WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Marriage license was yesterday issued to E. L. Barzee and Alice Powell.
Dust thou art to dust returneth. But don't get up and dust now; we have a sufficiency.
And now the girls are kicking because the soldier boys must leave their arms at Vancouver. They consider this the most unkindest cut of all.
The great surgeons all now agree that appendicitis is rarely if ever caused by grape seeds or the like. They fall in all their operations and autopsies to find any such cause. They attribute the prevalence of the malady now to sudden jars.
In the suit of Ada Bingham against Lipman, Wolfe & Co., at Portland, the jury awarded damages of $8000. Mrs. Bingham was charged by the firm with stealing from the store. The conduct of Lipman & Wolfe in this case will no doubt injure their business to a great extent.
The following is a list of the "found" articles on the excursion on steamer Regulator last evening. Owners can have same by applying to the CHRONICLE office: D. of H. pin (a gem); child's breast pin; key with ribbon attached; hat pin; hair pin (steel); bang hair pin.

A very pleasant diversion from routine duties was furnished the ladies of the Degree of Honor this afternoon when there appeared in their lodge room a full grown freezer of ice cream, with the compliments of their A. O. U. W. brothers. The fervor of the reception soon melted it away.
Among the delegates to the grand lodge, D. of H., is Mrs. Kate J. Young, who is a past grand chief and who organized Fern lodge in The Dalles. Mrs. Young has been connected with newspaper work for some years past, and to her THE CHRONICLE is indebted for a report of the proceedings of the present session.
Among the freight which was brought up by the Regulator yesterday was a large number of kegs of beer. On board the boat was a strong prohibitionist, who evidently deemed the beer as deadly an enemy as the other article of beer, for at the Cascades he was noticed sitting on a large keg, and by way of saving himself from its seductive influence was using a life preserver as a cushion.
The members of the Commercial Club have extended the hospitality of the club rooms to the delegates now in our city. This evening a reception will be given to them in the parlors. The ladies of the club are especially requested to be present to receive the guests and make the evening pleasant for them. The D. C. & A. C. band will be in attendance to enliven the evening with some of their choicest selections.
Say, are you proud of The Dalles roads as you convey the visitors about the city? Don't you wish Union street had been repaired on the bluff; or those great boulders had been removed from the road leading up from Washington; or that those measly little rocks on brewery grade had been cast into the bottom of the sea; so that there would be one decent avenue by which we could reach the beautiful drive on the bluff? Our roads are certainly no recommendation.

On account of the large number of visitors who are now in our city and the fact that the Umatilla House where the Grant party are to be entertained, is already filled to overflowing, it was deemed best to induce them to remain in Portland another day, and word to that effect was this morning wired to Dr. Grant, and later an answer received that they would make the trip up the river tomorrow. It is possible they may be taken through the locks by that time.
The 9-year-old girl spoken of by THE CHRONICLE a few days since as having come from Kansas alone and failing to find her brother when she reached here, has discovered her whereabouts now, and left on yesterday afternoon train for Dallas. It seems that instead of Dallas her ticket read The Dalles. Surmising the truth, the conductor of the train on which she came telegraphed to that place and found that her brother, Wm. McCabe, had come in from his place, forty-five miles from Dallas, to meet her and had been waiting ever since. Some kind hearted people took her in here and she stayed with them until yesterday.
The excursion given by the local lodges to their guests was scheduled to leave at 9 o'clock last night; but circumstances altered the case, and the Regulator failed to arrive until 9:30 and therefore it was after 10 when the excursionists left the dock. A large amount of perishable freight had been brought up which necessitated immediate delivery, and the transfer caused the delay. But in spite of the lateness of the hour, about 300 delegates and others boarded the boat and enjoyed a delightful moonlight ride on the Columbia, going down as far as Mosier and returning by 12:10 o'clock. The D. C. & A. C. band furnished the best of music for the occasion, and it was indeed a rare treat to the visitors.
One of the most prominent editors of the national association, from Missouri, said at The Dalles the girls were the prettiest of any place on his journey. Some of them told the editor of the Statesman on the way down to Portland the same of Walla Walla girls. There were not many of our girls around at the early hour they arrived here as they were getting breakfast at home and all The Dalles daisies were out in full bloom.—Statesman. That's all right Walla Walla, we know you kept most of your young ladies in hiding when the editors were with you, sending only the best looking out on parade; but the beauty of your little city recommended itself and they were loud in their praises of Walla Walla and its surroundings. The Dalles daisies are always in full bloom and ready to make a good showing; but we're not selfish nor egotistic and don't mean to be regarded in that light.
A few days since the business interests of the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company passed from the ownership of Sumnerville, Breyman & Cartwright, to C. M. Cartwright of Portland, and J. G. Edwards, of Wyoming. The company will be carried on under the same name as formerly, but under different management, and the contracts made by the previous owners will be strictly carried out. The company is widely known throughout the Northwest and has perhaps the largest sheep interests in the United States, running about 35,000 or 40,000 head of sheep. They also engage extensively in raising fine sheep, having some of the best breeds it is possible to obtain. Each year they market in the neighborhood of a half million pounds of wool. All are interested in the welfare of this company and have no doubt but that its interests will fare as well in the hands of its new managers as in the past.
The pleasant flavor, gentle action, and soothing effect of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.
Notice to Band Members.
All members of the D. C. & A. C. band are requested to be at the club rooms at 9 o'clock (sharp) this evening to furnish music for the reception to be given in honor of the delegates to the A. O. U. W. and D. of H. grand lodges.

A USEFUL LIFE ENDED.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cates Dies at a Ripe Old Age—A Pioneer Resident.

Never in its history, perhaps, has The Dalles experienced so many deaths as in the past year; and not alone our city, but the entire state has been bereft of its pioneer citizens, until before many years roll by their number will reach the minimum.
Last night about 10:45 the reaper whose name is Death again visited The Dalles and this time his sickle chose as its prey the ripened sheaf and from our midst was removed one of the pioneers, Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Cates, wife of John Cates. She was one of those dear old ladies whose presence in a community is always felt, though perhaps its influence is mostly transmitted through other lives which it has brightened. She will be sadly missed by her old-time friends and neighbors, who in the hour of affliction and need knew just where to find a good, true friend—one of those old fashioned kind, devoid of any modern affectation, but who in the fullness of her love was ever ready with a kind deed and word.
Her maiden name was Elizabeth Ann McCormick, and she was 81 years, 2 months and 17 days old at the time of her death. Her early life was spent in Wisconsin, where in 1836 she was married to George Frye Herbert, and with him came to Oregon in 1850, crossing the plains in the party of which Wm. Laughlin, father of B. F., was a member. They first settled in The Dalles, living at the garrison. Later they moved to Lane county, and from there came to 15-Mile in 1856. There Mr. Herbert died thirty-one years ago last February. She was a widow for five years and a half, when in August, 1873, she married John Cates. Together they moved to The Dalles in the following year, and have since dwelt in our midst.
To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were born eleven children, all of which died in early life except Mrs. Jane Sherar, wife of J. H. Sherar, and Geo. A. Herbert, who are still living. Several step children also mourn her loss.
Into her life came many sorrows intermingled with the joys; but for a number of years past she has lived a quiet, happy life with her husband, who will now find life extremely lonely. Ten days ago she experienced severe pain about the region of the heart, which, however, left her and she again resumed her little home duties until yesterday morning when she was again taken ill and continued to grow worse until the end came last night.
Her son, George, who is now at the Cornucopia mines, near Baker City, has been telegraphed for and will probably arrive tomorrow. Until that time no definite time can be set for the funeral.

Last Tribute to Edward Jenkins.

Last evening at 6 o'clock the friends of the late Edward Jenkins gathered at the home of his uncle, Simeon Bolton, to pay the last tribute to his memory, and listened intently to the words of Rev. Wood, who told of the life of the deceased—of his early teachings, which, although his parents had been called away while he was yet a child, had told on his life and borne fruitage to salvation as he neared the end of a comparatively short life. Of how he had become reconciled to death and, while suffering intensely has left messages for each one about his bedside and many friends in The Dalles, which were encouraging to those who now mourn. Mr. Wood chose as the basis of his remarks these words: "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."
The choir sang "Softly Now the Light of Day," "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Nearer My God to Thee," the last two of which he attempted to sing when on his death bed.
The pall bearers, Ned Gates, Forest and Ralph Fisher, Frank Wood, Arthur Stubling and Victor Schmidt, were chosen from among his most intimate friends and classmates.

Among the very many floral offerings was a large shield, bearing the class colors, white and gold, which was the gift of the alumni of The Dalles High school, he having graduated in 1896 from that institution.

As the sun sank behind the hill just back of Odd Fellows cemetery, he was carefully laid to rest beneath the waving pines of that beautiful burial ground.
