WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Capt. Cowan, of the Warm Springs reservation, is in the city.

Miss Addie Jackson left today for a few days' visit in Portland.

H. Glenn was a passenger for Portland on the early morning train.

Miss Julia Nickelsen was a passenger to Hood River this morning.

Miss Clara Davis left this morning for a visit with friends in Portland.

Mrs. Kate Roach was a passenger on this morning's boat for Portland.

Max A. Vogt left on the train this morning for a short stay in Portland.

Yesterday a carload of beef cattle was shipped to Troutdale by C. M. Grimes.

Fred Young left on the boat this morning for Portland, where he will spend a few days.

Mrs. Jas. Blakeney left yesterday for Portland where she will visit with her husband.

The last will and testament of Phoebe J. Haight was filed with the county clerk today.

Today several hundred head of cattle were delivered at the stockyards for Kettle Bros.

Messrs. Sam'l Wilkinson and Thomas Smith left on the early morning train for Portland.

Today Mrs. C. J. Stabling disposed of her plants, flowers and shrubs to Dr. W. L. Tackman.

Miss Myrtle Smith left on the boat this morning for Seattle, where she will spend the summer.

Nicholas J. Sinnott left this morning for Goldendale, where he will deliver an oration tomorrow.

Miss Beesie Snipes has gone to Portland instead of Monmouth as we stated in Saturday's issue.

Wm. Waterman, of Grant county, and Martin Waterman, of Eight-Mile, were in the city today.

The wool market is very quiet today, most of the buyers having gone to Portland to celebrate the Fourth.

The library has received twenty-six new books, which will be given out to members calling for them tonight.

Mrs. Mary Clarke, of Chicago, and Miss Jeanette Williams left on the boat this morning for Portland.

The firms of Pease & Mays, A. M. Williams & Co. and Mays & Crowe will collect and pay all bills on the 6th.

Rev. Woody and family, of Portland, arrived in the city Saturday evening and are guests at the home of Marshal Hill.

Mrs. J. M. Patterson and Miss Patterson returned Saturday from Salem, where they have spent the past two weeks.

Messrs. Harry C. Liebe and Frank Cathcart left yesterday afternoon for Portland, where they will spend the Fourth.

Miss McLeod and Miss Frankie Van Vactor left this morning for Goldendale, where they will spend a week with relatives.

Col. John Adair and Mrs. Dr. Owens-Adair arrived in the city yesterday from North Yakima on the way to their home at Clatsop Beach.

Tomorrow will be the 123d anniversary of the independence of the United States of America. May she live long and prosper.

Miss Maud Michell and Miss Helen Hudson left on the Regulator for Portland. They were accompanied as far as the locks by Mrs. Michell.

Messrs. W. H. Butts and Jos. Stadlerman were passengers on the Regulator this morning bound for Portland, where they will spend the Fourth.

Miss Rose Michell left Saturday night for Huntington, where she will join the National Editorial Association and accompany them to Portland.

The ladies of the Lutheran church will have refreshments, pies and cakes for sale at the residence of Mrs. C. L. Schmidt on Wednesday afternoon.

The glorious Fourth will be celebrated in fitting style at Dufur tomorrow, and many of our citizens are going to that pleasant little burg to spend the day.

Miss Alice Lyle, who for the past year has been with the firm of Pease & Mays, resigned her position on the first of the month and will soon leave for Portland.

This morning the Regulator was loaded to the guards. Besides a large passenger list she carried twenty-two horses, several tons of wool, numerous wagons and a lot of miscellaneous freight.

The weather today has been quite pleasant, although the wind has been blowing incessantly since morning. However, this is preferable to the hot weather which was experienced yesterday.

The spring crops in the south-eastern part of the county are reported to be burning some, in consequence of the prevailing hot winds for the past few days. Should these winds continue during the week the crops will not be what were expected during the early part of the season.

Last evening many people noticed the sky lit up on the hill south-east of town. Many thought it was a dwelling on fire, but it was merely the burning of some brush near the residence of Chas. Fraser.

The late coyote bounty law, says the Blue Mountain Eagle, is certainly having the desired effect, judging from the way the scalps are coming in. It should soon result in the extermination of the coyote.

The Roseleaf cigar store has changed hands. For the past two months Messrs. Cathcart and Straus have enjoyed a lucrative trade and have made many friends in the city. Mr. Cathcart having other business has sold his interest to Jos. D. Straus, who, in the future, will conduct the business.

Not much of a display is being made in the city for the grand and glorious Fourth of July, but, nevertheless, our hearts are in the right place. The coming home of our Oregon volunteers is at present uppermost in our thoughts, and from all indications they will be given a rousing time.

The excursion to be given on the Regulator tomorrow promises to be a flattering success. A great many tickets have been sold, and undoubtedly when the boat leaves the dock at 8 in the morning, her decks will be thronged with merry makers and persons wishing for a day on the river to forget the cares and troubles of life.

Many flags are flying in the city today, for this is the anniversary of the Santiago fight, which is still fresh in our minds, as it is just a year ago since it took place. It was one of the greatest naval battles of modern times, only one man in the American navy being killed, while the entire fleet of Cervera was destroyed and hundreds of Spaniards lost.

When Sheriff Kelly went to Sumpter some days ago after a prisoner he became aware of the facts that Wm. Winton was in the neighborhood so gave a description of the man to the authorities there and asked them to keep a lookout for him. Today the sheriff was rewarded with a telegram from Sumpter announcing the capture of Winton, and asking instructions. Mr. Kelly wired he would leave night for his prisoner. Some ten days ago Winton absconded with about $600, belonging to a woman in the East End.

An Appropriate Display.

As the editors are to be here tomorrow, no more fitting window could be made than the one Ernest Jensen has prepared at the establishment of A. M. Williams & Co.

In the center is a 15th century press, while at the west end are the type cases. The big shears are a prominent feature, while the form is plainly visible. The floor and background are covered with papers from all over America, and some from Germany.

One of the attractive features in the window is a copy of the first paper published in America—The Boston News, dated 1704. Another old paper is the one that was published in New York in 1800, called the Ulster County Gazette.

Above all, are several cuts of up-to-date presses manufactured by the well known house of R. Hoe & Co., New York.

Biennial Convention.

For the above international occasion of the Epworth League, which takes place at Indianapolis, July 20-23, the O. R. & N. Co. will make a round trip rate of $76 to Indianapolis, tickets on sale July 13th and 14th, limited to expire returning September 15, 1899. Good for continuous passage only on the going trip. Good for stop over returning at any intermediate point west of the Missouri river or St. Paul. Call on or address Jas. Ireland, agent, Dalles, for further information. July 1-15

Notice.

A Child Enjoys.

The pleasant flavor, gentle action, and soothing effect of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between C. J. Cathcart and J. D. Straus, under the firm name of Cathcart & Straus, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. J. Cathcart retiring. J. D. Straus will continue the business, and will collect all bills due said firm and pay all accounts against the same. Dated July 1, 1899.

C. J. CATHCART,
J. D. STRAUS.

TO ENTERTAIN THE EDITORS.

They Will Arrive in the Morning and Spend several Hours in the City.

The members of the National Editorial Association will arrive here tomorrow morning. There will be several hundred of them, and on arrival will be breakfasted at the Umatilla house, where an elegant spread has been prepared, after which they will be shown through the city.

The following ladies and gentlemen have been appointed to entertain the editors during their short stay in the city: Mayor Kuck, ex-Mayor Nolan, Congressman Moody, Judge Mays, Judge Bradshaw, A. S. Bennett, W. H. Wilson, B. S. Huntington, J. F. Moore, D. M. French, E. C. Pease, H. W. French, Grant Mays, W. Lord, M. Z. Donnell, John Gavin, Robert Kelly, A. M. Kealey, H. Glenn, R. G. ### Communicated.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRONICLE:—In your Thursday's issue I read of inhuman treatment toward the father of Theodore Durrant, by his co-laborers in the shoe factory where he used to work, and that he and his wife are suffering therefrom. Can it be that any of these know they are living human beings? Yet with man-made laws, and a man-made God, anything unrighteous seems possible, entirely forgetting the burden of the teachings of One who gave himself as a sacrifice for the love of humanity, and of truth. Love ye one another, thy neighbor as thyself; upon these hang all the law and the prophets.

Who was guilty of those terrible deeds, the poor father and mother, or the son? It was conclusively proven to be the son; then why crucify the parents? Before the son's execution he repented, joined the Catholic church, thought he was forgiven. Was he? What shall we do with the law that makes every one responsible for his own acts? What will become of the murderers who hang men? Taking a life they cannot give. Vengeance is mine, sayeth the good law, I will repay. By taking the life of a fiend he is only dispossessed of a body, thrown into the unseen, so that there would be another evil spirit added to those already roaming the earth, seeking whom they may devour. The committing of a second murder does not atone for anything. The one who does the deed must reap as he has sown. No father, no mother, no God can save him from eternal justice, or the universal inexorable law is imperfect, which can not be true if every man is responsible for the deeds done in the body. Who can save him but himself? And it would seem no person has a right to thwart that justice. No man can sow thorns and thistles, and expect to reap roses. In the first great cause when each individualized soul started out of its own choice in pursuit of the knowledge and truth, it made its own choice, with its own talents. We are told in the good book, that the sins of the parents shall be visited upon the children even unto the third and fourth generation.

Who were our own parents? Who committed these sins we are working out? If each individual soul always existed and always will, where were we? Is it not best for humanity to obey this injunction: "Man know thyself;" for in knowing himself he knows the universe. The miracles performed by the great master were not miracles at all, only demonstrations of natural laws. There is no such thing as "special providence." It is folly to expect such things; if one has earned what they desire, and can work with the law, then they have reason to expect their desires to be fulfilled, otherwise no amount of praying will bring them. We have seen the time when the whole nation was praying for the life of one man—did it save him? No. When the hour struck for him, he passed through the door. So it will be with each one. Nothing but their own union with the "higher self" can swerve the immutable law, and the sooner people begin to understand the difference between the illusory and the real, the sooner they will believe that Jesus told them the truth about finding the God within. Then they will become satisfied of the great heresy of separateness, and realize that God made no distinction between man, no matter what color his skin. Perfect man was the highest ideal of creation, the difference being only to his own exertions, helped on by the eternal laws of evolution. So, if the co-laborers of Mr. Durrant have chosen to have the doors of the workshop closed against an innocent man, earning an honest livelihood for his family, the good law would be imperfect, if this barring shame did not rebound with full force upon them, for each one is no better than his fellows. And none can say how soon they themselves may be overtaken with sorrow, almost unbearable, for humanity is linked together by an indissoluble chain which reaches back further than the finite mind can conceive—to a first great universal cause. And like the lump of yeast in the barrel of meal which leavened the whole, so an injury to one indirectly injures the whole race. The Durrants are children of the same Father, who is no respecter of person, and if they can have, through their great sorrow, learned their lesson this time, it will be well for them in the days that are to come.

Respectfully submitted,
BY AN OBSERVER.

Retaliation.

"Mama," said an innocent of five years old, "when I grow to be a woman will I get married and have a wedding?" "I hope so, my dear, why do you ask?" said mother. "Because, mama, I shan't ask you to my wedding." "No? Why not, my dear?" "Why, mama, you didn't ask me to yours."

$15 Reward.

The above reward will be paid for the recovery of each of the bodies of Wong and Jake, Chinamen, who were drowned in the Columbia at Blalocks last Friday. CHEE KEK CO., The Dalles.

$50 Reward.

A reward of $50 will be paid by the undersigned for the recovery of the body of Bert Whitney, drowned in the Snake river at Palouse Rapids, near Lyon's Ferry, on May 23, 1899.
