While others sleep
Perchance to dream

We are wide awake cementing more firmly the bond of union from a firm whose chief object is your welfare. This is not done by promising two for one, but in assuring you first, last and all the time of your money's worth in each and every transaction with us. It would be foolish indeed for us in the face of present conditions to expect one cent more for an article than it is really worth; more foolish of you to pay it. Our sincere wish is to win the esteem of each and every customer. We know of but one way to do this, viz: To be certain of what we sell. Napoleon once said, "You can't make omelettes without breaking some eggs." Business competition says, "You can't make brisk trade without smashing profits on some lines of goods. WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

"My Friend From India"

At the Vogt opera house tonight.

The regular monthly meeting of the water commissioners will be held in their office this evening.

Try and be at the opera house before 8:15 tonight so you won't annoy anyone by coming in after the performance begins.

At the Enderby school, taught by Miss Mabel Riddell, a basket social will be given this evening. Proceeds to be used for the school library.

The collector will no doubt soon call upon those who have not yet paid over their subscriptions to the proposed improvements in the fire system. Look out for him and be prepared to meet your obligation.

He said his name was John Doe when the policeman arrested him last night; but John Doe was up yesterday, so we think he must of been too drunk to remember his name. However, he paid his $2 this morning and is ready for another spree.

All persons wishing to take children, either boys or girls, for legal adoption or on indenture, should write to W. T. Gardner, superintendent of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon, at Portland, who can procure for them desirable children of all ages. All applications must be filed in advance.

The American public schools at Manila under the management of Superintendent Anderson, an Oregon man, are growing rapidly in popularity and efficiency. They have practically been organized but about three months, yet the superintendent's report for August shows an attendance of 2,738 boys and 1,766 girls, a total of 4,504 and an increase over July of 500.

Physicians in the east now attribute the prevalence of appendicitis to the habit of crossing the legs. They say by crossing the legs, and it is generally the right leg that is put upon the stretch, the undigested food passes into the vermiform appendix and sets up an inflammation. In the space of a few hours pathological process sets in and an attack of appendicitis has been developed.

No abatement in the sale of liquor to Indians seems to be noticeable in spite of the many protests against it. Last evening on one of the prominent street corners some braves and klotchmen were regaling themselves with two bottles of whiskey and having a high school time. Shall this thing go on unheeded when the names of those who are thus violating the law are well known to everyone?

The company which is to present "My Friend From India" at the Vogt tonight will arrive on the afternoon train from Portland, having played in Salem last night. Every indication points to a good production and a crowded house. The curtain will rise at 8:15 sharp, so that plenty of time will be given for the production and also allow the company to leave on the east-bound train.

Papers published in towns near The Dalles are commenting rather freely and unfavorably on the alleged fact that some of the "society girls" of that town took a drop too much when the Minnesota troops stopped there recently for a feed, and "Hobsonized them until they were black in the face," says one paper. It is not made clear, however, whether the criticism is aimed at the old, old story of a drop too much, the vigor and force of the assault, or that it was made on Minnesota instead of Oregon soldiers.—Sumpter News.

C. M. Grimes will leave on the afternoon train for Portland, where he will spend tomorrow with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Grimes, it being the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. Mrs. Grimes and Miss Pearl went down last week. Mr. and Mrs. Grimes were residents of The Dalles for many years, having left here for Portland about ten years ago. The worthy couple therefore have a large number of friends here, who gladly join in congratulations and the wish that not only may their golden wedding anniversary be a happy occasion, but that the sunset of life may indeed be golden to them.

The young ladies of the Congregational church were very successful with their Halloween entertainment last evening. There is always an immense amount of work connected with all such efforts; but if the desired end is accomplished no regret is expressed, and that end is that a sufficient amount of money is taken in to recompense them for their work. The gross receipts last night were $83, and the audience seemed well satisfied with the entertainment. The program was novel, being somewhat out of the usual line followed at such affairs, and the different parts were well rendered. The war dance was so true to life that the genuine Indians who took part expressed themselves as willing to travel with at least a portion of the siwash and give entertainments.

A case of marrying in haste and repenting in about as big a hurry, is that of O. L. Fields, who about a year ago got a divorce from his first wife and two months after married a woman who lived at Mosier. They were married in this city in January and when summer came again his conscience seemed to thaw out and he realized he had broken the law, which requires that a person be divorced six months before another marriage is legal. He accordingly went up into Umatilla county and wrote down here to have divorce proceedings commenced on the ground of illegal marriage. But it takes a pretty shrewd man to get ahead of most women when it comes to divorce cases and his loving spouse in turn had him arrested for bigamy. He was arrested at Milton and Sheriff Kelly went up to Pendleton last night to bring the too-muchly married culprit down.

MORE SCHOOL NEWS.

Dufur's School in Fine Condition—Some Other Schools in the County.

Further interesting information concerning our county schools has been gleaned from a reliable source, and that our readers may know what is going on in the schools about us, we publish it below:

The town of Dufur, in school district No. 29, has been known for years for the interest shown in public school work. Under the principalship of Prof. Aaron Frazier the school has sent out many able teachers who did good work in their chosen profession.

A new four-room school building has been erected recently, which is the pride of the town and the surrounding country, for in the absence of saloons parents feel safe in sending their children here for more advanced work in their studies.

Mr. R. R. Allard is the principal of the school for the year beginning Sept. 18th, and has charge of the seventh and eighth grades with an enrollment of 21 pupils.

Mr. Geo. W. Brown teaches the intermediate department and has 30 pupils in attendance.

Mrs. Rebecca V. Wilson is at home in the primary room and is taking particular care of the good morals and gentle manners of the children entrusted to her care.

A visitor would note an air of cheerfulness and faithfulness in the several rooms which must bring good results. Clean floors, polished stoves, potted flowers, neat black-board work, a good school library and a reading table are found in this school.

School district No. 65, two miles west of Victor, has a new school building. Miss Susie Ward is now teaching a term in this district and has an attendance of 23. Miss Ward always leaves a record of the classification and standing of pupils for the guidance of the incoming teacher.

School district No. 47, five miles west of Victor, has a new school house. Miss Neva E. Harvey, of Wamic, began her first term's work here Sept. 18th.

School district No. 48, known as Fairfield school, has an enrollment of 34 pupils. School began Sept. 25th with Mr. H. W. Kelley as teacher. The people in this district are interested in educational progress.

School district No. 42, at Wamic, has a good two-room school building, with Mr. G. W. Bondurant as principal and Miss Edna Brown, of The Dalles, as assistant teacher. Here is an excellent field for good school work: 53 bright girls and boys stand ready and willing to assist their teachers in educational advancement. The school library books were well selected by the teachers last year, and the children have profited greatly by reading them.

Miss Rosina Campbell is teaching in school district No. 44, eight miles from Wamic.

Schools are not in session in districts 63, 45, 46, and 37, while Miss Mand Sigman has just closed a term in district No. 35, near Dufur.

The Wasco County Cases.

The supreme court at Salem yesterday handed down opinions in two Wasco county cases as follows:

The case of Oregon Lumber Co. vs. Jones, wherein A. S. Bennett and J. H. Cradlebaugh were attorneys for the defendant and Huntington & Wilson for the plaintiff, was affirmed.

This was a suit brought for the purpose of having the defendant Burns Jones declared a trustee for the plaintiff, for a one-half interest in certain lands near Hood River, Wasco county. The case was tried in the circuit court for Wasco county, the testimony being taken before a referee. The result was a decree in favor of the Oregon Lumber Company, from which the defendant appealed to the supreme court. The opinion reviews the evidence and holds that the testimony supports the decree of the lower court.

The case of State vs. Jake Andrews, with B. S. Huntington and F. W. Wilson for defendant, was reversed.

The defendant was indicted, tried, convicted and fined $500 on the charge of showing, and having in his possession with intent to show, obscene pictures. The trial was had in Wasco county, where the crime is alleged to have been committed. A motion for a new trial was interposed and overruled. The defendant appealed to the supreme court, alleging many errors in the lower court.

The supreme court holds that the names of all twelve witnesses should have been endorsed on the indictment. Minor questions were also passed upon.

A NOBLE LIFE ENDED.

Mrs. Lavina McNeal Died at Her Home in This City at 12:30 This Morning.

After two weeks of waiting on the very threshold of eternity, Mrs. Lavina McNeal stepped on the other side this morning at the early hour of 12:30. For years she has suffered with stomach trouble, which as old age crept on became the more serious, and for the past three or four months she has suffered intensely. Besides, for the past twelve years she has been a cripple, caused from an accident received at that time in Grant county. And yet despite her affliction she was possessed of such a strong, beautiful character that she was a blessing to all about her. Not that she has performed any great deeds as some are wont to term greatness in these days, but in her sweet motherly way has exerted an influence which cannot be measured and which will be exemplified in the lives of those she leaves behind, and who now mourn her who, though a cripple here, now walks the streets of the heavenly city.

Her maiden name was Lavina E. Fuller, and she was born in Belmont, Ala., on May 6, 1824, being brought up in Green county, Tenn. At the latter place she was married to John McNeal on Oct. 26, 1841, about fifty-eight years ago. They moved to Missouri in 1853, where they lived until 1884, coming to Oregon in that year and settling in Prairie City, Grant county. Here her husband died on June 30, 1887, and in the following year she came to The Dalles, where she has since lived.

When but a young girl she joined the Methodist church, but in later years, when her health would permit, has attended the Baptist church. Not in her church work, however, but in the home circle, has she been privileged to exert the most lasting good, and will she be missed the most.

Six children survive her—W. E. McNeal, of this city; Mrs. F. J. Bayless, of Watson, Mo.; Mrs. W. C. Allaway, Mrs. F. T. Clark, Mrs. J. P. Ruark and Miss Nettie McNeal, all of this city.

The funeral will take place from the Calvary Baptist church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.
