WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Beach & Bowers' Minstrels
At the Vogt opera house tonight.

There will be no meeting of the Columbia Hose Company tonight, as was previously intended.

The members of Columbia Dancing Club are to enjoy another dancing party tomorrow evening at the Baldwin.

Another road tax victim is paying his tax by spending a portion of his time in jail. He was a waiter in one of the city restaurants and waited a little bit too long to suit the collector.

Some lady lost a new saxony mitten, fancy knit, in front of W. E. Garretson's store Tuesday, and is no doubt regretting her loss. If she will call at the store Mr. Garretson will give her "the mitten."

A few nights since a man by the name of Osborne entered the room of Mr. Barr in the East End and stole some blankets. He was not apprehended until yesterday, when he was arrested and placed in the city jail. No hearing has been had as yet.

Motion for a new trial in the case of Peter Sievers et al. vs. The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Co., was argued before Judge Miller yesterday at Vancouver. Plaintiffs were recently awarded $600 damages and defendant desires a new hearing.

One of our "society" boys forgot the curfew last night and found himself at the city headquarters, where he was fined $2. When parents have to put up a few fines they'll begin to remind their children of the stay-at-home ordinance, or accompany them after 8 o'clock.

On account of the nearness to Thanksgiving, the ladies of the Good Intent Society have decided to change the date for their sale of pastry from Saturday, the 2nd, to Wednesday, the 29th, when they will have on hand everything in the pastry line and some other delicacies as well.

Supt. W. T. Gardner arrived in the city last night on his return trip into Eastern Oregon, where he has been in the interest of the Boys and Girls Aid Society. He found his wards doing well in good homes and sent two children from Baker City to the home. He will leave tomorrow.

W. Van Anda, the leading cornetist in the Beach & Bowers, band, and stage manager for the company, is a brother of our fellow townsman, G. A. Van Anda. He has been in the show business for many years and it is now nine years since Mr. Van Anda saw him last. They have greatly enjoyed their visit today.

Portland was honored with the presence of a distinguished visitor Tuesday in the person of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commander of the United States army. A swell dinner was given at the Hotel Portland. The general is making his annual official inspection of the fortification and military posts of the country.

There was an unusually large number of members present at the meeting of the Artisans last night, and at the close they repaired in a body to Keller's oyster parlors, where the beneficial part of the order was practically demonstrated by a banquet, which proved just how efficient the members are in this particular part of their work.

The Beach & Bowers minstrel company arrived in town this morning and their car was side-tracked at the foot of Washington street. They are a nice looking lot of fellows, and we believe will give a good show. If the band concert given at noon is any criterion they will. There were twenty-six instruments and the music brought forth from them was splendid. Particularly pleasing was the medley of familiar airs. The trained dogs which accompanied them also attracted much attention, especially from the small boys.

On yesterday's afternoon east-bound train were Mrs. Francis W. Graham, of Lockport, N. Y., national musical director of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, N. J., state president of New Jersey, and Mrs. Emily N. Burgess, of New York, lecturer on peace arbitration. They spent the evening in the city, continuing their journey on the night train. Having met Rev. Hawk on the train, they were afterward invited to meet a number of Sunday school workers at the home of Mrs. Smith French, who greatly enjoyed their visit. Mrs. Graham is a beautiful singer and entertained the company with her sweet selections, while the other ladies spoke earnestly and interestingly of their work.

Some time since Boyd Bowie, who for many years was brakeman between Portland and The Dalles, and who for six months past made his home here, left to accept a position running out of Salt Lake City, leaving Mrs. Bowie here until he was well settled. On the first of this month he met with an accident in which he was crushed between a coal shed and a car, injuring his spine. Finding an operation was necessary he sent for Mrs. Bowie, who left here on the 3d. He did not survive the operation, for in a letter to her friend, Mrs. J. O. Bose, his wife tells of his death, which occurred last Sunday morning. Mr. Bowie had a large number of friends here, who will be grieved to learn the sad news.

Yesterday afternoon the weather was very unpleasant, and as Mrs. Harris, who had invited the ladies of the various church societies to meet with the Good Intent Society at her home, saw how the rain descended, she was somewhat discouraged and felt that few would venture so far in such a storm. But she was pleasantly disappointed, for over fifty ladies were present and spent a delightful afternoon. Mrs. Harris is an adept at entertaining, and in her affable manner made everyone feel perfectly at home. A short but interesting program was rendered, lunch served and the remainder of the afternoon spent in pleasant social converse. These meetings are not only happy ones, but calculated to increase the unity of feeling between the different churches.

A Woman Arrested.

A game of three is usually one which turns out disastrously in business as well as love affairs, and one is sure to get left in the shuffle. Such a case is the one which was called to the attention of the sheriff yesterday. It seems that M. H. Hill and wife and a sheep herder by the name of John Brautt had agreed to go into the hotel business at Mitchell, the latter to furnish the wherewithal.

The trio then decided to come to this city for furniture, and arrived here Sunday. After looking around on Monday, during which time Brautt swallowed "furniture polish" or something which made him "boozey", it was concluded Mrs. Hill had better accompany him to Portland, where they might do better in securing furniture.

They accordingly went down on the afternoon train Monday, leaving Mr. Hill and their 5-year-old girl here.

On arriving at their destination, it is said they secured a room at one of the hotels, and Brautt says about 2 o'clock he awoke to find the woman gone and with her $200 in money. Yesterday morning he sought the officers and they telegraphed to the sheriff here, who found her last evening doing some shopping at the Great Northern Furniture store, where she had expended $118, beside small amounts at other stores. It seems that she had skipped the sheep herder and taken the morning boat for this place. She was arrested and word sent to Officer Cordano, who arrived last night and took her to Portland this afternoon.

She displays little regret for her wrong doing, and says little, stating once, however, that she had intended to run away with Brautt, but changed her mind. It looks somewhat like a badly-laid scheme all around, the little child being the only one who displayed any feeling, crying hard when she thought the officers were going to take her mamma.

ANOTHER SAD DEATH.

Mrs. Agnes Davis Taken From Earth Last Night.

Death can never be other than the saddest of messengers; but there are instances when it comes with added terror and is doubly sad. Such a time is that when from the home is snatched the mother, and the little ones are deprived of the sweetest blessing earth affords—a mother's love and care. When from the husband's side is taken her who was not alone a companion, but almost life itself. Yesterday we spoke of the serious illness of Mrs. L. S. Davis, scarcely dreaming, however, that today we would chronicle her death, her illness having been of but a week's duration. Combined with a bad case of pneumonia, was a heart trouble, which hastened her demise, and at about 8:30 o'clock last night she closed her eyes to earth and her loved ones.

Agnes M. Hindman was born in Iowa Nov. 11, 1861, and was married to L. S. Davis near Baker City on Jan. 21, 1886. Mr. and Mrs. Davis came to this city about eight years ago, where they have since resided. To them was born three children, who, with her husband, survive her. They are Eugene, age 13; Grace, aged 11, and Dollie, aged 8. Being old enough to in a measure realize their loss, the children are inconsolable, while the sorrowing husband is dazed with grief. She also leaves a father, two sisters and two brothers in Baker City.

Ever happy hearted, greeting her friends with a smile and cheering word, she was a favorite. Being also well educated, she was fitted to do much good in the community, and her place will be hard to fill.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on the hill, south of B. F. Laughlin's residence, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock under the auspices of the Rathbone Sisters, when the Episcopal service will be read, she being a communicant of that church.

Rathbone, Attention!

All members of the Rathbone Sisters are requested to meet at their hall this evening at 7:30, to make arrangements for attending the funeral of the late Mrs. L. S. Davis. By order of
MRS. BELLE BERGER, Chief.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all druggists.
