SCHLEY TO THE FRONT.

Governor Lowpdes, Senator Wellington, Mayor Maister of Baltimore and General Felix Angus called on the president yesterday, and formally protested against the assignment of Admiral Schley to command the South Atlantic station, on the ground that it was not commensurate with his dignity and the services he had rendered during the Spanish-American war.

The Spokesman-Review says: It is hoped that the president will ignore this protest, and inform the Maryland delegation that "pull" is no longer recognized in the army or navy, and that if Schley is designated for the South Atlantic squadron he must go there.

It is perhaps right that a worthy officer in the army and navy should be given a detail that is congenial, but if this work of assignment is to be superintended by outside friends who have influence, the secretaries of war and the navy might as well relinquish their portfolios. One of the gravest charges brought against the administration during the war was favoritism. The impression seemed to be that important commands were to be distributed according to the influence behind the applicants. The result is that if a man doesn't like his job he asks his friends to object, and there is a transfer.

This lack of firmness and disposition to placate has been the cause of nearly all the army and navy troubles during the past few years. Men who have pressure behind them get the good places, and others equally deserving are given the undesirable details. Thus it happens that Joe Wheeler, who has not been given a conspicuous place at the Philippines, whines about being ignored, and asks to be sent home. It will be a good thing for the service if Schley is sent where his friends say he should not be sent. Public flattery leads many good officers to believe that they are as important in the public estimation as in their own, and it will be a good idea to bring them to a realizing sense of their mistake. Above all, it is desirable that the departments be run by their heads, and not by outsiders.

A FARMER'S MONTH.

September, for the past two weeks, has made up splendidly for the unpropitious August, says the Telegram. So far it has been a month to make the farmers' hearts rejoice. Out of the nettle danger they are plucking the flower safety. Instead of contemplating imminent failure, they are reaping success; instead of suffering what seemed inevitable loss, they are gathering and storing golden gains. Their prospects have cleared up with the sky and the atmosphere. Just now they are tired, but they are happy. With another week or two of this glorious September summer weather, they will be ready to laugh at rains and winds. They will have secured at least the greater part of an average crop, and their fields and pastures are in fine condition for fall utilization. Behold how brief a spell of fine weather it takes to make Oregon a paradise.

Prevented a Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.
