WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Oregon troops will be the first to return. California boys follow.

Services will be held at St. Peter's church next Sunday instead of at King'sley.

Joseph Ray is in The Dalles from Hamilton, Mont., for the purpose of receiving and shipping twenty carloads of cattle for Marcus Daly, of the Bitter Root Live Stock Company.

The report gained credence this afternoon that Tom Malone had died just after noon. Upon inquiry we find there is no truth in the assertion, but that he is very dangerously ill and will probably not recover.

A. H. Arnett, one of the largest cattle dealers of the Northwest, is here today to receive forty carloads of cattle, a portion of which will be shipped to Missoula and the remainder to C. P. Bennett at Billings.

The town will be lively Saturday. All our sisters, cousins and aunts are going to attend the circus. Reserve seat tickets and also general admission tickets may be secured at the Snipes-Kinnersly drugstore on circus day.

The river is falling slightly standing at 33.6 this morning. The report says that the Columbia will start to raise Saturday and reach the 43 mark on June 17th. This, however, will not bring it over the railroad track here.

Word was received by Nightwatchman Phirman this morning that the body of one of the Whitney boys, drowned recently in the Snake river, had been found at Grants. From the description he thinks it must be the older one of the two.

J. E. Adcox, who for some time has been head watchmaker for H. Liebe, has opened a jewelry store and repair shop in the East End. Mr. Adcox has proven himself one of the very best of workmen and will no doubt build up a good business in a short time.

A band of twenty head of horses which belong to the Brogan estate were brought from Antelope today by Messrs. Cooper, Malone and Smith. They were taken to the Washington side, where they will be kept until the 17th of this month when they will be auctioned off in this city.

Our people will no doubt be pleased to learn that the lady minstrel is far enough under way to assure its production. Yesterday about thirty ladies met Mrs. Runcie at the K. of P. hall, where a practice was had which was very encouraging to that lady and her class.

The Kindergarten, which has been taught by the Misses Taylor, will close their term on Friday next, and the exercises will take place in the audience room of the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock. All friends and those interested in the work are invited to be present.

The pupils of St. Mary's Academy will give an entertainment on Friday, June 16th, to raise funds for the purpose of lighting the building. Exercises will commence precisely at 8 o'clock p. m. Admission 50 cents. Children under 7 years not admitted. Tickets are for sale at Blakeley & Houghton's, H. Herbringer's, J. P. McNery's and Maier & Benton's.

A wagonette load of young people started out about 8 o'clock this morning bound for Moro, to attend the Epworth League convention. James Simonson manipulated the reins, and had for passengers, Messrs. John Parrott and Clyde Riddell and Misses Martha and Constance Wheelodon, Mabel Collins, Edith Randall and Nettie Fredden.

In spite of reports to the contrary, the body of Will Field was shipped to his mother at Centaur Station, Mo., and reached there May 29th. The following day the burial took place, accompanied with Memorial day honors. And this is the last of Will, but his friends in The Dalles will cherish many thoughts of his bravery and his noble sacrifice in caring for his comrades.

Sheriff Matlock, of Morrow county, it is learned, is slowly dying of what is known as "Hodskin's cancer." The body is literally covered with pimples of large size. The patient has recently returned from the East, where the best of medical attention has been of no avail and there is now no hope of his recovering, the end is approaching, while the sufferer is being afflicted with the most excruciating pain.

Every once in a while we hear of some man suing another for a big amount of money for alienating a wife's affections. It does seem queer that the courts will allow men to attempt through them to obtain something for nothing. The average man never sets any value upon a wife's affections until some other fellow has secured a title to them through attentions that only a woman knows how to appreciate.—East Oregonian.

As we read in the Oregonian last night of the expensive drinking fountain which is to be donated to the city of Portland by Hon. D. P. Thompson, it just occurred to our minds how badly The Dalles is in need of drinking places scattered throughout the city. Not that we expect any one to donate a $20,000 fountain to our little city, but that we should merely have some unpretentious drinking places where man and beast could quench their thirst. Then we were reminded that the only one we possess, that donated by the Epworth League and situated near the land office, is not fulfilling its mission, but had apparently run dry. What is the cause of the water not being turned on? The fountain belongs to the city, and surely she cannot refuse a cup of cold water to those who, worn and weary, knock at her door and ask so small a favor.

Were half the exciting news to be advertised regarding the Atlin district that is daily being told by miners throughout Oregon, there would be a rush in which more lives would be lost in reaching that section than ever before and cause former records to pale into insignificance. Oregon is a Klondike in itself if men would only realize that the unattainable is not all that is to be desired. Daily letters are received here regarding mines which are "no slouches" themselves. Yesterday James Blakeney received a letter from W. T. Young, who owns an interest in the Spanish Gulch mines, in which he said that matters were encouraging there. The Sand Gulch Mining Company in sixteen days took out $1500, the largest nugget being worth $80, and several smaller ones from $10 to $30. They are still running day and night, and working twelve men. This is the mine in which Isaac Joles, of this city, is interested.

A BAD STATE OF AFFAIRS.

A Number of Dalles Girls Disgracing Themselves, Their Parents and Even the City Itself.

During the past few months the CHRONICLE has called attention to the fact that there is a class of girls, between the ages of 14 and 20, in The Dalles, who are seriously in need of parental control, or, if not that, more severe measures should be used, as their actions are such as will surely cause them to come to grief. Seemingly having no homes, they can be found at any hour of the day or night walking the streets, and particularly numerous do they make themselves when an excursion or theatrical troupe visits the city, apparently deeming it necessary to make the male portion of the aggregation feel at home. Not only has the paper called the attention of parents to this fact, but we understand the teachers in our schools have endeavored to do their duty in the matter, but to no avail.

When the Noble Dramatic Company visited the city this was particularly noticeable and the CHRONICLE mentioned the fact when they left town, little dreaming to what an extent these flirtations had been carried on, until the developments of the past few days have unraveled the truth and caused many to feel shocked that in a Christian community such proceedings have been going on.

It seems that since that company was here about six girls have been corresponding with one of the troupe and receiving questionable letters under a fictitious name, which applied to all. Worse than all, and which can scarcely be credited, is the fact that not only have these girls been corresponding with a white member of the troupe, but so low have they become that one of them has continually been receiving letters from the China cook who was with them and who also has been endeavoring to persuade her to elope with him. This seems to revolting to be believed, but is none the less a fact.

The men may escape their just dues; but what of the girls? Yesterday morning one of them boarded the boat and left town. At the Cascades a gentleman who knew her tried to prevail on her to return, but failing, telegraphed to her father, and this morning Marshal Lauer was sent in pursuit. We understand he found her at Vancouver, but the question is, will it do any good to bring her home? At any rate these girls should not be permitted to continue in their downward course, if not for their own sakes for that of innocent girls whom they may contaminate.

This is only one scene in the drama which must be enacted by those who have chosen to take part. For months the better class of people have watched these proceedings in horror, but not daring to approach the parents, who seem unconcerned. Not alone is it in families where such things might be expected, but in respectable families that these things occur.

The names of the parties are suppressed, not in sympathy for the parents, who deserve no pity, for they are certainly responsible for the characters of their children who have been left to run wild; but because we cannot bear to publish the names of girls whom we have seen grow up in The Dalles, in connection with such disgraceful proceedings.

Elmore Rice an Artist.

Speaking of Elmore Rice, the violinist who is in the city for the purpose of giving a recital here, the East Oregonian says:

"He is able to claim the distinction of having studied under the great Hungarian violinist, Edouard Remenyi, whose name bears a sacred quality among all who are devoted to the art.

"Mr. Rice is a young man, and yet alone and unaided excepting by the accompanist, he charms his audience and holds close attention to the program of difficult compositions which he renders. Listened to with reference to the perfection of technique, the intelligence of interpretation, the manifestation of the soul of the true musician, Mr. Rice comes from the test with only favorable criticism.

"Judging from his performance here, he has before him a brilliant future. He may be looked for to win a place the most distinguished. It is not to be considered from this that it is intended to intimate that his playing is not now of most excellent order. In any city, indeed, he would rank highly, and be classed among the artists."

The Modern Beauty.

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleaning action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Chas. McAllister is over from Glenwood on business.

T. J. Moffet, of Gorman, is a business visitor in the city.

G. W. Phelps will leave on the afternoon train for Heppner.

Dr. H. E. Beers, of Wasco, is registered at the Umatilla.

Clay Brock came down from Wasco on yesterday afternoon's train.

J. C. O'Leary came in from Grass Valley yesterday and remained over today.

Mrs. F. Bronson and children accompanied Mr. Bronson as far as the Locks today.

J. V. Creighton, traveling freight agent for the Northern Pacific, is in the city today.

Mrs. Jas. McHaley, of Heppner, is visiting relatives in the city on her way to Portland.

C. H. Gleim, of the Colorado Midland Railway, and G. R. Wilcox, of Colorado, were in The Dalles today.

Mr. and Mrs. Borstel of Bakeoven, are at the Farmers' Hotel today. They are on their way to visit in Portland.

L. C. Jameson, representing the Symond Saw Co., spent yesterday in the city with his friends, H. L. Voree.

W. H. See, of the Warm Springs reservation, was in the city this morning and left on the afternoon train for Portland.

Mrs. H. E. Ankeny, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. P. DeHuff, left on the boat this morning for her home in Eugene.

Mrs. D. L. Cates and family came up from the Cascades yesterday and are visiting Mrs. Cates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. DeHuff.

Mrs. O. E. Farnsworth, of Heppner, and Miss Pray, of Toledo, Ohio, spent yesterday with Mrs. Otis Patterson, on their way from Portland to Heppner.

The Busy Store.

Each day our business shows the people are finding out we are pushing to the front with better goods, lower prices, salespeople the very best, and last, but not least, buyers who know their business and buy for the people.
