding of not a true bill in the case of the State vs. F. N. Spicer, charged with killing W. D. Jones about two months ago in Antelope. Most of the witnesses who were subpoenaed from that place returned today. The much heralded case against Receiver Otis Patterson was not even taken up, in the sense of an investigation, it being considered too trivial, and was therefore dismissed. The circuit court this term was short lived, coming to an end this afternoon, when the juries were discharged at about 3 o'clock. This was an exceptional term, not a single indictment being brought in by the grand jury, nor a civil case tried. Jailor Fitz Gerald is now contemplating advertising for boarders, as his hostelry is now vacated.

THE FLYER FLEW.

Sports Along at a 23-Mile Clip—She's All Right.

The D. P. & A. N. Co. made no mistake in naming the new boat the Inland Flyer, for a flyer she proved to be on her official trial trip yesterday.

Leaving the Oak-street wharf at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, she steamed down the Willamette at an average rate of speed of 18 miles an hour, which was maintained until Knapp's beacon, on the Columbia was in line with the pilot house. From there she spurred to Fale's beacon, covering the distance in a fraction more than five minutes. The government course, a knot, or 1 1/7 mile, over which the torpedo boats Davis and Fox were sped, was covered in 3 minutes and 23 seconds giving a good illustration of the Flyer's ability. Near St. Helena the boat was headed up stream, and then steamed up the Columbia to meet the steamer Regulator of the same line, in whose company she returned to her dock about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Although this was the first trial since the engines have been overhauled and a condenser put in, the machinery worked very smoothly, and the result of the trial was eminently satisfactory. During the spurt between Knapp's and Fale's the engines, though "hooked up," attained a speed of 330 revolutions to the minute under 240 pounds of steam. Unluckily, a "gasket" blew out at this stage, causing the gauge to fall to an average of 180 pounds. Yet, the distance was covered at a rate of speed of a little over 23 miles per hour.

It is the intention of the company to try coal on the next trip, which will be made Tuesday.—Telegram.

Smothered From Too Much Fat.

Yesterday we published an article regarding the case of an Indian woman at Walla Walla, named Mrs. Lyman, who was too fat to live, but had been brought to that place in the hope that physicians could do something for her. It seems, however, that their efforts failed. The Union says:

Monday it was decided by her physician, Dr. N. G. Blalock, that something had to be done at once in an effort to save her life. Accordingly, Mrs. Lyman and her husband were consulted and agreed to an operation. Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, with remarkable fortitude the Indian woman bade her husband goodby and submitted to the surgeon's knife. The operation did not take long but only ten pounds of fatty matter could be removed as the woman was so fleshy equally in all parts that very little of the fatty tissue could be removed with safety. She recovered nicely from the operation and it was hoped some relief would come, but, however, that was not to be. About 5 o'clock Mrs. Lyman found much difficulty in breathing and was literally choked to death from fatty tissue pressing on and smothering the heart.

The case is a very remarkable one of obesity and notwithstanding the fact that the woman ate little food, she grew from day to day at a wonderful rate, flesh seeming to grow upon flesh. No remedies to reduce her weight had any effect.

Hats Off.

A ruling of the Broad Street Methodist church of Columbus, O., requires women to take off their hats during service. This is commendable in many ways, and will go far toward cultivating the Christian spirit with its attendant graces.

As "the purpose of wrship is edification," worshippers should take steps to remove whatever interferes with this, even if the barrier be a twenty five dollar creation of millinery art. In the human breast there arises a feeling deplorably akin to the angry passions when the eyes are trying to look over a high fence of flowers or feathers that effectually shuts out the view of speaker or singer.

Hygienic reasons may also be urged in favor of a general custom of removing the article in question. And last, but by no means least, of the benefits to be derived is the probable decreasing desire for "show" hats and the consequent shrinkage in millinery bills. By all means let us respond cheerfully to the mandate, "Hats off."—Union Signal.
