TO OUR ADVERTISERS:

All Changes in Advertisements must be handed in before 10 o'clock A. M., as no changes will be accepted in the afternoon. This rule will be positive.

CHRONICLE PUBLISHING CO. The Dalles, January 10, 1899.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

River reading—This morning, 37.3, fall of .5. Rapid rise after tomorrow.

Madam Ardessa's dressmaking system will be taught to all applicants at room No. 21 of the Chapman block. Hours after 3 in the afternoon.

George McKinnon, for the past three months a patient at the insane asylum, left yesterday for his home at The Dalles completely restored.—Salem Statesman.

One of the elephants of the Ringling circus was caught in quicksand while taking a bath in Snake river the other day and had a narrow escape from drowning.

C. L. Phillips, treasurer, sold today as per advertisement, bonds of School District No. 50 of Antelope, amounting to $3000, to H. E. Bell, of Spokane, at 6 per cent and $127 premium and accrued interest.

At the last meeting of the Good Intent Society the ladies tendered a vote of thanks to Mrs. N. Harris for her kindness in donating her parlors for the entertainment recently given at her residence.

Tomorrow evening at St. Mary's Academy will occur the closing exercises of the school, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. A splendid program has been arranged, and an admission of 50 cents will be charged.

Tomorrow evening at Fraternity hall Cedar Circle will give one of their pleasant social dances. No program will be rendered, but the entire evening will be devoted to dancing to the splendid music furnished by Prof. Birgfeld.

For a few months past Nat Moore, son of Mrs. A. E. Moore, of 3-Mile, has been ailing with what appears to be consumption of the entire system. We are sorry to learn that he is much worse today, and may last but a short time.

Last night at Hartland, Wash., David K. Clarke, aged 52 years, an old settler in that section, died of stomach trouble with which he has been suffering for the past seventeen years. He leaves a wife and six grown children.

Before a week has elapsed the Oregon Telephone line will have reached Antelope, the workmen leaving yesterday to stretch the wires. The last load of poles has also been sent out to Prineville district and we can soon say "hello" to our Prineville friends.

Reports from the Atlin mining district are anything but flattering, and will probably cause some Oregonians to wish they had remained where the golden opportunities are numerous. One man in speaking of Atlin says the people who came out from there last fall must have been looking through glasses which magnified a thousand times. One prospector who is located close to the famous claim which Capt. Sperry sold at such an enormous price, sunk a hole seventeen feet deep and made a cleanup of $2.60. In the mining regions of Oregon a sharp prospector can clean up several times that much by merely looking at his claim.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Gold and Silver Mining Company of Antelope. The capital stock is $150,000, divided into shares of 1,500,000, par value ten cents each share. The principal office will be at The Dalles, and the incorporators are W. N. Wiley, R. E. Saltmarsh and J. B. Crossen. Five mines have already been included in the incorporation, and as it will be seen that it is virtually a local affair, will no doubt receive the cooperation of many and prove a success.

Although in extremely poor health, Mrs. C. E. Haight has determined to attempt the trip to her old home and relatives in Connecticut, hoping thereby to receive benefit, or at least to spend her last days with her own people. Her friends here have deeply regretted the serious illness of so long standing, which the estimable lady has been called upon to suffer and while they also regret parting with her, it is with the hope that she may improve thereby. Mrs. Haight desires THE CHRONICLE to express her thanks to her many friends for kindness shown and to say to them that while she will be unable to receive them before her departure (some time during the early part of next week), a card receiver will be placed at her parlor door, in the building over Pease & Mays' store, and she will be very glad to receive the cards of any who may desire to leave them.

School Superintendent Gilbert has for the past week been making it a point to visit the schools near the city, and yesterday made a trip on his bicycle to Chenoweth creek. Upon returning, when about a half mile this side of the school house, his wheel struck a large rock and Mr. Gilbert was thrown about fifteen feet onto some rocks. He was rendered unconscious for a time, and when he came to, found that his hip and back were so badly bruised that he was unable to assist himself. As no one happened along the road he lay there from 1 till 4 o'clock, when a boy appeared on the scene, and immediately went on to the school house and informed the teacher, who procured a team and came to his assistance. He was then brought home and has since been confined to his bed. Mr. Gilbert's health has not been the best for some time, and the accident is particularly unfortunate as he will probably be laid up for several days at least.

Although not a large crowd, it was an appreciative audience that listened to the violin recital of Elmore Rice last evening at the K. of P. hall, and applause was frequent as number after number was perfectly rendered by the artist, for such he must be who, unaided save by the splendid accompaniment of Prof. Birgfeld, entertains an audience for almost two hours. The reporter feels wholly incompetent to criticize the work of a violinist; but at the same time we know what pleases the ear and what apparently held other listeners spell bound, and such was the case last night. Better violinists have perhaps visited our city; but 'tis seldom we have such an artist in our midst. Each selection was well chosen and many were so sweet and touching as to almost bring tears to the eyes; but the effect when Mr. Rice struck the familiar strains of "Kentucky Home" and "Sawaneh River" was electrical and the encore at the close told of the appreciation, and the audience was repaid by that ever-pleasing selection "Traumerel." Mr. Rice left today for his home in Olympia.

Now Listen!

While I do not profess to be an optician, twenty-five years practical experience in fitting eyes enables me to give better satisfaction than many of those who do make such professions. I will not try to "look wise" and bewilder you with technical terms, but use such terms as far-sightedness, near-sightedness, cataract, etc., those we can all understand. I will give you a comfortable fit, at a moderate price. My glasses are the very best that are made, and for $1 to $5 I will fit you with glasses, that would cost you from $10 to $25 if bought from so-called professional opticians.

Respectfully,
J. E. Adcox.

Our Trade Number.

THE CHRONICLE has in preparation a "Trade Number," which will be issued in July. The object of the work is to present a trustworthy review of the business interests of The Dalles, and to that end THE CHRONICLE has employed the services of Messrs. Sargent & Rohrbacher, two able and experienced commercial writers, who will collect data, prepare matter and solicit business for the work.

If you wish a new hammock this year it will pay you to buy it at A. M. Williams & Co.'s.

NOMINATING CITY OFFICERS.

H. L. Kuck for Mayor—Election Will be Held Next Monday.

Although not so large a number as should have been interested in our city's welfare and the officers to be nominated, attended the mass meeting last night at the court house, perhaps 200 citizens were present for the purpose of nominating officers for the ensuing year.

John Gavin was chosen as chairman and H. H. Riddell as secretary, after which the meeting at once proceeded to the business for which it had been called. As is usual, enthusiasm seemed to be lacking and there was but one nomination for each office, and as these seemed to meet the favor of all present, no dissenting voice was raised.

Ex-Mayor Menefee took the floor as soon as nominations were in order and in very complimentary terms nominated H. L. Kuck for mayor of the city. Mayor Nolan seconded the nomination, and as no further nominations were made, on motion of F. W. Wilson the secretary cast the ballot for H. L. Kuck.

T. J. Seufert then nominated C. J. Crandall, the present treasurer, for reelection to the office. No other nominations being made on motion the ballot was cast for C. J. Crandall for treasurer of the city.

Nominations were next in order for water commissioner at large, and John Mitchell named J. F. Moore, and a ballot was cast in his favor by the secretary.

It was then arranged that a meeting for nominating councilmen and water commissioners be held in the various wards Friday night. The meeting for the First ward will be held in the council room; for the Second, at the circuit court room and for the Third, in the county court room.

We have heard no further names mentioned as candidates for the mayoralty, and indeed, we doubt if a better nomination could have been made. Such an office should be filled by one who has proven his worth and his interest in the city. Such an one is H. L. Kuck, who during his term as councilman has been faithful in the few things required of him, and deserves to be made the ruler over many things. Especially has his ability as a financier of the city's affairs been shown to good advantage, he having fathered the sinking fund project and others of a like nature. He has also made a success of his own business affairs and therefore is the more competent to serve the city.

Mr. Crandall might also be said to have proven a "treasure" in the office he has so successfully filled and no doubt will be re-elected.

Mr. Moore is a good man for the place of water commissioner at large, and THE CHRONICLE is glad he was nominated.

We only hope that in filling the remaining offices such good material will be found as candidates for them.

Sold His Employer's Horses.

About ten days ago Willis Hendricks, of Dufur, with his family left for a short stay in Portland, leaving his place and all connected therewith in charge of Frank Collins. No sooner had his employer gone than Collins proceeded to dispose of Hendricks' horses and appropriate the money. He brought a team into The Dalles and sold one to Murchie and another to Lewis Porter. He also sold several dozen egg, etc., and bought goods for himself.

Learning of his proceedings Wilbur Hendricks wrote to his brother and asked if he had authorized such sales. Being answered to the contrary, he telephoned to Sheriff Kelly last night at 10 o'clock and asked him to hunt up Collins, who was in town trying to dispose of a fine sorrel team belonging to his brother. Mr. Kelly at once began his search and found him in Skibbee's saloon under the influence of liquor. The man protested saying he was not the man, but, assisted by Mr. Thrall, the sheriff started for the courthouse with him. On the way they discovered a Smith & Weston revolver in his pocket, which they appropriated. Upon almost reaching the courthouse he got away from them, but only a short distance, and was captured again, when he was landed in jail, where Wilbur Hendricks identified him later.

The sheriff did not rest until he had discovered who had the first horses sold, and found that one was here and the other across the river, so they will be returned to the owner.

And Jailor Fitzgerald now has a horse on Collins, who will have his examination tomorrow.
