Said the St. Louis Globe-Democrat a few days ago: An enthusiastic welcome has greeted the Pennsylvania regiment, just returned from the Philippines, as it paraded through the streets of San Francisco. "The Pennsylvanians are a sturdy-looking lot," says a dispatch, and "their spick and span appearance commanded great attention." Three volunteer regiments from Manila have reached San Francisco to be mustered out. The Oregon regiment brought back over 1000 men. The Nebraskans report a total loss of sixty-two men. The Pennsylvanians lost an aggregate of only twenty-four men. Here are three regiments which after a year's service, largely on the firing line in Luzon and in the trenches, return to their homes with a combined mortality of 130. All saw more or less hard fighting and marching. It was the Pennsylvanians who stood the brunt of a Spanish night sortie during a storm. The Nebraskans and Oregonians were in the thick of the engagements reaching from Manila to Malolos and San Fernando, and passed through several ugly ambuscades. But they are back home looking well and with ranks but little reduced when comparison is made with former wars. In the face of figures so significant it is useless to say that these regiments have not been intelligently handled and well cared for. They are healthy, make a fine appearance on parade and their mortality list is small. They have worked steadily, fought bravely and seen some hardships, but all this is in the line of a soldier's duty. Those who do not count upon such an experience should not enter the service. Many a regiment in the civil war returned with less than 200 men. The regular army in that struggle was literally shot out of existence. When the yellow interviewers circulate in these returning regiments to collect material to effect the removal of Otis and back up the claim that the war is a failure, the men in the ranks might well point to their long line to show how well Otis has guarded their comfort and health, secured them the vantage ground in fighting and preserved them from disaster. These regiments are not in the shape that bespeaks an incompetent general.

For the first time in the memory of its inhabitants, Cienfuegos has passed through July without a case of yellow fever. Now that the fever is stamped out in Santiago, the health of Cuba is remarkably good for the season.

The visitors to a Colorado watering place, who were obliged to submit to a wholesale vaccination, are praying fervently "for the success of our arms."

Those who are insisting that Col. Roosevelt will not last until 1904 ought to consult some of the Spaniards in Cuba on the subject of the colonel's staying qualities.

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy was kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack, much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure thoroughly digests food without aid from the stomach and at the same time heals and restores the diseased digestive organs. It is the only remedy that does both of these things and can be relied upon to permanently cure dyspepsia. Butler Drug Co.

One Minute Cough Cure quickly cures obstinate summer coughs and colds. "I consider it a most wonderful medicine, quick and safe."—W. W. Merton, Mayhew, Wis. Butler Drug Co.
