SAD DROWNING AT MT. HOOD.

Written in Memory of Cynthia Dimmick, Who was Drowned Last Saturday.

Never have the quiet and serenity of a community been more sorrowfully disturbed than was the case last Saturday in the peaceful and contented little settlement at Mt. Hood, when the report passed from home to home that Miss Cynthia Dimmick had been drowned. Useless though was doubt or hope, for with blanched cheek and tearful eye was the awful truth too soon confirmed.

That morning in company with her brother, George, and her niece, Lizzie Davis, she started across the river to Evans creek, intending to spend the day in fishing and berrying. Laughingly, she said good bye to friends, doubtless little thinking that never again should she see the dear old home. But alas! how limited is human prescience. In crossing the river on a foot-log, something she had done time and again, with perhaps no thought of danger, either by a sudden gliding or a slight misstep, she was thrown into the mad current below.

Manfully and bravely the brother strove to rescue her, struggling against the chilling and cruel waters with a determination and desperation born of a brother's love, while horrified and helpless the niece watched the fearful and unequal battle. Onward the two were borne by the surging current, until finding that the odds were too great, and that both would be lost, George thought to reach the bank and by removing his clothing to attempt the rescue to better

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of. There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaled mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhaled remedies. In fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous. Finally it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the surface. I then decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noted a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system, and a complete cure was the result. I advise all who have this dreadful disease to abandon their local treatment, which has never done them any good, and take S. S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it."

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.

advantage and with greater hope of success. But the current was too swift, and though he used every effort, he was unable to overtake the body and it soon passed from his view. He then ran about three-quarters of a mile to the Mt. Hood Mill Co.'s mill to secure assistance in finding the body and to give the alarm. Everyone turned out and joined in the search, and word was sent below to have the river watched at various points. Between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon the body was found lodged in a pile of drift at which the men had been working for some time, about a quarter of a mile below the scene of the awful accident. Carefully the form was removed and tenderly carried to the home from which she had departed so full of joy and animation in the morning.

The funeral sermon was preached at the McKamey cemetery, Monday at 11 o'clock, by Rev. Frank Spaulding, of Hood River, and Rev. Mr. Cooper. A large concourse of friends were in attendance, many being present from the lower valley.

This is the first death by drowning in the history of the settlement, and it has left sorrowing and sympathizing hearts in every home, where deceased was so well known and so highly respected.

Cynthia Elizabeth Dimmick was born in The Dalles, Or., April 4, 1888. About six months later the family moved to Mt. Hood, where she has grown to young womanhood. She was the youngest of ten children, six of whom are still living. One brother, Ziba, resides in Walla Walla, another, James, is in British Columbia. John L. and Joseph B. are with troop G, Fourth U. S. cavalry at Manila, or, as the family hope, enroute home with the Second Oregon, as they volunteered as recruits. The remaining brother, George W., and the sister, Mrs. Belle Coffinberry, are living at the old home at Mt. Hood, while the mother, Mrs. Ann Perkins, resides near them. Ziba was the only one living at a distance who was able to reach home in time for the burial.

Thus, suddenly and unexpectedly, Cynthia has been called from us. Why, we know not, but we submit to the will of the Allwise One. She will be missed, yes, most sorely, by relatives and friends. By her sunny disposition, and genial, frank manner she had won the affection and esteem of all. With a kind smile and a pleasant word on all occasions for every one, what wonder that there are aching hearts left behind; hearts that will cherish a memory of her for aye, and that will regret that her young life, so bright and full of promise should have terminated so suddenly and so tragically.
