GOOD PRICES FOR WHEAT.

If the rains do not interfere harvest in the Inland Empire this year will yield within twenty per cent of the total of last year. The Spokesman-Review says: If conditions do not change, spring sown wheat may be depended upon to even increase the estimated yield. The farmer naturally begins to figure upon the sale of his wheat as soon as he is assured that the growth on his fields will be transferred to the warehouse. At this time the outlook for a good price is glowing. Crops in Russia and Roumania are not promising, while in India rains are needed to bring the yield of that section up to the average. Argentina may have a better yield than for several years past, but that crop is contingent upon weather which is even more uncertain than in the Pacific northwest. California has had a poor year again, while the Mississippi and Missouri valley grain sections, excepting in Kansas and Nebraska, promise a crop far below the average.

Fifty cent wheat is therefore a probability when all the Inland Empire wheat has been sacked, and at 50 cents the grain grower makes a splendid profit. If he holds his wheat for better prices it is a gamble and he may come out loser. Last year's crop averaged a little more than 50 cents, but thousands of bushels were sold at less than 50 cents, and some of last year's crop is still in the warehouses.

While it may be somewhat presumptuous to advise the wheat grower when to sell and at what price, experience has proven that the farmer who accepts a fair offer makes more in the long run than the one who expects to sell at the top notch.

The Oregon Press Association is to hold its annual meeting at Astoria this week. It is stated that a resolution is to be presented asking for the appointment of a committee to draft a bill, to be introduced in the next legislature, requiring a man to pass an examination before being permitted to engage in the publication of a newspaper in Oregon, says the East Oregonian. Of course, if the measure becomes a law it is not to effect those already engaged in the newspaper business in the state. This effort is on a level with the legislation that has been secured in the interests of the other "professions," the law, medicine, barbering and blacksmithing. It is special legislation in its worst form and unworthy of the support of intelligent and self-supporting men. It would have the law declare what constitutes a newspaper man, not allowing this to be determined by the character of his work, nor by the intelligence of those who are in the habit of supporting newspapers. It interferes with personal rights. Those who advocate it are on a par with the boy artist who, after drawing something that looked like a horse, wrote under the sketch, so no mistake could be made, "This is a Horse." And so there are newspaper men in Oregon who would have the law declare "This is a newspaper man." When newspaper men are deficient in ability nothing the law can do can "save" them, while those who are efficient are not in need of any protection such a measure can give them. Why not have a law passed declaring that all newspaper men should take a bath and change their clothes at least once a week? Doubtless such a law would do more good for the "profession than the one proposed. At least it would be more sensible.
