Altogether the reception was a great success, and the Dalles boys, as well as their visitors, were much pleased with the welcome they received in The Dalles. They will never forget it; nor will we, who consider this an occasion which will go down in the history of our

Somehow on every auspicious occasion and in everything of credit to our city, our tried and true friend, the Regulator line, figures conspiciously and never leaves us in the lurch. Therefore what more characteristic than that when the news reached us the boys were on their way home, the company should immediately send a dispatch offering them the hospitality of the boat and transportation up the river, with meals furnished. This they accepted gladly and so in the history of one of the greatest events in connection with our city. the good old Regulator will fill a prom-

Not contented with that, and deeming it a happy idea that as many of their company as could should accompany them up the river and receive a share in the welcome here, they extended them the same privileges and transportation back today, which was accepted by about twenty-five, and was transportation back today, which was accepted by about twenty-five, and was one of the most pleasing features of the occasion. All are extremely grateful to the D. P. & A. N. Co. for their more than generosity in this regard.

The gaily attire of the Regulator as she steamed into dock, laden with her precions burden, was belitting the occasion, and presented a charming picture to those who awaited her coming. She was "decked in flags and streamers gay in honor of reception day." All around her were flying the international naval code of signals, the banners which spoke for the welcome of the various sceneties of our city, and our own "Glory" towering over all. Inside was also draped the colors of our country entwined about pictures of the battleships, our heroes and scenes from the field of conflict. Not only did the boat itself speak eloquently of our greeting, but on board her were those who in every way possible showed that their welcome was generous and the trip was one of gladness from the time they were met until they landed here. And as every small station was reached the residents and those who were camping near thronged to the beach and made all sorts of demonstration, firing off fire crackers, revolvers and everything available. In one isolated spot a patriotic old gentleman appeared on the bluff, holding in his hand a long pole with a flag on the end, which
