WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

August Designer just received at Pease & Mays.

Designer for August now on sale at Pease & Mays.

Hon. C. W. Fulton delivered the oration at Independence yesterday.

Today the Wasco warehouse shipped four carloads of baled wool to Boston.

There will be an ice cream social at the church in Thompson's addition on Thursday evening.

Jonathan Jackson appeared before the county court today and took out his final citizenship papers.

Leave your orders for the August Designer at Pease & Mays and it will be sent at once to your address.

A great many coyote scalps are being brought in and from all indications the bounty allowed is having a good effect.

Tacoma is overrun with footpads. Yesterday several hold-ups were reported and in one case the victim was shot.

Had not the editors arrived yesterday the Fourth in this city would have been decidedly quiet as there was nothing going on whatever.

The crops in the vicinity of Antelope are looking good, says an authority, but the spring grain is beginning to turn some and is in need of rain.

The river is falling and will probably continue to fall for a few days. This morning it registered 39.6, a fall of a foot during the past twenty-four hours.

Mrs. A. H. Tackman has purchased the greenhouse, plants, shrubs, etc., from Mrs. Stubling, and they are being removed to the Tackman property on East Hill.

There will be a joint public installation of officers of Temple Lodge No. 3, A. O. U. W. and Fern Lodge No. 25, D. of H. tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. See their ad in another column.

The county court is in session today with Judge Mays and Commissioners Kinsey and Evans present. Many probate matters have come up before the court but tomorrow will be the first day for the transaction of county business.

Last night Mt. Hood was to have been illuminated for the benefit of Portland residents and many people from The Dalles were under the impression we would be able to see the light from here, but as yet we have not heard any say they noticed the illumination.

We learn from parties who have just returned from the Wamic and Tygh ridge country that the crops are looking fine in that vicinity, in fact have never looked better. In some localities the grain will harvest forty bushels to the acre.

J. B. Golt who in company with W. H. H. Dufur, supervisor of the forest reserve, has been running the line of the Cascade forest reserve from White river to Hood river, returned last evening and reports a successful although not overly pleasant trip.

Monday evening the council, with newly elected members and mayor, met with the intention of nominating the city marshal, nightwatchman and recorder, but owing to some of the councilmen not being present the meeting was adjourned until Saturday evening.

We have it from good authority that the strawberry crop in Hood River has nearly been picked. Although not so many berries have been shipped as usual, nevertheless the returns have been greater than in former years. The average price paid has been one dollar per crate.

Yesterday during the stay of the editors, the Indian, Martin Spedas, and a number of his comrades were the center of attraction for an hour and during the time reaped several dollars posing. Martin gave nearly a hundred autographs and his picture will adorn places of prominence in homes thousands of miles away.

The wool market is very quiet today, only a few small clips being sold. A great many of the buyers having spent the Fourth in Portland have not returned. However, a great deal of wool is being received by wagon from interior points and also by railroad. Both the Moody and the Wasco warehouses are running their balers at full blast, baling about 110,000 pounds of wool daily.

The excursion yesterday was a decided success and the decks of the Regulator were thronged with old and young, maid and matron, youth and men of mature years, nearly three hundred persons having taken passage. Many spent the day at intermediate points, but the majority went to Cascade, where a more desirable place for a days outing could hardly be found. Going down the wind was rather strong and it was quite chilly but the return trip was most pleasant. Nearly all who participated declared themselves more than pleased with their outing. During the heated term an evening excursion would undoubtedly be well patronized.

The glorious Fourth is always a reminder of the trials our forefathers went through. When a celebration is at hand, we take more than passing pleasure and thought, but a day like yesterday when a good share of our townspeople were away there was but little to do or see. However the small boy (and we could see ourselves as others saw us) made the welkin ring with the firing of crackers, bombs, and other ear splitting noises that some larger boy has put upon the market.

Since C. M. Cornett has taken possession of the Prineville stage line he has made numerous changes. Among others he has increased the stock and is making better time between here and the above named point. The time of departure from The Dalles remains the same, but the stage will arrive in Prineville at 6 a. m. and will leave there at noon which will give merchants and residents of that place ample time to answer their correspondence received from northwestern points on the same day, which will be a great convenience.

On almost every excursion on the river there comes the report that some one has been hurt or drowned. These rumors are very annoying to persons interested in making the affair a success, for they create much anxiety to persons having friends and relatives on board the boat. Yesterday it was rumored that a child had fallen overboard and drowned, while shortly after the rumor was so changed that it was a man who was the victim. How these reports get out is a mystery, but should be stopped. Last evening many mothers who had children aboard were on the verge of hysterics thinking that perhaps it was her darling who at that moment was being rocked to sleep in the bosom of the mighty Columbia. Persons with regard for the feelings of others will refrain from uttering these stories unless they are positive what they state is absolutely true.

Mysterious Disappearance.

The whereabouts of J. J. Scott, of Bridal Veil, is shrouded in mystery, says the Telegram. Monday morning his boat was picked up, floating in the Columbia river, by L. Dupuis of Vancouver, and its occupant was missing.

Scott left Bridal Veil Sunday morning in his boat, bound for Duncan lake. That was the last seen of him.

About 6 o'clock Monday morning Mr. Dupuis discovered a small clinker-built skiff floating in the river, apparently without an occupant. He took a small boat and pulled out. The craft was empty with the exception of a few articles of clothing, and a Winchester rifle. Mr. Dupuis towed the skiff ashore and immediately began an investigation. The following named articles were found in the boat: A coat, hat, Winchester rifle with one shell discharged and the hammer thrown back, an umbrella, a kid glove and a quart bottle about one-half full of whiskey.

In a pocket of the coat was an envelope addressed to J. J. Scott, Bridal Veil, Or. The envelope bore the postmark of Seattle, May 24, 1899, and contained a receipt for an express money order for the amount of $2.

Mr. Dupuis immediately telephoned to Bridal Veil and asked for information concerning J. J. Scott of that place. It was ascertained that he was a resident there and had left in a boat Sunday morning for Duncan lake and nothing had been seen or heard of him since.

When the boat was picked up, there was one oar hanging in the lock. Three or four locks were scattered about the bottom, but no oars were in the boat. The skiff is a valuable one, clinker-built, and varnished inside and out. On the bow is painted the name "Cap Sheaf."

It is generally supposed in Vancouver and in Bridal Veil that Scott has fallen overboard and is drowned.

THE EDITORS ENTERTAINED.

They Spent Two Hours in the City and Were Greatly Pleased.

Although a good share of our people had gone out of the city yesterday, nevertheless the members of the National Editorial Association arrived at 3:45 yesterday afternoon there was a large crowd to meet them and make them feel at home. There were thirteen cars, consisting of Wagner's and Pullman's, and they were drawn by two large engines.

Arriving at the depot the train which contained the 356 editors and friends was cut in two and six of the sleepers were drawn to the Umatilla House, where the occupants were dined, some 200 being seated at the first table.

While these were eating the rest of the party were being entertained by our citizens and the committee appointed, the members of which deserve much credit. When the first table was cleared the rest of the party were taken to the hotel and were seated to a spread that would be hard to equal east of the mountains. Many editors were heard to remark that it was the best meal they had partaken of since they had been on the trip, and complimented our people on being able to prepare such a spread. Messrs. Sinnott & Fish exerted themselves to the utmost in giving the dinner, and indeed deserve much credit for their labors.

The tables were tastily decorated with palms and flowers, while in the line of edibles our home fruit was predominant, and many were the remarks made by our visitors about such delicious strawberries and cherries.

There was but little time in which to show the editors around so it was mostly devoted to conversation, during which our resources and surrounding country were given the benefit. Since the editors arrived in Oregon they have been shown more courtesy than in any other state through which they passed. They left at 5 o'clock for Portland, having spent an hour and three quarters in our city. They expressed themselves as being greatly pleased with The Dalles, and were only sorry that more time could not be devoted to seeing the surrounding country and places of interest. Their last words were praises for our people and thanking us for the hospitality shown.

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy was kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack, much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the throat, chest or lungs. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50 cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. Babcock, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers expel from the system all poisonous accumulations, regulate the stomach, bowels and liver, and purify the blood. They drive away disease, dissipate melancholy and give health and vigor for the daily routine. Do no gripe or sicken. Butler Drug Co.

You can't cure dyspepsia by dieting. Eat good, wholesome food, and plenty of it—Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests food without aid from the stomach, and is made to cure. Butler Drug Co.
