WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Lady Minstrels Tomorrow night at the Vogt.

Hood River Clark Seedling strawberries the best canning berries, at the Dalles Commission Co. 19 3/4t

Prof. Strong, of New Haven, Conn., has accepted the presidency of the university of Oregon at Eugene.

Elder C. P. Bailey will preach at the Calvary Baptist church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

The funeral of Mrs. H. Harper will take place from the Methodist church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Friends are invited to be present.

A child's gold necklace was left in the dressing room at Pease & Mays' store on circus day. The owner can have the same by applying at the store.

The juniors of the Congregational C. E. are preparing for a social for the benefit of the Babies' Home of Portland. Look out for their notice in a few days. Reports now say that work will begin on the much-talked-of railway on the north side of the river Friday. Teams will be put to work at Columbus on that date.

Wool sales still continue to be made each day, a few clips having been sold for 14 cents, but they were of the very best quality; the average price being 11 and 12 cents.

Have you secured your seats for the minstrels? If you want to witness the "catchiest performance that ever happened" take 75 cents down to Kinersly's and let him check your seat off.

The cistern at the corner of Second and Court streets now has its new hat on. The frame is of railroad iron with wooden trimmings. This morning the steam engine was used in pumping it out, and it is now "spankin' clean."

Word was brought into the city from Grass Valley last evening by J. Harvey Smith that a man by the name of Albright, who has been making his home with David McAlvey, about three miles from Grass Valley proper, had hung himself. No particulars were obtained concerning the suicide other than that it had occurred Sunday.

Messrs D. M., J. W. and S. French, who left here in company with C. J. Crandall yesterday for Hood River, for the purpose of examining the water power at that place and determining the advisability of obtaining power from that source to be used at the electric light plant here, report very favorably as to the result of their investigation.

Rev. and Mrs. G. Rushing and A. G. Hoering will leave on tomorrow morning's boat for Turner, in this state, where they go as delegates from the Christian church of this city to attend the state convention of that church, which convenes at Turner on Friday, the 23d, and continues in session for ten

TREASURE SHIP FROM ALASKA.

Oregonians Better Remain At Home Unless They Have Business Other Than Mining.

Leslie Butler arrived home last night, having come down from that famous treasure land on the City of Seattle, which reached Seattle last Friday evening. On board the steamer, which was the first treasure ship of 1899, were 150 miners, and the vessel's deck was literally lined with hardy miners. As to the gold which the steamer carried the reports varied. E. T. Pope, the purser, estimated the amount at $400,000, and much of the dust was entrusted to his care. He had between $200,000 and $250,000 in his apartment. It was represented in sixty-two sacks and bags. Many of the state rooms contained gold in large amounts, and it is said a man stood guard at the door of some of the apartments day and night. One sack contained 100 pounds and numerous other dust luggages of from twenty to fifty pounds each. One passenger displayed a draft for $80,000 and another one for $50,000. Among the big winners were forty-three men who had a sack or gold dust package of some description on deposit with the purser.

Reports given by the passengers regarding the prospects this year are conflicting; but when we consider the thousands who have thronged into these mining districts, and the few who have realized one-half of what they expected, does it not seem that men are fool hardy to risk everything to pursue such a phantom?

Mr. Butler says that there are a disheartened lot of people in the Atlin district. That while there is much gold there, the stories have been magnified greatly, and not one out of a hundred will get out of it what they put in. The same is said to be true of the Klondike district, according to reports brought out.

In the Atlin there are sections where the ground never thaws, and is extremely hard to prospect. On Birch Creek, thirteen miles from Atlin, where Mr. Butler was located, from the 13th of April till the 7th of June there was not a night when it did not freeze, and two weeks ago eight inches of snow fell.

The story regarding the famous $20,000 claim of Capt. Sperry was, like many others, a hoax, and men who are prospecting near there sunk a hole seventeen feet deep and took out $2.85, which it cost about $300 to prospect.

Is it not better to remain in Oregon, where there are good mines and to spare, than to chase forever the bog of gold at the end of the rainbow?

On Carload Lots.
A circular has been issued by the O. R. & N. announcing changes in freight rates effective July 1 which are in favor of the jobbers. All special commodity rates in effect between local points on the company's lines and subject to the minimum of 24,000 pounds per car.

The circular announces that the Western Classification No. 29 to be published effective July 1, 1899, will contain a number of important changes. Particular attention is called to rule No 6 which will read as follows:
"Carload freight will be rated and charged according to the current rules governing maximum and minimum weights of carloads, as authorized by the companies adopting this classification, but in no case, unless especially provided for in the classification, will a carload be considered less than 20,000 pounds, on freight rated in carloads, third class and higher, and 30,000 pounds on freight rated in carloads lower than third class. Provisions for carload rating shown in the classification will apply only upon shipments received in one day from one consignee, under one bill of lading, and delivered under one expense bill to one consignee. Carload rates are not applicable on freight consigned to railroad agents."

Funeral of Mrs. Haight.
The funeral services of Mrs. Phoebe Haight took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Methodist church and were largely attended by the numberless friends of the deceased.

The Epworth League choir sang three selections, which were special favorites of Mrs. Haight's, and were often sung by her during the first months of her illness.

Rev. J. H. Wood, her pastor, gave a short history of her life, particularly of her devotion and loyalty to her religious belief. He then took as his text these words: "In my Father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am there ye may be also." Speaking of the mansions he said there were enough for each, although millions had gone before. Christ has prepared a place and opened the way for all; indeed, He is the way. His glory will be the central idea of life beyond. While we may sing of meeting the friends beyond, yet when we reach the home above, the beckoning hands of Christ will be a sufficient welcome. God has not left us among the shadows, but his love has "told us" of the mansions prepared. And these mansions and the hope beyond was the comfort of her whom now we mourn.

Although having none who were dear to her by the ties of nature to follow her to her last resting place, her remains were tenderly cared for by loving hands and her chief mourners were the members of the Good Intent Society to whom she was as a sister, and who covered her grave with the flowers which betokened their love. There were also many beautiful floral tributes from other friends.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. R. B. Hood, J. H. Cross, Wm. Cates, C. F. Stephens, S. Thurman and J. Osborn.
