WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

This is circus week, Ringling Bros. big show will be in The Dalles next Saturday.
The Daut Optical Jewelry Co., are now in their new quarters and ready for business. Call on them.
Stocking has finally made his appearance and officers will take him to the asylum on this afternoon's train.
Elder Clifton was unable to fill his pulpit at the Baptist church yesterday, he being in very poor health for some time past, and taking much worse yesterday.
Miss Julia Hill, of this city has been elected principal of the Antelope school for the next year, and Miss May Sechler, another Dalles young lady, assistant principal.
"What Makes a Woman Beautiful and Attractive," is the subject of a free health talk to ladies, given June 6th in the K. of P. hall at 2:30. All ladies are cordially invited.
3-5
Passenger train N. 4 had a tussle with sand this morning about ten miles above the city, and was four hours late in consequence. It takes a good deal of sand to withstand these windy winds.

The funeral of the late Mrs. R. F. Gibbons will take place from the family residence, on the corner of Fourth and Liberty, tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All friends invited to be present.
Yesterday's Oregonian announced the engagement of a Dalles young man, (for we still claim him) Mr. Edwin Mays, and Miss Mabel Ainsworth, daughter of the late Capt. G. Ainsworth. Miss Ainsworth is a resident of Portland and is said to be a very estimable young lady. His Dalles friends extend to Ed their heartiest congratulations.
Last Wednesday night in Washington City, Columbia university graduated a young man well known in The Dalles, Alvah W. Patterson, brother of Otis Patterson, receiving the degree of bachelor of law. Mr. Patterson is a young man of more than ordinary ability and by close application has won a foremost place among the students of the university and bids fair to be among the foremost lawyers of the land.
Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Weigel, who have been visiting their son in Omaha, returned home on this morning's train. They happened to be passengers on the second section of the train which was robbed Friday at Wilcox station, Wyo., and saw the wreck, the blown up safe, etc., and also the camps which were made by the robbers as they laid in wait for the train. They report very exciting times on their train when the bridge ahead of them was fired and they learned of the robbery.
Many will remember Laura Donaldson, the poor unfortunate young lady who was taken to the asylum about a year ago. Word was received yesterday that she had hung herself in her room at that institution yesterday morning and her remains will be brought to this city on this afternoon's train and be buried from Crandall & Burget's undertaking parlors at once. Laura's life of late years was a sad one. Fighting against ill health and poverty finally overcame her and destroyed her mind. Of a sensitive, refined nature the circumstances were too much for her frail constitution. She was not considered violent, but melancholia probably caused the act which took her life. She will be buried by the side of her father.

The Columbia is coming up at a lively rate. At 1 o'clock it stood at 32.2, a rise of .8 since 8 o'clock. During the last forty-eight hours it has come up 1.8 at Umatilla; 2.2 at Lewiston, 2 feet at Northport; 1.7 at Wenatchee. There is water enough on the way to raise it to 34 by tomorrow. Ten feet more of water will make the river touch the O. R. & N. track above here, but it will take about fourteen or fifteen feet to reach the track at The Dalles. Let us hope this cool weather will have the desired effect.

Cottingham, who occasionally makes himself famous by narrowly escaping serious injury, had perhaps his closest call last night. Having been "celebrating" in his usual manner during the day, he somehow managed to be on the railroad track, this side of the depot, at about 12 o'clock, just as the delayed No. 1 started down from the depot to the Umatilla House. He was between two flat cars and stepped out on the track right in front of the engine. In an instant he was knocked over, but as the train was going slowly he fortunately fell on the pilot and was dragged a very short distance. The train was stopped immediately and supposing of course that he was killed the men hastened to his side and were surprised to find that he was not injured very seriously, although the sole of his right foot was badly torn and his leg bruised to the knee. Nightwatchman Phirman had him taken to the city jail, where he received needed attention and still remains.

Dalles people were surprised in more ways than one yesterday regarding the excursion from Portland. In the first place, we were expecting 3000 visitors, when but about 700 got off the train. Then we were pleasantly surprised by the behavior of the excursionists. Judging from last year's performance we anticipated a lively time and dreaded their coming; but, on the contrary, they were extremely well behaved, consisting mostly of those who had come to visit friends. True there were about a half dozen boys in the crowd who were out for a high old time, and three of them succeeded in being placed in the jail. However only one possessed any money, and paid his $2 fine, while the others were let go to get rid of them when the train left. We understand this is the last of the Sunday excursions, and we are not sorry. Could they be confined to those who come up to visit friends or spend the day quietly, there would not be so great objections as they would not be about the streets, but, judging from the number of Dallesites who were scarcely able to walk straight yesterday, we are afraid the influence is detrimental to our visitors.

Home Life and Social Customs of the Japanese.

Shigetaro Marikubo, of Tokyo Academy of Philosophy, Japan, a graduate of the University of California, will speak on marriage relations of his people—how they make love, engagements, wedding, divorce and celibacy. At the close of the lecture he will show a wedding in costume. This evening in the Christian church. Admission 15 cents.

The Modern Beauty.

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleaning action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globe of health, that changes weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25 cents per box. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

Steam Saw Notice.

On account of the dull season now being at hand in the wood sawing line, Wm. Cates has decided to run the steam saw but two days in the week, Tuesdays and Fridays. Patrons will, therefore, govern themselves accordingly and prevent friction in the matter. Call up Phone 291.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. GIBONS She Passes From the Church Service Below to That Above.

For more than a year past it has seemed that scarcely a week has gone by without compelling us to chronicle the sudden taking off of some one of our well known residents either by accident or from a short illness, and the city is shocked by the news of the death of those whom we least expected to part with. Yesterday marked another such occurrence, and scarcely could the news be credited when one by one heard of the very sudden death of Mrs. R. F. Gibbons. But a few days ago the reporter met her on the bank corner and smilingly she said, "Just put it in the paper that I made a trip to the city, for I haven't been down town for so long." Little did we think as we jokingly chatted with her that we would be compelled in so short a time to tell our readers that her pleasant, cheery countenance would be seen on our streets no more; that the church, where her place was seldom vacant, would miss her forever, or that in the home, which for so many years she has beautified not alone by her handiwork, nor by her love for the flowers which she tended so carefully, but by her constant happy disposition, which made her ever as a beam of sunshine. But so uncertain is this life that but yesterday she was in her accustomed pew in the Congregational church, and in an hour after had sit down in the church where congregation ne'er break up.

For some time past she has suffered at intervals with rheumatism, which though very painful was not considered dangerous, and admitted of her being about most of the time. Yesterday morning she accompanied Misses Virginia and Hattie Marden to church, but about 11:45 whispered to the young ladies that she felt cold and would go home and get warm. As they passed the house on their way home she called them in and they found her in great pain, and while Hattie ran for Mr. Gibbons, her sister remained doing all she could to ease her, finally telephoning for the doctor. She grew steadily worse, however, and about twenty minutes after her husband arrived the pain seemed to strike the heart and she breathed her last, seemingly unconscious during the entire time that she was in a dangerous condition.

The suddenness of it all seemed to stun those about her, and unless those who received the news later, for having lived in The Dalles since 1862, and being so prominent in church work and society circles, she was so well known and generally beloved.

She was born in Princeton, Ill., March 8, 1843, her maiden name being Matilda Francis Wixam. She was married to Mr. Gibbons in 1856, when she was but 13 years of age. Came to The Dalles in 1862, where she has since lived. She was the mother of five children, only two of whom are living—George and Ralph. She is last but one of a large family.

The sympathy of all goes out to those whom she leaves, especially her husband whose life will be doubly desolate, having passed so many years with so happy and loved a companion.

COUNCILMEN MEET.

Business Transacted by Them and Bills Allowed.

At 8 o'clock Saturday evening Councilmen Clough, Stephens, Kuck, Keller, Gunning, Johnston and Michelbach met in regular session in the recorder's office. Nothing of special importance was transacted but a number of minor matters attended to.

First was read the report of the finance committee giving a complete account of the tax transactions between the city and county, and it was recommended that the recorder open a book account with the county, charging and giving credit for taxes which the county collects for the city.

On motion of Clough the fire and water committee was instructed and empowered to purchase six new 6-inch fire hydrants to place in various localities throughout the city.

The recorder was then instructed to draw up an ordinance regulating the erection of bill boards. The object of this ordinance is to restrain persons from putting up dangerous boards which are liable to fall and cause much trouble. Should some of those recently erected be blown over they would be liable to do serious damage.

Quite a little inconvenience being caused by the post holes at the old fair grounds being left open, the marshal was instructed to see that they are filled in.

The judiciary committee asked for further time in regard to the application of C. L. Phillips for a deed to certain property on the hill.

It was then reported to the council that a cesspool existed under the office of W. S. Myers, on Court street, and the matter was referred to the committee on health and police.

The treasurer's report was read as follows:

A. C. Giger Robbed Saturday Night.

Yesterday morning when Mr. A. C. Giger awoke and began to dress he was astonished to find that he had had a caller during the night who had not announced his arrival and left as unceremoniously as he came. He, however, had made the call one which counted as far as he was concerned.

Mrs. Giger is visiting friends in Salem and Mr. Giger occupied the front bedroom. The doors of the house leading outside were all locked, but a back window was found by the caller to be unlatched, and raising it he pushed a settee aside, and entered. Mr. Giger had left a jet burning in his room, which evidently afforded light enough for the robber to see his way clear, as he left it burning. On the dresser was a watch, which Mr. Giger had given his wife as a wedding present, and which was valued at $80. This he had the good taste to appropriate. He also took a suit of clothes which Mr. Giger had worn the day before. Then he walked into the parlor and must have felt that he had plenty of time, for he emptied the pockets and placed penknife, papers, etc., in a neat little pile on the couch, taking the clothes with him. In the vest pocket was a watch worth $60, and on the chain a Knight Templar's charm set with diamonds, for which Mr. Giger paid $35. These, of course, he did not neglect to appropriate. In the pants' pocket was a purse containing four twenty-dollar pieces and some checks. The checks he kindly folded and put back in the purse, laying it on the pile of "refuse," but the twenty dollar pieces he forgot to leave.

Evidently feeling satisfied, he unlocked the back door and let himself out that way.

It seemed but a small transaction and yet Mr. Giger is the loser by about $265, not counting the suit of clothes, beside the value attached to the articles which cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

In both of the watches were pictures of their little boy and girl, but other than those, which can be easily destroyed, he took nothing which could be used as a clue.
