The Boys Who Died.

Furl the flag! Hide in its folds a people's sorrow. The tear of a day and the throb of the morrow; Choke the cheers in the throats of men; Muffle the roll of the drum again— Furl the flag! Furl the flag! Light its stripes with the flame of a sun-crowned sky. And cover it o'er with laurel wreath, The tribute of truth to heroes' death— Furl the flag. Hearts loyal are chilled in the doom of death. They sleep with the crown of the ocean's breast. In an alien land, on an alien strand, With their fate in the clasp of God's right hand— Furl the flag.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

If you want your mail tomorrow be at the postoffice between 10 and 11 a. m. The report says rain for tomorrow; but surely the wind will not go back on us on decoration day. Mays & Crowe announce that their store will be closed the entire day tomorrow, as will also that of A. M. Williams & Co. Pease & Mays will close at 10 o'clock. Ed Warren, who was arrested last fall charged with causing the fire which destroyed Canyon City, is a free man. The grand jury refused to indict him. Prices for sheep here this spring seem to rule about as follows: Two-year-old wethers, $2.50; yearling wethers, $1.80; yearling ewes, $2.—Crook Co. Journal. A purse containing a small sum of money and receipts was lost at the opera house Friday. Will the finder please return to Mrs. C. Richmond and receive reward. Tomorrow evening at the Methodist church Rev. Poling will deliver the memorial address, the G. A. R. and W. R. C. attending in a body. All are invited to be present upon this occasion. Head Consul Falkenberg of the W. of W., is expected to arrive on No. 1 this afternoon and go down on the boat to Portland tomorrow. The boat will leave at 4 o'clock. Remember the round trip is but $2, good for ten days. J. D. Hurst, who died Saturday at Aurora, has been a resident of Oregon since '62, when, after crossing the plains in that year, he settled in The Dalles. He was also married here in that year. He served for a time as government miller at Warm Springs reservation. Rev. J. H. Wood delivered a very eloquent sermon last night on "True Heroism," taking as a text "He that ruleth his own spirit is greater than he that taketh a city." All who listened say it was one of his strongest efforts, and was greatly appreciated by his audience. The chairman of the committee on decoration requests that any who may have flowers to contribute for tomorrow's decoration, leave them at the office of Wm. Miehell, on the corner of Third and Washington streets, that they may be used by the committee. Any who may have flowers they will not use themselves should so dispose of them as they are a scarce article this year. Despite Pagnon's 28 mark prediction,

Mrs. Mann left for Hood River this morning where they will remain for a few weeks and returning will make their home on his ranch near Fairfield.

The members of James W. Neemith Post, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and Woman's Relief Corps attended the Episcopal church last night in a body for the purpose of listening to a memorial sermon delivered by Rev. De Forest, who took as his text the words of St. Paul, "I have fought a good fight." Taking the stand that the wars in which our brave soldiers have fought were just, and could not have been honorably averred, he enlarged on their results and the good which has come out of them, drawing from his text many lessons for all, and especially encouraging to the heroes who listened to him. The music of the evening was especially good and the numbers well suited to the occasion.

Often are we led to ask, "Are Dalles people unappreciative; do they lack enthusiasm, or what is the occasion for such coldness as is displayed at nearly every entertainment given in the city?" when but one or two in the audience are heard to give applause, no matter how deserving the performance. Saturday night at the graduating exercises of the high school thoughts were expressed where applause would have seemed to be out of place and lessen their effect; but patriotic sentiments were given from the stage which in many places would have lifted the audience from its feet and caused deafening applause. Are we asleep, or is our appreciation too deep to admit of demonstration?

About 125 Dalles people boarded the Regulator yesterday morning bound for the ball ground at Hood River to witness a ball game between the Hood River and Dalles nines. However, for a time, the excursionists thought their anticipations were to be dashed to pieces by the waves of the Columbia, for having in tow a barge full of sheep and other circumstances combining to retard their progress, the steamer found itself stuck on the sand just below the Umattila House. Finally calling the ferry boat to its aid she was soon on her way down the river. Landing at Hood River at 10:30, they were met by a committee which took them in hand and made the hours very pleasant until dinner time when they were served with a spread at the Mt. Hood hotel. A hack then conveyed the nine to the ground and at 1:30 the game began, and it was a lively one. But Hood River came out ahead, the score being 13 to 9. At 5 o'clock the steamer left Hood River, reaching here about 8:30. Our boys are loud in their praises of the treatment received at the hands of the Hood Riverites.

The Astorians gained somewhat on their bowling record which they established Friday evening, by meeting the same team on the alleys Saturday afternoon and winning two out of the four games played, our team beating them by sixty-six pins. On Saturday night they rolled against Messrs. DeHuff, Nolan, Stadelman and Kurtz, beating them three games and coming out fifty pins ahead. Their visit was a pleasant one for all concerned.

Get out your colors; your arnica, soothing syrup, and all necessary adjuncts, for tomorrow is the date when hardware crosses bats with dry goods. The ambulance will be on hand, and the young ladies are preparing to soothe the aching brow and bind up the wounds. The game will be called at 3:30, which is the usual time for all professional games; but we would advise all spectators to take a few cookies along for breakfast.

Madam McClure, whose dressmaking parlors in Portland have always been headquarters for ladies who go from here to have dressmaking done, has sold out her business to Miss Cain, who for years has been in her employ. In company with Miss Clara Grimes, the latter will arrive in this city Tuesday night, and remain until Thursday evening, for the purpose of meeting any ladies who may desire to have work done and take their orders. Further particulars will be given as to their location.

Believing that if any day should be observed as a holiday (particularly this year) it is decoration day, the CHRONICLE will not visit its readers tomorrow, but give its employes an opportunity to join with those who remember our fallen heroes by covering their resting places with beautiful flowers. All will feel the more like resuming the duties of the morrow, when feeling assured that our duty has been done in commemorating the deeds of those who purchased for us our freedom.

A very pleasant surprise was given Supt. Gavin Saturday afternoon when he was met at the High school by the pupils and teachers of that department and presented with a fine oak writing desk as a token of their regard and their appreciation of his efforts, as well as expressing their sincere regret that this was to be his last year with them. The presentation speech was made by Clarence Gilbert, and Prof. Gavin, although almost too surprised for utterance, responded in an appreciative manner.

A quiet home wedding occurred at the home of W. D. Richards in Fairfield district, about eight miles from the city, yesterday morning, when Miss Lizzie Richards was united in marriage with John M. Mann, Rev. Smith performing the ceremony. Miss Richards is a young woman of exceptionally fine character and is generally liked by all who meet her while the groom is a man of good principles and steady habits. Mr. and Fifteen High School Pupils Receive Their Diplomas—Some Splendid Exercises.

An exercise which always elicits widespread interest is that of commencement day, when the school work is ended, and at the commencement of real earnest life work, the graduates tell us of their aspirations and hopes for the future, while teachers, schoolmates, relatives and friends join with them in celebrating the momentous occasion which marks the closing of school labors and the opening of wider responsibilities.

The stage at the Vogt presented an attractive appearance Saturday night. It had been decorated with palms and flowers and appropriately draped in our national colors, than which nothing could be more fitting for such an occasion. To add the finishing touches, during a selection by the Commercial band, eleven "sweet girl graduates" and four of the noblest boys of our city, took their places thereon, the class personal being Martha K. Baldwin, Harriet N. Cram, Harry E. Curtis, Nettie M. Fredden, Grace I. Hobson, Hester Kent, Lena C. M. Liebe, Ivan E. Oakes, Clyde W. Riddell, George H. Ruch, Martha A. Schooling, Lena L. Thompson, Ena E. Uren, Martha C. Whealdon, Grace N. Willerton.

The exercises opened with two splendid selections by the band and interspersed with the essays were the following musical numbers, perhaps the most classic as a whole yet given in the city: A piano overture by Misses Julia and Clara Nickelsen; vocal solo, "The Angels Serenade," with piano and violin accompaniment, by Miss Myrtle Michell; violin and piano duet by Clarence and Maude Gilbert; quartet, "Juanita" by Messrs. Landers, Northrup, Poling and Lundell.

As the exercises progressed, many were heard to remark that never had they listened to graduating essays which displayed more deep thought or advanced better ideas than those read on this occasion, some thoughts being truly wonderful coming from students of their years. The CHRONICLE only regrets that its pages are not many times their size that it might reproduce them, for they were productions of which any city might justly feel proud, and, as a minister was heard to remark yesterday in the pulpit, if their precepts are heeded in practical life will make an army of young men and women whose influence will be a power in a community.

Not alone were the essays good, but their delivery was such as to give every thought its proper weight and force and prevent that annoyance when but half the words are distinguishable.

The subjects were chosen as follows: "Gladstone" by Harry E. Curtis; "Build These More Stately Mansions," Nettie M. Fredden; "English Poets of the Nineteenth Century," Martha A. Schooling; "Life is What We Make It," Lena L. Thompson; "The Influence of True Ideals," Martha K. Baldwin; "Creation's Crowning Jewel," Lena C. M. Liebe; "The Advance of Government," Clyde W. Riddell; "For Value Received I Promise to Pay," Martha C. Whealdon; "Shall They Who Wrong Begin Yet Rightly End," Hester Kent; "Leaves Yet Folded," Harriet N. Cram; "The Stars and Stripes," Grace I. Hobson. As speaking was left optional with the members of the class, the following withdrew that more time might be given to those who took part: Ivan E. Oakes, whose subject was "Spirit of Party Politics Today," George H. Ruch, "The Age in Which We Live," Ena E. Uren, "The Value of Individuality," Grace N. Willerton, "Earth's Battlefields."

At the close of the readings Supt. John Gavin presented the well-earned diplomas in a manner which plainly showed his interest in the graduates. He impressed upon them the idea conveyed in the word "commencement" and urged them to go forward or the inevitable result would be a backward tendency; there is no such thing as standing still. He also assured them of the good will which he and their former teachers felt for them as they leave the school room, and of their interest in their future welfare. Loud applause was given as the diplomas were awarded and the graduates received the reward of years of hard study, for one cannot leave The Dalles High school having skinned over their work; but must be thorough.

And so ended the graduating exercises of '99, amid the congratulations of the hosts of friends present.

Memorial Day Exercises.

The following order of exercises will be observed by Jas. W. Neemith Post G. A. R., tomorrow afternoon: The Post and Relief Corps will meet at 12:15 p. m. sharp, and will march to their place in the line of the procession. All veterans of the civil war, and all returned veterans of the Spanish war are invited to join the Post at the hall and in the march, and are also invited to join in discussing the lunch to be given by the ladies, at the hall, after the ceremonies. The procession will form on Second street, right resting on Court street, and will march at 1 p. m. sharp. Citizens in carriages are requested to form in line before the start.

Stores are requested to close at 12 o'clock that the band may attend, they having kindly consented to furnish the marching music.

A general invitation is extended the public to attend the memorial address at the M. E. church in the evening, at 8 o'clock.

Capt. G. E. Bartell of the O. N. G. will act as officer of the day.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.
