VIEW OF THE IDAHO BOYS.

The "anti" press and speakers have been saying, "our soldiers in Luzon are fighting against their convictions; they are opposed to expansion in overwhelming numbers; they sympathize with Aguinaldo, and their hearts are against this unholy war." On this belief the "antis" have been building expectations of a reaction in public sentiment when the volunteers returned. They have been saying that every home-coming soldier would be a missionary in their cause.

They are to suffer here a severe disappointment, because the returning volunteers believe, almost to a man, that the United States should whip the rebellious Tagals to a finish. They differ somewhat on the question of ultimate disposition of the islands, but there is reason to believe that a large majority stand for their retention.

A special correspondent of the Spokesman-Review was aboard the boat which carried thirty-three returning Idaho volunteers from Harrison to Coeur d'Alene City, and obtained a synopsis of their views, which was published in Tuesday's paper. Twenty-five of the thirty-three declared for permanent retention; only five spoke against that course, and three qualified their statements, one saying "the United States should arrange some way for the people to maintain their own government," a second saying "stay with the administration until the war is ended," and a third declaring that we should "conquer the natives first and then decide the question." Atkinson, Lentz and disciples will extract small comfort from the returning volunteers.

The grandest thing we saw in all the West were the people of the West. After all, it is the people who make a country what it is—that is, they make it great or small, generous or mean, inviting or repelling. Hearts are more than mountains, mind more than scenery and welcome more than climate. As time rolls on we may forget the hot and dusty desert, the charming valley, the rushing rivers, the foaming cataracts and the mountain crags, but time will not last long enough to dim our memory of the kind and generous treatment we received from our Western friends.—Quincy, Illinois, Journal.

Director of the Census Merriam has recently had several conferences with the president in regard to simplifying the census of next year, says the Spokesman-Review. It is said that there will be a reduction in the number of useless questions asked. The census of 1890 was in some respects a cumbersome record which gave not only the population of the country but also a lot of information which was of little value, because it was not printed for six or eight years after the census was taken.

The imports of Africa amounted during the past year to $400,000,000, of which $18,000,000 was furnished by the United States. The exports for the same time were $350,000,000, of which the United States took $10,000,000. The British colonies in Africa imported goods to the value of $131,000,000, while the exports were over $132,000,000. The South African Republic, or the Transvaal, imports over $104,000,000 and the exports are $54,000,000.

Prevented a Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.

J. K. BROWN.

During the winter of 1897 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.
