WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The business meeting announced to be held by the Epworth League tonight has been postponed.

Four young ladies can secure employment at packing plants by applying to E. Kurtz at the Pacific Express office.

Yesterday afternoon J. M. Reeder, one of Antelope's most prominent sheepmen, obtained a marriage license from County Clerk Kelsey to wed Miss H. L. Stocker, also of Antelope.

The largest and most complete line of fall and winter millinery arriving daily, at the Campbell & Wilson millinery parlors. The early fall novelties in street hats are now in.

At the request of Rev. J. H. Wood, of the Methodist church, Rev. Poling has consented to fill the pulpit of that church Sunday evening, there being no evening service in the Congregational church.

Mrs. Briggs and children left Arlington for Chehalis on Wednesday's train. Mr. Briggs is to follow them soon and will take charge of the leading dry goods store at that place. Master Ted Briggs is visiting friends in Portland.—Condon Globe.

As we notice a few drops of rain falling as we go to press, we were inclined to consult the weather report and find that Pague says, "Probably occasional showers for tonight and tomorrow." We will just add they are anything but welcome.

The Churchman published at Denver says: "The Dean has returned from Grand Lake and expects to be here the rest of the summer. He has been kindly assisted by the Rev. Joseph DeForest, who has a parish in Oregon and is here to spend August with his family."

In conversation with a number of visitors from different sections of the county today, we learn that aside from a slight bleaching to some of the grain there has been really no injury done by the recent rains. This is good news. Much better than we dared expect.

The Dalles had a distinguished visitor last evening in the person of Hon. Geo. H. Williams, who was on his way to Pendleton where he has some important legal matters to attend to. He made the trip up from Portland on the boat and remained over until the night train. Judge Williams is always a welcome visitor in The Dalles, where he has many friends.

The little steamer Flyer, which has taken the place of the Regulator while she is disabled, is acquiring herself in a splendid manner and she will yet show what she is made of. Yesterday she brought up over four ton of freight, and each day is well loaded with passengers. The Regulator will be ready to make her usual trips by Wednesday at least.

Goldendale and Hood River are determined to have a sufficient number of newspapers. There is scarcely field for one paper at the former place, and yet they already have two, and will have another by the end of October, the new one to be an agricultural journal. The Hood River Glacier is a neat, newsy little sheet, but what in the world does a place the size of Hood River need of two newspapers?

Yesterday afternoon when B. F. Brewster, the veterinary surgeon, was about to administer a dose of medicine to a sick horse which had just been brought in from the country to Wilson's stable, in the East End, the animal objected and kicked him in the left arm. The arm was broken a few inches below the shoulder, and he was thrown against a stall near by, injuring his left side, from which he is suffering much today. Dr. Geisendorfer reduced the fracture and rendered other necessary services.

Last night at the Methodist church, Rev. N. Evans, pastor of the Goldendale M. E. church, who has just returned from the National Epworth League convention held at Indianapolis, gave a very interesting address on the work of the convention, which was especially enjoyed by the League members. For an hour or more he held the attention of his audience and all were disappointed when he ceased speaking, so enraptured were they by the manner of his address and the ideas he gave them of the good work which is being done by the League throughout the United States.

H. J. Hibbard tells us that a black bear, about half grown, called at his house Monday. Bruin at first went to the front door, but finding it closed, started around to the back door where he met Mr. Hibbard coming out to see who had called. Mr. Hibbard called to his wife to come and see the bear, but it was some little time before she got to the door; the bear in the meantime looking at Mr. Hibbard as if he was listening to the conversation. Before Mr. Hibbard could procure a gun his visitor left, going over the hill in the direction of Jos. A. Wilson's place.—Glacier.

Since the first of May the Lockiamute Mill Company, of The Dalles, has sent out over a million feet of lumber, and about 250,000 shingles, and still have to keep their planes and saws humming to meet the demand. So says the Telegram, again confusing Dallas with The Dalles. But the Telegram reporter is not the only one who insists on making the same error. Few, perhaps, knew that a recruiting station for the Thirty-fifth infantry wouldn't have been opened here had not the same mistake been made. Lieutenant Lewis was greatly annoyed while here because his mail, containing necessary documents and money, was not received, and upon investigation found they were sent to Dallas, where it was intended he should go; but the names were mixed and he came here. Why don't they change the name of Dallas to Dewey or anything except what it is.

There is more than one way of beating the nickle-in-the-slot machine, and if their owners don't "look a little out" the man with an inventive faculty will be making the rounds of The Dalles ere long. He visited Astoria recently and in several places emptied the coffers completely, and in others he exercised moderate discretion and left a few sequestered nickles to indicate that the machine was still in condition for bar room patronage. As nearly as his method can be determined it was found that he carries a gimlet, and affecting drunkenness, leans against the machine and perforates the casing. He then inserts a small wire, and applying it to certain parts of the mechanism causes a deluge of nickles to fall out regardless of any color he sees fit to play. He was amazingly successful until the chief of police discovered him and arrested him. He, however, was released and left the town, so that it behooves other cities to be on the lookout for him.

THE COUNTY INSTITUTE

Will Be Held in The Dalles Next Month—A Splendid Program.

Supt. Gilbert is now busily engaged in arranging for the teachers' institute to be held in the High school building here on Sept 7th, 8th and 9th. The CHRONICLE has just gotten out a very neat little program, which will be sent to each teacher in the county. Judging from the program the sessions are to be exceptionally interesting, not only to teachers, but all in sympathy with school work.

The evening sessions include recitations, speeches, orations and music, the latter to be under the direct supervision of City Supt. J. S. Landers. The entire program will be published later.

A committee on entertainment has been appointed as follows: Minnie U. Michell, chairman; Louise Rintoul, Maggie Flinn, Salina Phirman, Etta Wrenn, Ellen D. Baldwin, Emma Roberts, Katie Roche, Ellen Cooper.

A social luncheon will be served in the Academy Park at noon Saturday, the 9th, for those in attendance at the institute.

The Oregon school law has a section which reads thusly: "The county superintendent shall hold annually a teachers' county institute, for a term of not less than three days, for the instruction of teachers and those desiring to teach; and all teachers in the public schools of his county shall be required to attend, and the county superintendent may at his discretion revoke the certificate, reduce the grade, or refuse to grant a certificate to any teacher who refuses to attend the county institute without cause."

The occasions for enforcing the penalty for non-attendance at these institutes are almost unknown, so interesting and instructive have these meetings become. An arrangement has also been made whereby teachers in attendance, whose schools are in session, are entitled to wages for the school days missed.

The End Came This Morning.

As was seen to be inevitable by all who knew the serious nature of Richard Elton's condition, his death occurred at 7 o'clock this morning at the Union street lodging house, where he was taken when brought in from his home in the country.

Although in recent years an operation for appendicitis is not considered so serious and fatal a nature as formerly, where peritonitis has developed a patient rarely survives, and are always considered hopeless. Such was the case of the deceased, although he seemed to experience no excruciating pain until Sunday evening, having apparently been in perfect health until that time. When he was told by the physician that his trouble was appendicitis he seemed to be anxious that an operation be performed, and neither the physicians, the patient, nor the family feared any fatal results until they discovered that they had to deal with peritonitis, and from that time on they hoped against hope, and the end came this morning.

Richard Franklin Elton was born in The Dalles fourteen years ago the 20th of last July, and spent his short life in the city and at their home four miles out. He was a bright boy and bid fair to become a good, reliable man. Being the youngest son, he was naturally a favorite and is greatly mourned by his father, mother, three brothers and four sisters.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the Christian church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Smith, of Dufur, will officiate assisted by Rev. Rushing.

Friends are invited to be present.

Public Announcement.

To my friends and former patrons: I take pleasure in announcing that I have arrived safe and sound from Manila, and have again entered civilian life, and can hereafter be found in business with my brother, D. S. Dufur, at the same old stand, where I will be pleased to meet any of my friends either for a social chat or business proposition of any kind. Comrades and old Vets. welcome.

Yo caro mucho trabajer,
GEORGE H. DUFUR.

PEOPLE YOU ALL KNOW.

R. N. Woodworth, of Wasco, is in the city.

J. E. Williams came down from Moro yesterday.

R. J. Gorman went down on the boat this morning to Hood River.

F. B. Sommerville came in from Hay Creek on the stage this morning.

Grant Mays left on yesterday afternoon's train for a short trip to Portland.

Mrs. O. J. Lewis and Mrs. R. G. Davenport returned last night from their trip to Portland.

Rev. and Mrs. N. Evans came over from their home at Goldendale yesterday, returning today.

Robt. Bolton and sister, Miss Isabel Bolton, came up last night from a trip to Portland, and left this morning for Goldendale.

Miss Sarah Henderson will leave on the afternoon train to spend the remainder of her vacation with the Misses Ricks at Bonneville.

H. C. Nielsen left this morning for Nahaletta, Long Beach, where his family are spending the summer. They will probably return with him. During his absence Harry Fredden has charge of his store.

Judd S. Fish, proprietor of the Umattilla House, Frank Fulton, B. F. Laughlin, J. C. Hostettler and Edward C. Pease, all prominent business men of The Dalles, arrived in the city yesterday and left on the evening S. V. Ry for Robinsonville district, where they are interested in several mine properties with Jack Cradlebaugh, formerly editor of The Dalles CHRONICLE, who has been developing these mines for a year past.—Baker City Democrat.

The party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Geisendorfer and Miss Henderson returned last night from their trip to Cloud Cap Inn. Although being compelled to make a hurried trip, spending but a day at the Inn, they were delighted with the surroundings and the beautiful view obtained. On account of the high wind that was blowing on the mountain the guide thought it not advisable to attempt the summit, and the party only climbed to Cooper's Spur.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or awakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs, made by California Fig Syrup Co.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure thoroughly digests food without aid from the stomach and at the same time heals and restores the diseased digestive organs. It is the only remedy that does both of these things and can be relied upon to permanently cure dyspepsia. Butler Drug Co.

"Our baby was sick for a month with severe cough and catarrhal fever. Although we tried many remedies she kept getting worse, until we used One Minute Cough Cure,—it relieved at once and cured her in a few days." B. L. Nance, Co.
