WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Lady Minstrels Tonight at the Vogt.

A. M. Williams & Co. are getting up an interesting shoe item for Saturday. Keep your eye on their ad.

Elder C. P. Bailey will preach at the Calvary Baptist church this evening at 8 p. m. All are most cordially welcomed.

Eastern Oregon doesn't seem to be very patriotic this year, judging from the manner in which the glorious Fourth is to be spent.

Fletch Faulkner, who recently opened a hardware store in the East End, is now fully settled in his new location and ready for business.

That promised shipment of men's pearl feather-weight hats, the dollar and a half kind, has just been received by A. M. Williams & Co.

The number of patients receiving treatment at the insane asylum last night was 1161. This indicates a falling off in the number of unfortunates confined there. In April, about two months the line. Tomorrow Antelope will be reached, and then on to Prineville will be the watchword.

Mr. I. Sichel arrived in The Dalles yesterday on his way to Portland on matrimonial business bent, cards having been issued for his wedding with Miss Lillie Rosenblatt of Portland, which takes place on the 29th. He will return with his bride the latter part of July.

C. E. Whitney, of St. Helens, Or., is in The Dalles today. Mr. Whitney is on a sad mission, that of searching for the body of his brother, Bert, who, with an older brother, Elmer, was drowned in Snake river May 23d. The body of Elmer was found at Grants two weeks ago today and buried at St. Helens a week ago last Sunday. Mr. Whitney is now returning from a trip up the river, coming a good part of the way on a skiff, and searching in out-of-the-way places for the body of the younger brother. It is to be hoped it will soon be discovered as the suspense is extremely wearing on the family, especially the mother and sister of the young man.

A Portland railroad man recently went fishing at The Dalles, and after spending the day there with a young lady friend, hired and paid a fisherman to send by express some fish to each of several Portland friends. The railroad man then returned to Portland, and told long and involved stories about his prowess and magnificent success, and his friends looked on him as a veritable Isaac Walton. Imagine his surprise and chagrin when The Dalles fisherman sent to each of those Portland friends of the railroad a bunch of dried fish; and imagine the brand of profanity the railroad man used in expressing his opinions of Dalles fishermen.—E. O.

Badly Mixed Up.

In an Ohio county a man named Miller married a widow who had a grown-up daughter. His father fell in love with the stepdaughter. The father became the son's son-in-law and the stepdaughter became his mother. Recently the son's wife had a child. The child was Miller's father's brother-in-law and Miller's own uncle, for he was a brother of his stepdaughter. Miller's father's wife, his stepmother—also had a son, who was, of course, Miller's brother and incidentally Miller's grandchild, for he was the son of Miller's daughter.

Thus Miller's own wife was his mother's mother and Miller became his wife's grandchild at the same time. And then, to top the whole thing off, as the husband of his grandmother he was his own grandfather.

A Card of Thanks.

I wish to say that I feel under lasting obligations for what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has done for our family. We have used it in so many cases of coughs, lung troubles and whooping cough, and it has always given the most perfect satisfaction, we feel greatly indebted to the manufacturers of this remedy and wish them to please accept our hearty thanks.—Respectfully, Mrs. S. Dory, Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.

Our Trade Number.

Work is rapidly progressing on our Trade Number, and the liberal support it has already received makes it an assured success. The number will be published in both the daily and weekly editions early in July, and will be replete with trade and biographical sketches of the prominent men and representative business houses of The Dalles. The matter has been prepared with especial care, and is designed to redound greatly to the welfare of the interests represented and to the city at large.

HIGH WATER FOR 1899.

Columbia River Will Stand at 44 Tomorrow and Reports Say That Will Be the Maximum Height.

As soon as the Columbia river begins to do the backing act and makes its appearance in the alley between First and Second streets, people begin to get excited, and all sorts of high water stories are rife. Last evening about 5 o'clock it began to look a little damp in that section and looks a great deal more so today. However, that is no criterion to go by as it is only back water. Prinz & Nitschke will no doubt be compelled to move goods from their basement, but so far as we have learned no trouble in that line has yet been experienced except by Mrs. M. Parkins, who lives in the Brittain house at the corner of Second and Liberty, and she has moved household goods from the basement.

While only conjectures can be made, the weather holding the situation in its own hands, people generally do not anticipate an unusual height this year, as the cooler weather now prevailing will certainly have the desired effect, although the report says warmer from tonight. The upper rivers will become stationary after Friday, the Snake falling slightly tomorrow. The Columbia will rise until tomorrow night, when it will stand at 44. The report also says it is thought that will be the maximum height.

The river readings this morning at 10 o'clock were: Lewiston, 20.4, rise of .4; Wenatchee 37.4, rise of .4; Northport 28.8, rise of .3; Umatilla 25.2, rise of .7; Dalles, 42.6.

The following readings, which were published in the Times-Mountaineer in 1894, were handed to us by Mr. Oram this morning, and will no doubt prove interesting to our readers. On May 29th it crossed the railroad track here:

May 29	51ft
May 30	52ft 6in
May 31	53ft
June 1	53ft 11in
June 2	55ft
June 3	56ft 9in
June 4	57ft 4in
June 5	58 ft 6in
June 6	59ft 9in
June 6, 11 a. m.	59ft 10in
June 7	59ft 1in
June 8	59ft
June 9	58ft 8in
June 10	58ft
June 11	56ft 6in
June 12	55ft 4in
June 13	53ft 10in
June 14	52ft 6in
June 15	51ft
June 16	49ft 11in

LAST LETTER FROM MANILA

Showing What a Prominent Part the Second Oregon Has Taken in the Battle.

Although the boys are now on their way home, and can soon tell us "how it all happened," it will not be amiss to publish the following letter received a few days since by Mrs. S. L. Armstrong from her son, A. A. Bonner:

MORONCO, April 30, 1899.

Dear Mother:—I have not written to you for some time, as we are not near Manila now. We are fighting in the interior and have no regular service to these parts. For the last ten days we have been marching and fighting every day but one. It is a regular guerrilla war. We have captured four towns in that time, and have one more in three parts to take. It is San Miguel, twenty-five miles north of here, and that will probably end the war. Three of us boys have been in every fight and march that the company has been in, and have not received a scratch or been sick a day since we first went out. We are now in the first brigade, third division, composed of the 13th Minn., fourth cavalry, sixth artillery, and Second Oregon, under the command of Col. Summers. We have marched over one hundred miles, forded five rivers, fought the enemy everywhere that they made a stand, and have lost less than a dozen men. Well, I hope this war will soon be over and we can return home, as it is just one year ago today that we left The Dalles to enlist.

POLAG, May 8, 1899.

We are now camped here for a few days. All are well. Have had several fights lately. We pick up many things here that would be valuable souvenirs, but cannot take care of them, as a soldier's pack in the field is not a very light article. It is not very often that we get a chance to write, as we are in the interior of the island and have no opportunity to send mail out. I see by the papers that the authorities at Washington claim that the volunteers want to stay in the service. It is one of the biggest lies ever invented, and an excuse to keep us here. But if it were not for the volunteers here, the regulars could do nothing, as most of them are green boys from the Eastern cities who never handled a gun.

It is very hot here, and we have a heavy rain every evening.
