DROPPING SILVER.

In at least two directions there is a drift away from the silver forces. The other day ex-Senator Peffer abandoned the base money coalition of 1896. Wharton Barker, of Philadelphia, one of the most radical and outspoken advocates of silver whom the country has had, says that silver is a dead issue, and has come out for greenbackism, with neither a 100c dollar nor a 45c dollar behind it. Gen. A. J. Warner, of Ohio, who was, next to Richard P. Bland, the earliest and most pronounced of the silver dollar advocates, now declares that "imperialism and trusts are issues that transcend and take precedence of silver."

The Salt Lake Tribune, which belonged to the Teller faction of the Republican party in 1896, and which went over to the Democracy in that year, cites these Barker and Warner secessions as evidences of the strength of its own position that it "is idle to keep up the shouting for free silver." The Salt Lake paper is, indeed, in a pretty numerous company. There is a rush in various directions from the free silver camp. Some are coming to the Republican party, others are going to the Populists, and still others are joining the gold Democrats. The net result is that the "6,500,000" of 1896, which we have heard so much about from the base money party's orators and editors since then, is in process of disintegration. It does not number more than 5,500,000 or 4,500,000 in 1899, and promises to be still lower in 1900.

This drift from silverism was, of course, the natural thing to expect. Silverism is only the half-way house to straight flatism. The difference between a 45c dollar and a no cent dollar is too slight to count for much. The average American voter has no liking for metaphysics. On the financial question he wants honest money or dishonest money. If he chooses dishonest money he is not going to put up long with the spurious variety of it represented by 45c dollars. After dropping that far from the honest money level he is not going to stop until he gets to the bottom. He makes no compromises with his convictions. He will have the best or the worst which is to be got. If he wants a dollar which has any flat in it he will take the one which is all flat. There is logic and consistency in this position.

Thus it happens that silverism is being hit in two directions. The more intelligent part of the silverites are coming over to the Republican party. Teller and the majority of the men who went out of the party with him three years ago are likely to be back with the Republicans next year. The more radical and thoughtless, on the other hand, are moving over toward the Populists.—Globe-Democrat.

America has dropped from the first place among the world's gold producers. Its gold product, however, is rapidly increasing, but that of some of the other countries is growing faster. The world's output of the yellow metal, which Bryan in 1896 said was on the decline, and would continue on the decline, is growing with a rapidity and a constancy undreamed of by the most sanguine gold standard advocates a few years ago. The gold product of the world in 1896 was $202,000,000. It will be $400,000,000 in 1900 according to the estimate of the Director of the Mint, based on the rate of increase shown in 1898 and 1899.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BARCOCK, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.
