AMERICA'S CROPS OF 1899.

The outlook for wheat and corn in the United States is better, on the whole, than was expected a few weeks ago, says the Globe-Democrat. Translated into quantity, the most recent report of the department of agriculture indicates a yield of about 560,000,000 bushels of wheat and of 2,121,000,000 bushels of corn. The figures for wheat agree with the estimates of most of the authorities, but those here cited for corn, and which are given on the basis of the computation made by the statistician of the New York Produce Exchange, are somewhat above those arrived at by other experts. The lowest estimate, however, does not bring the corn crop below the 2,000,000,000 line.

All this is highly encouraging to American farmers. The wheat yield, as here given, has never been exceeded in the United States except in 1891, when it was 612,000,000 bushels, and in 1898, when it was 675,000,000. The corn crop has gone above the 2,000,000,000 line in 1889, 1891, 1895 and 1896. The corn yield in all those years excited surprise. This year's crop may go up to the figures of any of those years except 1896, when the production was 2,383,875,165, as figured by the department of agriculture after the crop was gathered. The most optimistic estimates thus far made do not indicate a crop in 1899 quite up to the 1896 mark, but it may break the record for all the other years.

Foreign crop reports, as just outlined by the department of agriculture in Washington, make the situation peculiarly encouraging to the American farmer. Russia is the chief rival of the United States among Europe's exporters of wheat. Russia's wheat crop of 1899 will be from 85,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels short of the yield of 1898. This year Russia will have hardly enough wheat to supply its home needs, and will not export any of it. France's wheat crop will be slightly above the average, Prussia's and Austria's will be about at last year's figures, which were not flattering, while the crop in Italy and Spain will be below last year's mark. Taking Europe as a whole, the wheat crop will be considerably below that of 1898. This will enlarge the market for the United States' product. While the American consumer will probably not have to pay much more for his food than he did last year, the American farmer is sure of a market abroad for all his surplus.

In a year the net amount of gold in the treasury has increased from $189,000,000 to $246,000,000, and the country's supply of gold has gone up to $975,000,000, the largest held by one nation.

Dewey is reported to have said at Trieste: "I believe peace can be made with the insurgents long before the rainy season is over." This optimistic opinion may result in another round robin.

Grant was praised for his reticence about plans, but it seems from some later critics that a commanding general with this trait deserves to be summarily removed.

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy was kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack, much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.
