WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Odd Fellows' cemetery will occur the unveiling ceremony of the monument which has been erected by the Woodmen in memory of their deceased brother, Latimer Booth.

The weather report says warmer for forty-eight hours, and we have felt the effects of the prediction today. The river stands at 35.8, a fall of .7. From Monday till Thursday we are to have a decided rise at this place.

This morning the body of Mary Lentz, daughter of John Lentz, who resides on Neal creek, near Hood River, was brought to this city and buried from the Catholic church. She died at the family home Thursday, and was 22 years of age.

The regular Children's Day exercises will be held in the Methodist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. At 2 o'clock the funeral services of Nat Moore will take place, to which all are invited. Regular service in the evening.

As it was not convenient for some of the Commercial bowlers to make the trip to Portland today, the entire team gave up the idea of bowling for the Feldenheimer trophy this evening on the Road Club alleys in that city, as was intended yesterday.

For the Fourth of July the O. R. & N. Co. will sell excursion tickets to any rail station within 300 miles from selling station at one fare for the round trip. Tickets on sale July 2nd, 3rd and 4th and will be good for return passage up to and including July 6th, 1899.

Sale of seats for the Lady Minstrels will begin on Monday morning at Snipes & Kinersly's drug store. The demand for front seats has already become so pressing that the management may be forced to auction the front rows, knocking down the seats to the highest bidding bidder.

Dr. O. C. Hollister came up from Portland last night and spent today in the city. He informs us that Mrs. Hollister and little Florence have been suffering with the measles since they went to Portland. They are domiciled at the Curtis, corner Twelfth and Washington, where they will be glad to receive their Dalles friends.

The arrival of the editors in our city on their way to Portland seems to be as undecided as has been that of the soldier boys. The latter case is now decided and they will come direct to Vancouver barracks. But the editors—well, as the high water will prevent the D. P. & A. N. Co. providing for the trip down the river, we are now in the dark as to their movements. Editors generally move in the dark anyway.

Runaways are the order of the day, and last evening Mr. Cross' delivery team concluded to go home when he was delivering goods at the Columbia hotel, and to that end started off at a lively rate up Union cut. He was, however, soon stopped and did no harm. This morning, however, a horse attached to a cart on First street had a waxy chase, and at Jones' cigar store ran up on the sidewalk and almost floored a man standing there. He got rid of the cart after smashing it up, and started off on his own hook, ending where we know not where.

No better lesson could possibly have been given regarding the necessity of a fire alarm system than that of yesterday afternoon, when it was almost impossible for a time to discover where the fire really was, even the firemen at first starting to a portion of the city remote from the fire. They, however, got there just the same and in a remarkably quick manner considering the out-of-the-way location of the conflagration. The South Siders made their debut, and, it is said, by their efforts saved Mrs. Hart's residence. It is thought the fire was started by children playing with matches, as no other cause can be assigned, and they were seen coming hurriedly from that direction as the fire broke out. Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Kerrison are fortunate in having their home left to them.

RESULT OF WARD MEETINGS.

A Small Attendance at Each—Election Monday.

The few citizens who attended the ward meetings last night for the purpose of nominating councilmen and water commissioners to serve our city, it seems to us is a sad commentary on the interest which is taken in the city's welfare. As near as we can learn, in one ward eight citizens were on hand; in another ten, and in the other about nineteen. And yet into the hands of the men to be elected is to be placed our city's interests.

In spite of the negligence and little public-spiritedness displayed, if the council in the future should make a mismove, or one that is not popular, these very men who could not spare a few moments in which to attend these meetings will be the first to criticize, complain and make it warm for the council. The best material to be found should be selected as councilmen, and each should be on hand to vote and use his influence to that end, and not wait until they are elected and then kick. Not that we predict there will be reason for complaint, but it is the unconcern displayed in the matter which deserves criticism.

However, there were enough citizens who have the city's interest at heart and who attended to carry on the nomination, which in the First and Third wards proceeded without contestants, but in the Second was a little livelier.

In the First ward, where Harry Liebe acted as chairman and Jake Freese as secretary, Chas. Michelbach received the nomination for councilman for the three-year term, and H. Clough for two years. August Buchler was nominated for water commissioner.

In the Second ward the names of Laughlin, Johnston and Wakefield came up for short term councilman. After the first ballot Wakefield withdrew, leaving Laughlin and Johnston, and the latter was nominated. For the long term Laughlin, Kelly, Wakefield and MacAllister were mentioned. The latter's name being withdrawn on account of so many councilmen and the mayor being selected from one neighborhood, Kelly, Laughlin and Wakefield were voted on, Kelly receiving twelve votes and the nomination for the long term.

The Third ward meeting lasted but a short time, with N. J. Sinnott as chairman and Max Vogt as secretary. Dr. Wm. Shackelford was nominated for councilman and Ed. Pirman as water commissioner.

The election occurs Monday, and beside these named, Henry Kuck has been nominated for mayor; C. J. Crandall for treasurer, and J. F. Moore for water commissioner at large.

City Election Monday.

Monday is city election day. The polls will be open at the following places at 9 o'clock a. m.

First ward—At the city recorder's office.

Second ward—At the office of Wm. Michell.

Third ward—At the two-story wooden school building on Union street.

The following judges and clerks have been chosen:

First ward—F. W. Wilson and Chas. Schmidt, clerks; C. S. Smith, G. A. Liebe and Wm. Isbell, judges.

Second ward—J. C. Baldwin, J. B. Mann, clerks; Wm. Michell, James Blakeney and E. P. Fitzgerald, judges.

Third ward—E. M. Wingate and J. Doherty, clerks; Wm. Mann, J. H. Jackson and J. Staniels, judges.

Wanted.

Two and four-horse teams, with drivers. Month's work; good wages, payable weekly or monthly. Apply to W. H. Brown, Columbia Hotel.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY EXERCISES

Every Number a Gem and the Entire Program a Treat.

All were delighted who attended the closing exercises of St. Mary's Academy last night, for although the entertainments given by them are always first-class, that of last evening reached a degree of excellence perhaps never before attained. Particularly noticeable was the prompt manner in which the program was carried out, no tedious delays taking place, but everything moved like clock work, which was much appreciated by the audience as the evening was almost uncomfortably warm.

The stage had been prettily decorated for the occasion, an immense amount of flowers being used; and when the curtain arose and four pianos were displayed stationed thereon, all knew they were at least to have a musical treat; and they were not disappointed, for the first number was a piano trio by twelve young ladies, and during the evening several well executed selections on the pianos were given and two splendid renditions by the full orchestra, which plays remarkably well for children of their years.

It is difficult from such a program to select numbers especially worthy of mention. The "Bow and Arrow Drill," by the little boys was, we might say, perfectly executed. Indeed, it is difficult to understand how small children can be so drilled. "Reminiscences of Tenneyson," where his "Blow Bugle Blow" was acted most gracefully by nine little girls, attired in appropriate costumes, while one recited it distinctly and with expression, was beautiful, and the "Scripture Scene" of the ten virgins was as pretty a conception as we have ever seen, while the grace displayed in the tableau was captivating in the extreme. Very touching and pretty also was the pantomime "Angel Visitants," which was so well performed as to leave no doubt as to its meaning even had the solo been not so well rendered behind the scenes.

"A Cinderella Plot," a one-act sketch, was well acted by the young ladies, not to forget the little ones, who assumed their parts equally well. It was intensely interesting, and showed much histrionic talent among the pupils, as well as careful training from the teachers.

"Too cute for anything" was the verdict regarding the good night drill by ten little tots in night gowns and caps, carrying their dolls and caudles. They kept time perfectly and sang so sweetly, that everybody wanted to hug them. When the last little one crept into bed, it was amid a round of applause.

The teachers and pupils of the school must have given much hard study and practice to each number of the program, and deserve much credit for the remarkable success attained.

End of the Chapter.

In writing the article last week concerning the foolish, unguarded conduct of some of the young girls of our city, THE CHRONICLE suppressed a portion of the facts which had been brought to light for fear of thwarting the plans of officers who were at work to bring to justice the parties concerned therein.

Through the vigilance of our postmaster it was discovered that letters were received by these girls addressed to "Maggie Coin," a fictitious name—letters which were unfit for any human being to read, much less young girls, who are hardly yet able to write an intelligent letter of any sort.

The postal inspector being informed, hastened to the city, and ferreting out the whole affair, discovered that one Temple, who is a member of the "Noble Dramatic Company" was the author of these scandalous epistles and was also scheming to persuade one of the girls to elope with him. The inspector at once started for New Whatcom, where the Noble Company was billed to play, and finally arrested the fiend at that place a few days since.

This, we hope will be the last of him, as his is a penitentiary offense; and surely the girls have learned a lesson which will prove of lasting good.

The Lady Minstrels.

The ladies are anticipating a jolly time next Wednesday and Thursday nights when they will appear in their "other face" and impersonate the negro in his mirth and merriment. There will be impersonations of all kinds of coons, from the up-to-date 19th century gal, who aspires to dress and act just like white trash, to the plantation darkie who hasn't a care beyond a watermelon and a shady tree. A joller crowd of ladies and children have seldom planned to while away two hours for the benefit of a public library. Seats on sale Monday morning at the Snipes-Kinersly drug store.

The Modern Beauty.

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleaning action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

OUR CHURCHES.

Services will be held in the Lutheran church tomorrow evening, when M. L. Zweizig will occupy the pulpit.

Services in the Calvary Baptist church tomorrow. In the morning Elder Clifton will occupy the pulpit, and C. P. Bailey in the evening.

Regular meeting Christian Scientists every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the small K. of P. hall, in the Vogt building. All are invited to be present.

Morning subject at the Congregational church, "Religious Life Under Peculiar Difficulties." At the morning service Rev. Poling will sing as the offertory, "When Shadows Darkly Gather." In the evening Dr. Doane will sing "Rock of Ages."

Preaching at the Christian church tomorrow morning and evening at usual hours, by the pastor, Rev. G. Rushing. Subject for morning sermon, "Here and Hereafter," and the evening "The Divinity of Christ." All are cordially invited to attend these services.
