WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Everybody is invited to attend a watermelon party at the Christian church tonight, where you will be filled cipek full of watermelon for 10 cents.

The Sherman county Observer gives us some first class advice concerning the project of bridging the river for the portage road. We publish it on the editorial page. Read it.

This evening a reception will be given to Rev. J. H. Wood by the members of the Epworth League in the audience room of the church. All members of the church and congregation and friends of the league are invited to be present.

August Krantz has leased the Independence West Side, for one year, and with Horace Burnett, formerly of Eugene, will conduct that paper during that time. E. C. Pentland, owner of the West Side, will publish the News at Dalles.

There is but slight improvement in the run of fall salmon. The traps are doing fairly well and catch nearly all the salmon delivered at the canneries. Fishermen do not look for increased catches until about the 25th instant.—Astorian.

The Butler Drug Co. have just received a new stock of wall paper and in order to make room for it, they are offering paper of all grades at prices that will surprise you. Call and examine their stock.

Still the matrimonial market is lively and marriages are taking place daily. Today a license was granted to Emma Jacobsen and Chas. Nelson, and Chas. Green and Anna Carrey, the latter couple from Kingsley.

C. L. Phillips, county treasurer, has made another warrant call including all registered prior to January 1, 1896, being called closer than heretofore, and he is desirous that those holding same will present them and get their money.

Yesterday was a lively day for the Regulator. Saturday evening at 8 o'clock she left for Lyle with a load of sheep and made two trips that night. Yesterday she also made two trips to Cook's Landing with sheep. They are Ketchum and Mays' flocks.

Judge Calk, grand chancellor of the K. of P. of Oregon, arrived in the city this morning, and will visit Friendship lodge tonight. At the close of the regular lodge, a reception will be given him and all members and their families, Rathbone Sisters and visiting members are invited to be present.

Opening of the fall and winter millinery at the Catapbell & Wilson Millinery Parlors from Tuesday to Saturday inclusive, Sept. 19th to 25th, '99. On this occasion will be shown the most stylish and complete line of millinery ever displayed in The Dalles. Good values in street hats, dress hats, children's school hats, also baby bonnets.

We are informed that Deacon Caleb Brooks has been very ill of inflammation of the stomach and kidneys for the past two weeks, at his home seven miles from the city. Mr. Brooks is now 76 years of age, and it is therefore feared he will not survive such an illness, although he was somewhat improved yesterday.

Last Saturday John Quirk, an old settler on lower 15-Mile, died at his home place of paralysis, after a week's illness. He leaves a wife and four small children. The funeral took place at Dafur yesterday. He was about 45 years of age and was well known in that vicinity and by many in The Dalles with whom he had business dealings.

Many have expressed a desire to hear from our boys regarding life in the Philippines and their experiences in battle. They are soon to have an opportunity, as Earl Sanders is making arrangements to deliver a lecture on the 27th. The place where it will be given has not been decided upon, but will be given later. An admission of 25 cents will be charged, and 15 cents to children.

If ever there was a class of people who have an eye to business it is the patent medicine companies, who are certainly "up to snuff" as the saying is. It takes a person with a hardy constitution and strong nerves to even go through the ordeal of reading some of their ads, which would make well people turn sick. For instance the new ad. for "Celery's Compound" a nerve medicine, is harrowing in the extreme, and calculated to give all who peruse it ingrowing nerves.

Tomorrow the fall and winter millinery opening will commence at Mrs. Phillips' millinery parlors and continue for a few days. She has on hand the best line of pattern hats ever displayed here, having had a large number trimmed in San Francisco. Also a complete line of hats of every description which will be trimmed to order; all styles in fall millinery, street and dress hats, children's hats and baby bonnets. Call and see for yourselves, as all are invited to inspect her goods. 18-3t

Judge Mays this morning received a telegram from Supt. Paine, of the insane asylum, announcing the death of John Stocking, who was committed to that institution some months ago from this place. Many will remember him as the old gentleman who conceived the idea of building a hotel on Third street and commenced the structure out of old tin cans. He was in poor health when committed and it was not thought he could live long. He came here from Sherman county, and not knowing of any relatives, Judge Mays answered the inquiry regarding the disposition of the body by telling them to bury him at Salem.

The Methodist congregation was delighted to again have Rev. Wood occupy the pulpit yesterday morning. Having preached his farewell sermon previously and received his appointment elsewhere, he informed his congregation that had he desired to censure them, now would seem to be the acceptable time; but in his heart was only the kindest feelings, which would ever remain. He preached a splendid sermon, which only intensified the regret of his members at parting with such an able and beloved pastor. Rev. Hoskins, who is to be stationed at Moro, occupied the pulpit on the evening.

A few days since word was received that two soldiers of the regular army had been sentenced to be hanged on the Philippine Islands for assaults on native women. That Gen. Otis had recommended the execution. One of them was Geo. B. Dampfhorffer, son of a prominent brewer at Vancouver, and well known there. He enlisted in the Sixteenth regulars; served in the Cuban campaign and his regiment was afterward sent to Manila. His father has petitioned Senator Foster, who is now at Washington, and Senator Simon to endeavor to have the sentenced commuted, either to a life sentence or to interpose as much as possible in his behalf. They have signified their intention of so doing.

If any one has an idea that advertising in the CHRONICLE does not pay, and that its columns are not read outside of the state, we would refer them to Dad Butts, who is constantly receiving letters of inquiry from different states concerning his real estate ads. This morning he received a letter from a man in Essex, Iowa, concerning a farm he has for sale. This is still another proof of the interest Eastern people are taking in Oregon. We are also reminded that every column in the paper is perused when a slight error occurs in a reading notice or in an ad—then every reader is sure to see it. So if you wish to let people all over the United States know you live in America, just tell them so through the columns of the CHRONICLE.

The children were very successful in their entertainment given for the monument fund at the home of Genevieve Fish Saturday afternoon. The parlors were well filled and Mrs. Fish was compelled to borrow chairs from the neighbors that all might be comfortable. Every child did his or her part well, and the cake walk, in which all participated was "too cute for anything." Most of the little ones had a good deal to say about how their costumes were arranged and they were all right. As a result of their efforts $11 will be added to the fund, much more than has been raised by any like entertainment in Portland. The children are very proud, and little Harold Fish informed a friend that they were to furnish the money to build the entire monument which would be as tall as the Catholic church steeple, he thought, and have an eagle on the top.

Man's life is full of crosses and temptation. He comes into this world without his consent and goes out against his will, and his trip between the new sternities is exceedingly rocky. The rules of contrariness abide with him during his trip. When he is little the grown girls kiss him and when he is grown the little girls kiss him. If he raises a check he is a thief and a fraud and is avoided like a Dago with the seven-year itch. If he is poor he is a bad manager; if he is rich he is dishonest; if he is in politics it's for pie; if he is out of politics you do not know where to place him and he is no good to his country; if he does an act of charity it is for policy; if he won't give to charity he is a stingy cuss and lives only for himself; if he dies young there was a great future ahead of him; if he lives to a good old age he has missed his calling. He is introduced to this world by a doctor and to the next by a funeral director.

Nelson-Jacobsen Wedding.

At 12:30 o'clock today at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Lauretson, on the hill, Miss Emma Jacobsen and Mr. Chas. Nelson were united in marriage by Rev. Poling, John Jacobsen and Miss Cora Hansen acting as best man and bridesmaid.

Only the closest friends of the contracting parties were present. The rooms had been very prettily decorated and the ceremony was performed beneath a floral wedding bell of white. The bride was gowned in white swiss and carried a large bunch of La France roses, the gift of her friend, Mrs. Chas. Stabling.

At the close of the ceremony when congratulations had been given, one of the most generous and palatable of wedding dinners was served, while the best of good will prevailed.

Miss Jacobsen has spent the most of her life in The Dalles and is known to be a most worthy young lady, who will no doubt make a model wife; while Mr. Nelson is a young man of whom everyone speaks well, having by his industry and worth made for himself many friends. He is now mate on the steamer Regulator and enjoys the implicit confidence of his employees.

The young couple left on the afternoon train for Portland on a wedding trip, carrying with them the good wishes of their friends.

DAY OF GREAT REJOICING

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The Day Spent Most Pleasantly in Recalling the Past and Rejoicing in Present Prosperity.

"How amiable are Thy tabernacles, O Lord of Hosts," was the sentiment of the members of the Congregational church and their friends yesterday as they celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the church and Sunday school at The Dalles. It was a pleasant day to all as they recalled events that had happened during the years which had passed since the church was organized.

Rev. D. B. Gray was the only one of the former pastors who could be present, and it was very fitting that he who preached the sermon on the twenty-fifth anniversary should be present to conduct the service yesterday morning. He chose as his text the words "For the kingdom of heaven is as a man traveling in a far country who called his own servants and delivered unto them his goods." He said by way of introduction that one fact impressed him particularly, and that is that Jesus Christ trusted his disciples. A sure way to destroy a man is to distrust him; to trust him is to elevate him. This truth holds good first in the family, in society, in the nation. The speaker emphasized the fact by many illustrations. Secondly, this truth is verified in the church, which thought was elucidated at length. The text and the many truths taught were handled in a lucidly analytical manner, and every listener seemed much impressed; so much so that throughout the day many favorable comments were made regarding the excellence of the sermon.

Mr. Gray made very kindly mention of the church here, and his pleasant relation with it during his pastorate. He also congratulated Rev. Poling on being pastor of such a society, and said they would not fail to love him, as they had loved their former pastors. He spoke feelingly of the familiar faces which were missed by him, but said he was thankful that others had come to fill their places.

The second service—the Sunday school anniversary—was a delightful one. The exercises were led by the present superintendent, B. S. Huntington, and many former officers were present. A pleasing feature was that C. J. Crandall, who was chorister for years, led the singing, and his wife, who as Miss Lulu Dannel was organist, presided at the organ. Messrs. Poling, Crandall and Landers also sang an old-time Sunday school song.

E. S. Penfield, one of the earliest
