We swore off making weather prognostication after last week's experience; but if we were Pague we'd never say "occasional rains" for tomorrow.

We'll give you a pointer, and that is "the officers'll git you if you don't watch out" and pay your road tax. Ask some one that knows if they won't.

We regret to learn that Rev. G. Rushing is not improving as rapidly as he should, but suffered a slight relapse and it was feared his case had developed into appendicitis.

Harry C. Liebe carries the most complete stock of diamonds, watches, jewelry and Sterling silver novelties in the city, which he sells at a reasonable price. Call and inspect the assortment.

In another column will be found an article regarding the new tourist sleepers which have been placed on the O. R. & N. route, of their advantage over those now in use, and other points in their favor, which are of interest to the traveling public.

It will be intensely amusing to see a number of old maids transformed into young and blushing girls by the workings of the machine of youth Monday evening at the Baldwin. The young ladies also invite you to see the war dance.

A large house turned out to see "My Friend From India" at Fisher's opera house last night. That the performance was a good one was shown by the laughter and applause that greeted the actors at almost every turn. The speeches were sprightly, the movements active; in fact, the whole action was of that happy character to make the play what it really was—a sparkling success.—Astorian.

City horses are becoming used to the steam saw, and let it "saw wood," taking no particular interest in its buzzing; but not so with the country teams, which object to its air, and so today at noon a team belonging to Kohler, who lives on Mill creek, showed their dislike by not only kicking but running with all their might up Second street, pulling after them the farm wagon. Reaching the brewery they accepted an invitation to stop, having done little damage—certainly not any to the steam saw.

Prof. Sandvig announces that his first class instructions in dancing will be given next Wednesday evening at the Baldwin. All who intend to take lessons are requested to be on hand at that time. The party evening will be on Saturdays in the future. 27-4f

As was expected, a much larger crowd attended the club dance last night. The floor is improving, and was in fine condition, while everyone seems to be making up for lost time and joining more heartily in the dancing. The tendency to make the parties noted for the sociability which prevails is very evident.

Rev. Poling, pastor of the Congregational church of The Dalles, for several years in charge of the Albany church, is in the city. He had started for Eugene to attend the state convention of his church but the delays of the train made it impracticable to continue his trip and he stopped off at Albany, where his host of friends are glad to see him, and so well. Albany Herald—Rev. Poling will return home on this afternoon's train.

The heavy rain storm that passed over Condon last Saturday evening was much heavier in the Ferry Canyon country than it was here. J. G. Stevenson reports that on Ten-mile it assumed the proportions of a cloud burst and almost ruined the new road between Ferry Canyon and Arlington. This is unfortunate for the farmers of that section as the route was about one day shorter for grain haulers than the road via Condon. It is doubtful if the road can be repaired this fall.—Condon Globe.

Reports that come from White Salmon tell of the hold Mormonism is gaining in that neighborhood. Last week two of the leading young ladies there were baptized and joined that church. Not alone there, but in many places in Oregon are they wielding an influence and gaining followers. War should be waged against such a sect, whose teachings cannot fail to be harmful. While we have not a Helen Gould who will give $6000 to be used in a crusade against it, as she has in New York, something should be done, if in no united effort, individually at least, to stop its inroads into our state.

The Wind River fish hatchery, which is a state institution, has made good progress for the first season, considering the time they commenced to take eggs. The hatchery was finished late in the fall. Bernhard Fallert, foreman, reports that the hatchery has about 2,750,000 eggs, about 90 per cent of which will mature. The young salmon will be turned loose about the first of April. Mr. Fallert understands his business and the state is fortunate in securing his service. This makes two fish hatcheries in this county, one of which is located on the Little White Salmon.—Skamania Pioneer.

The O. R. & N. is going to build a brand new, spick and span $3600 union depot at Biggs, or rather a mile and a half west of that station, the work to commence about the 1st of November, says the News. This will make everybody around these parts jump for joy. That old shack now at Biggs has been an eyesore for a good many years, and we have seen pleasanter places to wait for a train. With a fine depot (with a lunch counter attachment) to rest in for three or four when going west, life will for passengers at the new Biggs be at least endurable. Besides the new location is almost entirely devoid of the sand nuisance.

A number of law students, young lawyers and a few young men from the High school have called a meeting tonight at the office of Moore & Gavin at 7 o'clock for the purpose of organizing a literary and debating club for mutual benefit and enjoyment. Any young men who are anxious to improve themselves and desire to take hold of such pursuits with a will, are invited to be present. It is a splendid move and just such a one as The Dalles is in need of.

A week ago last night a crowd of young people attended a party in the vicinity of Enderby. The roads were not in a condition to rival the finest paved boulevards of any in the union, and consequently little was said concerning the trip. Silence sometimes gives content and several conjectures have arisen as to the experiences gone through, strengthened by the fact that a few articles, etc., were found strewn along the road. A portion of the paraphernalia was brought into the postoffice during the week, and if any of the parties care to claim it, they can have the same by calling on the "male" young man in charge of the delivery window.

One of the happiest and most complete surprises was that tendered Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Howell, at their home on the hill last night. Desiring to express their congratulations and good will the more fully to the newly married couple, the employees of the O. R. & N. office, about eighteen in number, called upon them en masse last evening and took them completely by surprise. They carried with them numerous gifts, among which were a very pretty dinner set, hanging lamp, carving set, table cloths, napkins, etc., all of which will not only express to them the good will of their friends, but are just such presents as are appreciated by those who are starting in housekeeping. The entire evening was most pleasantly spent and added to the happiness of the bride and groom.

The reform school is doing a wonderful work among the boys of the state, as any who have ever visited the institution or are familiar with its workings will attest. The first boy received at that institution was on Nov. 6th, 1891. He was No. 1. The last arrival is No. 381. There are now 102 boys at the institution. Where are the 279 to make up the difference between 381 and 102? They are out on parole, mostly. Some of them have attained the age of 21 years, and thus grown beyond the jurisdiction of the school. Four or five have died. The paroled boys have scattered throughout the country. A number are holding good positions. Others are not doing so well, according to reports that reach the school. About twenty of the paroled boys were with the Oregon volunteers in the Philippines. One was a sergeant. Two were with Dewey when he sunk the Spanish fleet in Manila bay.

The Gold Discoveries at Mt. Hood.

Peter Felthausen called at the Glacier office last Friday and informed us that he was the discoverer of the quartz mines near Mt. Hood. He said our item of last week in regard to the discoveries was incorrect. He and George Winner have been prospecting on the headwaters of Hood river for the past two summers. During last summer they discovered three ledges of gold-bearing quartz. One, which is 14 1/2 feet wide, assays $6.61 in gold and 18 cents in silver to the ton; another assays $4.54 in gold and 21 cents in silver; and the third $3.72 in gold and 24 cents in silver. These mines are on the East Fork of Hood river, southeast of Mt. Hood. They are about fifteen miles from the Mt. Hood road, starting at a point two and a half miles below the Elk Beds. A wagon road can be made over this fifteen miles without much expense. These discoveries were made in the latter part of August, and since then the weather has been so unfavorable that the discoverers could not do much towards developing their finds. The assays were made from surface croppings, and of course it is expected the rock will prove to be richer when the leads are developed. Mr. Felthausen feels highly elated over his prospects.—Glacier.

An Old Science.

"What's that there young man's business?" asked Mr. Parvenu.

"He's a tutor, I believe," replied his wife.

"What does he teach?"

"One of them old sciences, I s'pose," answered Mrs. Parvenu. "I ain't just sure what it is, but last night Mabelle told me he was giving her some lessons in osculation."

"Well, I s'pose she's got to be educated," returned the old man. "I only hope he won't charge no fancy price for his lessons."—Chicago Post.
