DEWEY'S ADVICE.

As a result of the president's conference with Admiral Dewey, a considerable addition is to be made at once to our squadron in the Philippines, says the Globe-Democrat. Those who thought that the victor of Manila Bay had come home to advise any form of retreat, or any halt in the most vigorous prosecution of the war, may now dismiss their sickly fancies. Dewey's first prescription is more armed ships, and especially gunboats that can enter inlets and the mouths of rivers. The famous armored cruiser Brooklyn will go to head the heavier vessels with her speed of twenty knots, but her draught of twenty-four feet will keep her out of all except the deep harbors. For closer inshore work several powerful gunboats like the Machias and Nashville will be dispatched. They draw but half as much water as the Brooklyn, and have a speed of from twelve to fifteen knots. For the larger purposes of the squadron the Brooklyn will serve admirably, and she would make a desirable flagship. The gunboats will be useful in cutting off the insurgents from fresh arms and supplies, and in commanding points on the coast where expeditions will be landed.

It is strange that any person familiar with the course pursued by Dewey in relation to the Philippines could imagine that he would weaken in the face of continued Tagal hostilities. He devoted more than a year of the most earnest effort at Manila Bay to secure the victory against all comers. The treaty with Spain met his entire approval. He expressed the hope that the United States would never give up the islands. And now, on returning home, his first act is to counsel an important addition to our naval strength in our new possession on the other side of the Pacific, bringing the total of armed vessels to over fifty. This is the second bitter disappointment Dewey has just administered to the party of surrender. The first was his assertion that the Filipinos are unfit for independence at this time, and that, instead of being a later Washington, Aguinaldo is directed by Tagal lawyers, who make a tool of him. At the sword presentation Dewey applauded the president's declaration that there will be no faltering in the complete assertion of our sovereignty in the Philippines. His position was foreseen by all except those whose passion for pulling down the flag has reached the stage of fully developed copperhead mania.

In the coming campaign the land force will number from 50,000 to 60,000 men, and the naval squadron will be the largest yet assembled in the Pacific. This means that the war will be pushed with all possible energy. Even if more men and more ships are necessary, the voice of the country is for supplying them promptly. The people were united in the war against Spain, and are ready to sustain the responsibilities that follow. Wars are ended by treaty, and our treaty with Spain will be observed to the letter. Only by maintaining sovereignty in the Philippines can this be done. The false interviews with Dewey are now exhibited in their true light. His first conference with the president results in more gunboats to press the war against the Tagal conspirators. The islands are peculiarly vulnerable to naval operations when men enough are at hand to garrison captured ports. No position the Tagals can take is free from the danger of rear or flank attack by gunboats and landing force combined. Dewey's consultation with the president has emphasized this idea.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.

During the winter of 1897 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.

On the 10th of December, 1897, Rev. S. A. Donahoe, pastor M. E. Church, South, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., contracted a severe cold which was attended from the beginning by violent coughing. He says: "After resorting to a number of so called 'specifics,' usually kept in the house, to no purpose, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.
