The coat of paint which has been placed on the residence of B. F. Laughlin adds much to its appearance, and is very noticeable from the commanding situation of the house.

The public schools are gaining in numbers every day, and the rooms rapidly filling up. Yesterday there was a gain of forty-six pupils over the attendance on the opening day.

The neat little cottage being erected by Harry Mahear, on the corner of Laughlin and Second street, is nearing completion and when finished will be occupied by W. A. Johnston and family.

Wheat teams were numerous in the East End today, and no one would ever dream that such a thought as failure was ever suggested to the farmers of the Inland Empire. It's a wet day when we of Eastern Oregon get left.

In connection with our report yesterday of the Congregational anniversary exercises, we neglected to mention two important factors in the church work—the Y. P. S. C. E., which was organized in '88, and the Junior Endeavor, which began its mission in '97.

J. C. Clay, who has for some time been day operator in the O. R. & N. office here, will leave tonight for Tekoa, where he has been appointed agent. H. Swart, night operator, will assume his duties here, while Hamilton Campbell will for the present act as night operator.

Rev. J. H. Wood desires us to announce to the public that as he will leave for North Yakima in a few days, he would be grateful if any who have business with him, or with whom he may have business that he has overlooked, will call upon him at once, so that a settlement may be made.

Interest has been awakened at The Dalles in the monument fund, which is as it should be. The latest contribution is from that order which is constantly dispensing charity which others know not of; but this time it was discovered that the Elks yesterday sent $25 to Portland as their donation to this fund.

There has been considerable inquiry as to how some of the prominent men in the Dreyfus trial pronounce their names. As nearly as can be learned Dreyfus is pronounced Dryfoos, though some in France call it Drayfus. Gen. Mercier, his greatest enemy, is appropriately called Mairseary. Labori is Lahboree. Demange, Demanzhe with a nasal n. Casimir-Perier, Casimir-Payreay. The president of the court marshal, Col Jonaust, is called Zo-oh; Judge Quesday de Beaure paire is Ken nay de Bo-ruhpair.

We have always considered the Blue Mountain American one of our most valued exchanges and now we find upon our table another Sumpter paper which is a model of neatness and full of news. We refer to the Sumpter Miner, a weekly paper, which began publication last Wednesday. It is an eight-page, four-column paper, and as neatly gotten up as any newspaper we have seen for some time. Should the number of advertisements increase in proportion to the way they start out, the Miner has undoubtedly struck a Klondike, or a Sumpter, which are synonymous. The Chronicle greets the new paper fraternally and will gladly place it on our exchange list.

Ex-Congressman Ellis, who is spending a few days in Portland, says he is not trying to get the position of sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, as has been reported. He is attending strictly to his own private business, which is the practice of law, in his old home town, Heppner. The position of sergeant-at-arms, however, is quite an acceptable one, as the pay is the same as that of congressman—$5000 a year—while the duties are more of the grand-marshal-on-parade order. The official takes the lead in the procession when the senate meet in committee of the whole, and he also acts as treasurer for congress, each member of the lower house receiving his salary through the sergeant-at-arms. The office holds good for two years, when a change is usually made.—Oregonian.

We are too often inclined to overlook the wonders in nature which are found at our own door and wander off to foreign climes, where we go into ecstasies over something not one half so remarkable or grand. For instance, while the "Garden of the Gods" in Colorado is so famed throughout the West, if the same stretch of imagination were used as we gaze on the mountains which border our own Columbia, with the idea of finding thereon "the stage coach," "Queen Victoria" and other figures, which have been discovered pictured in the queer formations there, no doubt all sorts of images might be seen. Just across the river, five miles back on a road leading off of the main Goldendale route, is a curiosity which we have never before heard of until Mr. Gifford mentioned it today. It is an immense rock, which is shaped like a cabbage. From a large base extends a narrow neck about eight inches across and perhaps as many inches high. Poised on this is a huge rock, weighing tons and having the form of a cabbage. In company with the surveyor of the new road, Mr. Gifford visited that section yesterday and secured a splendid picture of it.

The audience room of the Methodist church was filled last night with not only members of the church and League, but many friends who had come to express their regret at the departure of Rev. Wood from our city. The exercises were conducted by the Epworth League and consisted of a literary entertainment, after which refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed. Exercises opened with singing, after which Miss Mabel Collins gave a recitation. Prof. Landers sang a solo, and at the close Misses Hilda Beck and Grace Willerton sang a duet entitled "Good Bye." Mrs. S. French spoke of the wonderful influence which Mr. Wood has exerted over the League; of the pleasant relations which have existed between that society and their pastor, and also of the great work which through his instrumentality, they are now accomplishing. In answer Mr. Wood said that he felt unworthy of all that had been said regarding him and his work in that connection; but must say that nowhere could be found more willing workers and a better class of young people, ever ready to do the work assigned to them with cheerfulness. He could not estimate the help they had been to him and the impetus given by them. As little as possible was said about parting and so the evening passed pleasantly. Mr. Wood cannot now tell how soon he will leave the city, and may remain over another Sunday.

IF ESTERHAZY VISITS AMERICA

What Sort of a Reception Would He Receive Judging From Past Experience.

If Esterhazy should come to the United States there would be a fine opportunity for the American people to show what their opinion of such monsters is. If he attempts to lecture he should stand on an otherwise vacant platform and face empty benches, no first-class hotel should be open to him, and all decent men and women should stun him as they would a physical, as he is a moral, leper.—Telegram.

Splendid philosophy, and certainly seconded by every sensible man and woman in the United States; but should the demon land on our shores tomorrow, what would really be the result? Unless the mass of people treat foreign criminals with more contempt than they do those who have murdered and tortured their own flesh and blood, there would be an immense crowd meet him as he stepped on American soil eager to get but a glance as he passed. Kodak fiends taking snap shots, when they should be taking a far different kind of a shot; foolish women carrying bouquets, when they should carry brick bats; reporters eager for an interview regarding his opinion of Dreyfus, instead of roasting him in every column of their journals. Would he lecture to empty benches? We doubt it. Would the hotels be closed to him? Nay, verily.

It would seem harsh criticism to say that such a reception would be given one who is so cordially despised by the great majority of people in the United States, for he is worse than a murderer.

And yet, what has been the case in the past? A man murders a fellow-being in Chicago, places his body in a trunk and escapes. When he is captured and imprisoned the crowd which throng to get but a glance at the prisoner is impenetrable; refined (?) women fairly step on each other in an attempt to be the first to carry a bouquet to him.

And coming nearer home, what do we find to be the case in our own metropolis in more instances than one? What do the papers tell us is the state of affairs at present in the McDaniel case? While the legal fraternity are doing all in their power to bring justice out of chaos; to avenge the death of a poor girl, who has been foully murdered, young ladies and older women, (who should at least know better,) are untiring in their attempts to call on him upon whom suspicion points most strongly as the foul murderer. Be he innocent, or guilty, the confession he made upon the witness stand regarding his relations with her who had trusted him not wisely, but too well; the one whom he should have died rather than betray, should be sufficient to cause every honorable man to pass him by with scorn; every refined woman to shun him as she would a viper. But such is not the case.

In the face of all those things, what kind of a reception would Esterhazy (or any other hazy) receive were he to come to America?

Wholesale Slaughter of Deer.

The Eugene Guard has the following justifiable complaint to make against the Warm Spring Indians, which we feel sure would be immediately remedied were Agent Cowan notified of the existing circumstances. That paper says: Travelers in the Cascade mountains bring word of a genuine slaughter of deer by the Warm Spring Indians, who came across last week to pick hops and incidentally to hunt enroute. A portion of the tribe, coming across the McKenzie road, is reported to have killed 300 deer between the summit and Frank Mason's place, above Leaburg. At the latter place the Indians left their guns, great stacks of hides and enough dried venison to load many pack horses, while at other places along the river are to be found other lots of dried meat.

The Indians coming down the Middle Fork killed 130 deer coming over in much the same manner. The Indians scatter over a section of the mountains for two or three miles and gradually close in toward the narrow opening of some canyon, where a number of their sharpshooters are stationed, in this manner killing everything in that section of the country.

It is in this manner that game is exterminated, and steps should be taken at once to suppress such wholesale slaughter.
