NO INTERVENTION.

On the strength of the British military and naval movements, which include the calling out of the reserves and the dispatch of the channel squadron to Gibraltar, rumors and roorbacks are rife concerning a grand continental union against England, says the Spokesman-Review. The speculation which was started by sensational newspapers is now discussed as though it were a fact.

France is to aid Russia in a steal on India and is to have her revenge for Fashoda by extending her African possessions; Italy is to make a hostile showing at San Mun Bay also in the spirit of revenge because Great Britain blocked the Italian game in that quarter; finally, Germany, speaking for herself and for Russia, France, Italy, Belgium and Holland, is to suggest the settlement of the Transvaal dispute by arbitration.

Russia is probably scheming in Afghanistan, because that is her settled policy. But scheming and fighting are very different things, and a better cause will have to be advanced than any that has as yet been given to prove that she meditates open hostilities. There is certainly not promise enough in a Boer uprising to encourage her to break her frontier agreement.

Italy in the character of an aggressor against England would be false to her own traditions and would cut a pathetic figure. Joy over a naval parade in San Mun Bay would soon be succeeded by grief over the destruction of the Italian fleet, and he must be a pretty dull Italian who cannot see this far into the future.

But perhaps the climax of absurdity is reached in the surmises about Germany, the mouthpiece of the continent and the head of a coalition including France and Russia, which is to intervene in the Transvaal. For it has been repeatedly intimated through the usual official organs that the German government approves of Great Britain's course.

That certainly would be the natural official attitude not only in Germany but in every great European state, because each of them wishes to remain supreme in its own colonial sphere, and to encourage the Boers would be to encourage a principle that the several powers might find exceedingly inconvenient at some future date. It is doubtful, therefore, if arbitration will be suggested even in the friendliest manner, and forcible intervention may be regarded as an absolute impossibility.

Bryan says he looks for success in Ohio, Kentucky and Nebraska, and would not be surprised by the capture of Iowa. At the Chicago convention he predicted that silver would carry every state in the union. The discount on his estimates can be judged accordingly.

Five transports will convey Irish troops from Queenstown to South Africa. The Boers can judge from their recent brush with the Dublin boys that rumors of Irish sympathy must be taken with a grain of salt.

Double Train Service to San Francisco.

On October 15th the Southern Pacific Co. will inaugurate a "Daylight Express," leaving Portland at 8:30 a. m., and reaching San Francisco at 7:45 next evening—only one night out. Both standard Pullman and tourist sleepers will be attached. This new train is in addition to the present 7 p. m. Shasta Overland, and will give many passengers the desired opportunity to see enroute the Great Willamette, Umpqua and Sacramento Valleys without loss of time, and still arrive in Oakland and San Francisco at a seasonable hour.

"I wish to express my thanks to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for having put on the market such a wonderful medicine," says W. W.
