JAMES B. EUSTIS.

James B. Eustis, who died Saturday, was a man of more than average ability and his career was on the whole a distinguished one. He was southern born, but attended the Harvard law school at Cambridge and after his graduation began practice in New Orleans. His public life was ever afterward as a servant of the state of Louisiana until his appointment to the embassy at Paris. He served in the confederate army, for the greater part of the time on the staff of General Joseph Johnston.

After the war Mr. Eustis resumed the practice of law and became a prominent political figure in his state. He was a member of the legislature during reconstruction and was one of the committee sent to Washington to confer with President Johnson in regard to the vexed problems arising out of reconstruction. He also served in the state senate and in 1876 was elected to the United States senate. He was not seated till 1877 and served only two years. In 1884, however, he was elected for and served a full term. For the greater part of his senatorial career he was a prominent member of the committee of foreign affairs.

While in the senate Mr. Eustis was not in cordial sympathy with Mr. Cleveland during the latter's first term. The senator from Louisiana did not approve of the president's civil service ideas, and while he was in the senate he could hardly be called a supporter of the executive. Later on they were drawn together and one of Mr. Cleveland's first appointments after his second inauguration was that of Mr. Eustis as our representative to France. He was well fitted for the place. He had education, culture, a knowledge of French language and literature and abundant private means. He made a record abroad, although some of his addresses and interviews were criticised, and returned to this country leaving a highly honored name among the French people. On the whole Mr. Eustis was one of the ablest, most scholarly and best equipped men for public life that the South has produced in late years.—Spokesman-Review.

Chaplain Mailley of the First Nebraska is a Populist, but comes out red hot for expansion and the soldiers who returned from the Philippines with him applauded him when he spoke for that policy last Sunday. He did this in Lincoln, Mr. Bryan's home, and if the latter doesn't wish the enthusiasm to spread he will have to hurry home at once.

Irving M. Scott landed in San Francisco with $5 in his pocket, says the Spokesman-Review. He is now one of the largest shipbuilders in the world and able to turn out such craft as the Oregon and Olympia. How is it that Scott could have done all this if he is chained down by what some are prone to call wage slavery?

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised 'Electric Bitters'; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve

More Flies Are Caught

with molasses than vinegar, is an old saying, but

Tanglefoot Fly Paper catches more than either. No insect can resist its attraction and once within its power the tormenting possibilities of that insect are over.

A Beautiful Skin.

Ladies, if you desire a transparent, clear and fresh complexion use Dr. Bourdon's French Arsenic Complexion Wafers. Their effect is simply magical, possessing the wizard touch in protecting and preserving a beautiful transparency and pellucid clearness of complexion, simply colour of form, brilliant eyes, soft and smooth skin where the reverse exists. Even the coarsest and most repulsive skin, marred by freckles, moths, blackheads, pimples, vulgar eruptions, yellow and muddy skin are permanently removed, and a deliciously clear and refined complexion assured.
