CHICAGO MAN'S' WONDER MOTOR

Developes Ten Times the Power of the Best Engines.

NAVAL OFFICERS INVESTIGATE

Takes Only Thirty Inches of Floor Space For a Forty-Horse Power Machine, Is Only Thirty Inches High and Practically Noiseless: Automatic Feed and Friction Reduced to a Minimum.

CHICAGO, July 4 .- The Record says: Forty horsepower, or about ten times as much as the best engines develop at present with a half-inch feed, will, according to the claims of the inventor, be extracted from the same quantity of steam by a motor which will be inspected by Admiral Melville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, United States navy, some time this month in this city.

The motor is 24 inches high, and occupies a space about 30 inches square on the floor. It is practically noiseless. It has no packing in any of the parts. With elight variations it is modeled after a emaller one, which has been successfully operated by both steam and liquid air, and through which the attention of Lieutenant Zeatinski, U. S. N., retired, was interested.

The machine is composed of two discs, one revolving within the other on a reparate axle in an opposite direction, and all incased in a metal box of circular shape. Each disc is forged into alternate spaces and partitions. The spaces are three-sixteenths of an inch wide, and have parallel lines. The blades or partitions are three-eights of an inch thick. These alternating spaces and partitions are cut on the disc at such an angle that the steam which is fed through the sxle or shaft passes through the spaces on the disc nearest the axie to the partitions of the next disc at a right angle, thus propelling the second disc in the opposite direction.

By this arrangement one of the discs revolves in one direction and the other in the opposite, the power of both being harmonized on the power shaft, by a reverting gear connected with one of them. The force of the steam utilized is that of pressure and not of impact The motor extracts approximately all of the power in the steam before it reaches the circumference of the disc, and therein, according to the inventor, J. F. Brady, of this city, lies its superiority over other mechanisms. The machine is adaptable to either high or low pressure, the friction is reduced to a minimum, and the adjustment of feed is automatic.

QUEEN'S DEATH NO SURPRISE

She Was Well Along in Years and a Sufferer From Cancer-Visited San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.-The news brought from Honolulu by the Coptia of the death on June 24 of the Dowager Queen Kapiolani was not a surprise, as her death had been expected for some time. She was sixty-five years of age and was a sufferer from cancer, and rerecently had a stroke of paralysis, following several attacks of apoplexy. She was much esteemed in the islands and her death was sincerely mourned. Her remains lay in state for eight days and were buried with impressive cermonies. She left no children, and during her

With Sampson's Fleet.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 3 .- The first anniversary of the destruction of the Spanish fleet off Santiago was observed here today by the ships of the North Atlantic squadron, by the attaches of the naval stations and by vessels in the harbor in general. The celebration began at 8 o'clock when at "colors" the warships ran up flage and bunting of many colors. Other shipping and the yachte in the harbor were gaily dressed, and in the city the Stars and Stripes were displayed at all points.

The national salute of twelve guns was fired at noon from all the ships of the squadron, and the Constellation, and each crew had a special dinner. Sports and races by the several crews, minstrel and vaudeville entertainments on the several ships were features of the anniversary.

Sampson Will Not Meet Dewey.

WASHINGTON, July 3 .- Secretary Long said today that he knew nothing of the reported plan to have the North Atlantic squadron, under Rear-Admiral Sampson, meet Admiral Dewey on the Olympia at the Azores and escort him to the United States. So far as he knew, the plans of the North Atlantic equadron did not contemplate their leaving the shores of New England.
