WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Feed rye for sale at the Wasco Warehouse.

Some people keep the Sabbath so holy that they don't work any for three days before or three days after.

After a vacation of seven weeks the Eks will have a regular meeting tonight, at which all members are requested to be present.

John Mouldrick, a prominent pioneer settler of Grant county, who had mined there for forty years, died in Canyon City Thursday morning. He was a 32d degree Mason.

The surveyors for the extension of the Columbia Southern forty-six miles further south, claim they have found easy grades over most of the route, and work will begin in a few days.

Rev. J. H. Wood will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church tomorrow morning, and in the evening Rev. Hoskins, recently appointed to the charge at Moro from Prineville, will speak.

Work was begun yesterday on the new laundry and already the foundation is laid and also the floor joist. Mr. MacAllister expects to have everything in working order inside of two weeks.

Capt. Tom Hibbit, late of Los Angeles, Cal., with Lieut. Jasper, of La Grande, would be glad to welcome the people of The Dalles to one and all of the meetings held in the Salvation Army hall.

Chas. Butler has purchased six carloads of cattle from Prineville stockmen, among whom are Messrs Cram, Lyle and Deaham. They are in the Saltmarsh yards today and will be shipped to Port Townsend tonight.

C. E. Miller, of Pease & Mays' dry goods department, is not in his accustomed place today, but confined home by sickness. Mrs. Miller and both children have also been ill, so that they're home has been a veritable hospital.

Paul Mohr is expected to arrive in the city in a few days, and it is to be hoped that every effort will be made by our citizens toward the bridging of the river at the narrows and to induce the company to make The Dalles the terminus.

The thirty-ninth exhibition of the Oregon state fair opened last evening at 6 o'clock at the fair grounds at Salem. The exercises consisted of a band concert by Parson's orchestra. No better weather could be asked, and it bids fair to be a decided success.

The body of a woman which was found in the river at Shogren's landing, near Arlington recently, has proven to be that of Clara French, alias Violet Johnson, who before entering upon the downward course which ended in suicide, lived in Jefferson, Or., and was from a respectable family, who are now heart broken over the tragic ending of such a mistaken life.

A change has been made in the "hello girls" at the Oregon telephone office. Miss Josie Jenkins, who was night operator, has resigned her position, which is now filled by Miss Minnie Bartell. The day force consists of Misses Cora Joles, Maie Elton and Martha Schooling.

They say some real estate agents are so enterprising that if they go to sheel when they die, they will cut the place up into town lots, get up a boom and then unload on poor mortals who are enticed there by statements that they will never have to pay any coal bills.

A drunken man by the name of Humphrey, who was arrested yesterday afternoon, had a notion of causing the marshal a great deal of trouble by resisting arrest. There were razors flying in the air for a time, but it doesn't take a great while to conquer a drunken man, and he was soon "landed."

Judge Wm. Calks, of Portland, grand chancellor of Oregon for the K. of P., will be in The Dalles Monday evening and pay an official visit to Friendship lodge. After a short session, a reception will be tendered to the distinguished visitor, and all Knights and their families and also the Rathbone Sisters are invited to be present.

Opening of the fall and winter millinery at the Campbell & Wilson Millinery Parlors from Tuesday to Saturday inclusive, Sept. 19th to 25th, '99. On this occasion will be shown the most stylish and complete line of millinery ever displayed in The Dalles. Good values in street hats, dress hats, children's school hats, also baby bonnets.

It is surprising the number of letters of inquiry which are being received all over the state from Eastern people who desire to make their homes here. Postmaster Riddell is constantly receiving such communications and tells us he has so far answered each one, although it has taken quite a little work. Oregon's fame is fast spreading and the state rapidly being filled with those who no doubt come with the idea of not only "growing up," but keeping up with the live spirit of the West.

There is an over-abundance of melons in the market this season, due perhaps to the light demand for them this summer. While the shipment is large, it does not equal that of other years, which is accounted for from the fact that the cool weather is not conducive to a taste for this fruit. While in former years our merchants paid from $1 to $1.50 a dozen, this year the prices range from forty cents to $1.25. The flavor is not so good, either, for a great deal of sunshine is necessary if the best melons are produced.

There is one crop in Oregon this year which seems to have been anything but a failure, and that is the fly crop, particularly those which choose the horse as their victim. Somehow that nuisance seems to be worse than ever, and the poor animals are annoyed almost to death, fairly switching their tails off in the endeavor to get rid of them. As this is the case it would be well for farmers and others, who keep their horses standing for so long hitched to some town post, to consider the comfort of these poor beasts.

Through the efforts of the Arlington Warehouse Company, arrangements have been made to receive all the wheat grown on the Washington side of the river. They will have platforms and scales and sufficient men to unload and receipt for the wheat the same as if it were delivered in Arlington, thus enabling farmers to return home without delay. They have also leased the warehouse of Balfour, Guthrie Company and will operate both as one to the interests of the wheat growers. This arrangement will be very beneficial to Arlington.

The city health department estimates that there have been over five hundred persons vaccinated in Pendleton during the present week. Of these, the proportion of children to older persons is about ten to one. All the physicians have been busy, although just now the rush is all over, and only comparatively a few come into the offices to have the operations performed. There is only one case of smallpox, contrary to a report that appears to have become current. That is the man taken to the pest house a week ago, and in charge of an immune nurse, George Hayes. He was somewhat worse today, but is having good care, and will receive it as long as he is ill.—E. O.

A mammoth wheat farm for sale. An opportunity for some one so great that it seems hardly true; 800 acres of deeded land, all well fenced. This farm has about 1000 acres of range adjoining it; water in abundance, a lot of springs and a creek runs through it. It is one and one-fourth miles from Biggs station, on the O. R. & N. Co. Railroad and the Columbia Southern Railroad, and is situated in the greatest wheat raising region of Oregon. A four-room house, three big barns and all other necessary out buildings, twenty-five head of cattle, ten or twelve horses, plows, rakes, reapers, mowers and all other farm implements required to run a great wheat farm, go with the place; a complete outfit. Anyone can raise thousands of bushels of wheat on this place. Owner refused $10,000 for the place five years ago; is now selling it because he is too old to run it. Price $8,000, terms very easy. Further information furnished. Any one looking for a great opportunity is implored not to let this offer go unheeded. See Old Dad Butts.

DANCE A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Hook and Ladder Boys Know How to Get Up a Party.

On all sides last night was heard expressions of surprise that the Hook and Ladder boys had been so successful in the crowd which attended the dance. Many had expected that no matter what care was exercised in the sale of tickets, it would be next to impossible to obtain a desirable crowd; but although the hall was crowded, had invitations been sent out the attendance would have been about the same, and the boys are delighted with the success of the party in every particular.

The floor was in poor condition at first, but soon became smoother, making dancing much pleasanter. Birgfeld's orchestra furnished the usual good music, and in several instances the continued applause compelled them to give encores. Dancing ceased at 1 o'clock, and it is safe to say everyone felt satisfied at the enjoyable time they had spent.

Anniversary Services at Congregational Church.

Tomorrow will be a busy day for this church and congregation. The services will be commemorative of the organization of the church and Sunday school of forty years ago. Appropriate services were observed on the twenty-fifth anniversary. Rev. D. B. Gray, who was pastor at that time, preached the anniversary sermon. He will be present tomorrow and perform a like service at 11 a. m.

The exercises for the anniversary of the Sunday school will be conducted at 12:15. Members of the "Old Guard" of 1859 will assist in this service. A memorial and communion service will be held at 4 p. m. At 7:30 o'clock the historical service of the day will be conducted. Mr. S. L. Brooks historian.

All the services will be interspersed with appropriate music, and the public are cordially invited to be present.

Believe Frank McDaniel Guilty.

The case of Frank McDaniel, charged with murdering Clara Fitch in Portland, will not go to the grand jury until the last of the month. There seems to be no doubt in District Attorney Sewall's mind that a true bill will be found. It is rumored that some strong evidence has been "rusted up" within the past few weeks. Just what that is, no one who is in position to know cares to say.

Regarding the curiosity still displayed by the people, the Telegram says: "Although it is over two months since Clara Fitch was assassinated in Cycle Park, still there are many people whose morbid curiosity has not been satisfied, and the number of persons who visit the scene of the tragedy daily has scarcely abated. Every Sunday people can be seen looking at the park and hunting for the place where the young girl met her fate. Just what satisfaction can be derived by gazing at the spot where the murder has been committed is a matter as deeply a mystery as the crime itself. One man says that he has seen at least a dozen young girls in Cycle Park who go there for no other purpose than to view the place on account of the history connected with it. Some of these girls live on the West Side."
