GENTLEMAN OF BROAD IDEAS

One fact has been demonstrated by the yacht races sailed thus far. Sir Thomas Lipton is a sportsman of the highest order. From the first his conduct has been admirable, and if he returns a loser he will at least have the satisfaction of carrying with him the respect of every American citizen who has taken any interest in the contest for the coveted cup.

He showed he was a gentleman of broad ideas when he issued his challenge. Lord Dunraven since 1895 has always insisted that his treatment in America was such that no Briton could ever again attempt to bring back the trophy, but Lipton was not a man of circumscribed notions, and ignoring the petty differences of the past, he sent over to this country the best type of yacht architecture his country has produced.

From the day of his challenge there has been no serious differences. Conditions were easily agreed to by both challenger and challenged; there was no squabbling over details, and during and since the races Sir Thomas has acted so handsomely that there are few who do not wish that his sturdy craft might win at least two races out of the series. There are few nautical enthusiasts who will not say that Sir Tom is a prince of yacht owners.

The Western journey undertaken by the president and the cabinet is serving not so much to awaken patriotism in the region visited as to prove how wide awake the spirit of loyalty to the flag already is. Everywhere that the president has spoken, the part of his address which inspired the warmest enthusiasm was that which declared his inflexible purpose to support the flag at any cost. At Chicago the sentiment took this form: "The honor and integrity of the flag wherever it is carried by our soldiers or sailors on land or on sea." The phraseology varies, but the sentiment is always the same and the purpose is the same; and the reception by the people of that sentiment and declaration of purpose is likewise always the same.

All the estimates of the American corn and wheat crops for the year are so high that the surplus for exportation is likely to be above the average of the past five or six seasons. There will be a shortage in Europe, which the United States will have a chance to at least partially supply. While the American grain producer will find a good market abroad this year for all his stock which cannot be sold at home, the home consumer will have food which will not range above the recent average in price.

No better estimate of Aguinaldo has been made than that of President McKinley at Fargo. Aguinaldo, he said, demands independence as the price of peace, but on a former occasion he accepted a different price. "The United States," the president added, "pays no gold for peace. We never gave a bribe for peace in all our history and never will."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and cleanses the system. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, prostate gland, and testes, and restores vitality to the whole system. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

During the winter of 1897 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.

The "Plow Boy Preacher," Rev. J. Kirkman, Belle River, Ill., says: "After suffering from Bronchial or lung trouble for ten years, I was cured by One Minute Cough Cure. It is all that is claimed for it and more." It cures coughs, colds, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. Butler Drug Co.
