WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

A good feed yard for sale or rent cheap. Inquire at Farmers' Feed Yard, The Dalles. 2411w-2

Thomas Gu'nean, who was for 20 many years proprietor of the Imperial hotel in Portland, has purchased the Grand hotel in Spokane and took possession yesterday.

If the exodus to seaside, vale and dell continue, The Dalles will be depopulated. This morning the Dalles City was loaded with passengers on their way to spend the warm weather at various resorts.

Two men, who bear the stereotyped names of Doe and Roe, were arrested last night for being hilariously drunk. The former paid his $2.50, but the latter's case has not as yet come up before the recorder.

At a recent wedding in Atchison, Kan., the Congregational minister of that city refused to perform the ceremony, though the bride was a member of his church, for the reason that she was a divorced woman.

From Denver comes a complaint against a too wise public imponder. The dog, catcher stands on a corner and loudly calls: "Here, Dowsy! here Dowsy!" and then gathers in the luckless tagless dogs that answer to their name.

The hay crop in the vicinity of Antelope will not be more than half a crop. In consequence stock men are already engaging hay at $10 per ton. The alfalfa crop will be splendid. It is the wheat and rye hay crop that is a failure.—Crook Co. Journal.

Prof. C. L. Gilbert was able to be driven to the court house yesterday afternoon, for the first time since his injury.

A gentleman who has just returned from a trip through Sherman and the northern part of Gilliam counties confirms the report concerning the damage to crops, and says he does not believe they will produce a half crop this season, being very badly burned.

The Bittner theatrical company, which so captured Dalles people on their visit here more than a year since, has just finished a seven-weeks engagement in Spokane, where they were very popular. They will return to that city on August 14, for another extended engagement. Theater goes in this city would be much pleased were they to again visit us, as they carry a first class company.

"It will be considered in place, though overlooked last week, for the Flag to congratulate its excellent, careful, conscientious foreman on his marriage to Miss Gertrude Ketchum, during his 4th of July vacation. We bespeak for this excellent young couple a happy voyage over life's stormy sea."—Fulton, Ken., Flag. The above undoubtedly refers to Mr. G. H. Wick formerly of this city, his many friends claiming the characteristics of the groom fit him so well, and they all join with the "Flag" in congratulations.

The cool weather the past few days have been a God send to the farmers of this valley and in a great measure has obliterated the danger which was supposed to have resulted from the hot winds of last week. Several prominent farmers from different sections of the county were in the city yesterday and brought encouraging reports of the condition of wheat. W. H. Babcock and C. F. Pickard of Eureka and O. N. Wheeler, who lives above Prescott, were in the city and say the crops are all right so far.—W. W. Union.

Every few days drunken Indians create a disturbance in and about the city, frighten women and children and furnish a job for the marshal and then occupy the city jail for a night or so. Last night another arrest of this sort was made, and as the old fellow had no "chickamun," he "served his time." While the previous method of arresting every one who was found selling liquors to Indians was perhaps calculated to induce officers to defraud the government, yet have we not gone to the other extreme in permitting such laxity in regard to the matter, and in not endeavoring to search out the guilty parties and put a stop to this wholesale traffic in "fire water?"

The amount of sickness in our city and the CHRONICLE's hint Saturday as to the water being the cause, has awakened interest in the matter and the question will be canvassed thoroughly in the immediate future. It is not a matter to be trifled with, for the health of the entire community is hanging on the decision to be made by our citizens regarding it. No place has a better opportunity to secure the purest, clearest water than The Dalles, and it is the height of folly to neglect it. With an expenditure of $15,000 a pipe can be laid, as far as the Wick's place, or beyond, escaping all the farms it now runs through and is used to irrigate. The water in the large reservoir is said to be better, being taken in at Mesplie's, but that of the small reservoir, which is received near the Bennett place, is the cause of the most disturbance. A meeting should be called at once and some action taken in the matter. No doubt every consumer is ready to do his share.

Death of George W. Young.

Yesterday on the afternoon train Geo. Moss, of Victoria, B. C., arrived in the city, bringing with him the body of George W. Young, who was killed last Friday on the Equimault & Nanaimo railroad.

Mr. Moss called at the CHRONICLE office this morning and gave the reporter the following particulars concerning his death:

For the past eight or nine years George has been a resident of Victoria and roomed at Mr. Moss' home. He was much respected by all, his kind-hearted nature and sociable manner winning him many friends. Particularly was he a friend of the children in his neighborhood, never passing them by without a smile and cherry word.

He has been employed by the Equimault & Nanaimo road for about six years, and at the time of his death was conductor on a branch road run by the Chemamus & Victoria Lumber Co., an eighteen-mile run to Chemamus. That day he was doing double work, as conductor and brakeman, and at 1 o'clock had stepped between two cars to couple them. No one saw the accident, but it is supposed a brakebeam struck him and threw him under the train. His left side was badly mashed and he died almost instantly, breathing but once after the men reached him.

The company deeply deplore the sad accident, as George had been a faithful employee and one who had won their esteem by his trustworthy character. The body was shipped Saturday night, and but for a delay in Tacoma would have reached here Sunday night.

Having spent his boyhood days and much of his life when quite a young man in this city, he has yet many friends here who sincerely regret his untimely death.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his brother, S. L. Young, on Sixth street, this evening at 6 o'clock. All friends of the deceased and of the family are invited to be present.

FIRE AT CASCADES.

The New Mill and Adjoining Buildings Destroyed—$10,000 Damages.

Word reached the city about 2 o'clock this afternoon that the fate of Cascade Locks was hanging in the balance; that a destructive fire was raging, and as the wind was high and there was no means of fighting it successfully, the entire town was liable to go.

The fire started from a pile of sawdust which is continually burning near the new Russell & Smith saw mill, and the mill was soon ablaze. Everyone fought it as if frantic, but in vain, the main building and all adjoining buildings used by the company were soon destroyed.

A high wind was blowing in the opposite direction from two large structures near by, and the only way to save the town was to secure them. Everything was removed from them, but as the wind kept in the same direction they were saved, and with them the little city.

Word was sent here to Sheriff Kelly, who authorized a deputy to take charge of goods carried out of buildings.

It looked very dubious for a time there and the residents began to fear their property was doomed.

The loss to the company is about $10,000. The conflagration is doubly unfortunate as the mill has been finished out a few months, and was first-class in every respect.

All of the books and valuable papers are said to have been saved.

OPINION OF ONE WHO KNOWS

What Secretary Wilson Thinks of Eastern Oregon.

Regarding his trip in Eastern Oregon last Friday, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson said among other things:

"I consider the ride up the Columbia to be the finest on earth. I have never seen its equal.

"Above the dalles I saw an orchard which proved to me that fruit will do wonders there. The only mistake made was in putting out varieties of trees whose fruit is designed for immediate consumption. If such an orchard was near a large city, it would be a money-maker instead of having its fruit wasting on the ground as now. The owner will change the variety of his trees and make the place a paying proposition. I consider the dried fruit industry of Eastern Oregon as one of great promise. I propose to buy and ship some dried fruit from the Columbia valley and send it to the Orient on trial, and publish full details of results, and will do the same with canned salmon.

"This is my first visit on the Pacific coast and I am thoroughly looking into your resources. The possibilities for this western country are simply wonderful. It is just budding into an immense trade with the Orient. I visited a steamer a few days ago at Tacoma being loaded for the East. There was cotton from Alabama, tobacco, Milwaukee beer, oleomargarine, machinery and many other products of this land. A few years ago the goods were shipped from west to the Atlantic, but now the tables have turned and the tide of trade has started westward for the Orient. There are great possibilities in the trade with China, Japan, the Philippines and other eastern lands. I am a firm believer in expansion—and I believe all you western people are of a like mind, at any rate you should be.

"In regard to your lumber trade, at the present rate of destruction to your timber in fifteen years you will be short. It is cause for alarm the great damage being done to your forests by fire, and at present I have a man in the field to investigate the matter of preserving the timbers of this state. The East is drawing on your soft woods, besides the Orient and your home consumption, and with all these markets, beside the great damage by fire, the splendid forests of this state will soon be depleted."

Coming Next Week.

The Dalles is to be congratulated upon the coming engagement of the Shaw Company, which will be seen at the Baldwin opera house for a week, commencing Monday, July 31st.

The company is one of the best known organizations of its kind in the West, having been playing on the coast for the past five seasons. And although they are strangers here now, it is safe to predict that their friends in The Dalles will be legion before the week is past. Their repertoire is composed of the latest up-to-date Eastern successes which are produced with that careful attention to detail, which cannot fail to bring forth a satisfactory result in the performances. Each play is cast with the idea to fit each part to the actor who has to portray it. Special scenery is carried for each piece. The costumes are elaborate, and, what is more to the point, they are correct.

The company's orchestra is one of the best organizations of its kind on the road—playing all classes of music from the heavy classes to the modern "Rag-time" melodies—thus touching in turn a responsive chord in every heart. Their band parade, concert and military is a feature of each day.
