WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Yesterday the county court appointed Arthur Trask constable for Falls precinct.

The second meeting of the Students Literary Club will be held tonight in the council chambers at 7:30 o'clock.

On account of the inclemency of the weather we have decided to continue our linen sale Monday. Pease & Mays.

The members of the Epworth League invite their friends to join them in a social gathering tonight at the Methodist church.

A good table cloth is just as essential for Thanksgiving Day as a good turkey. See Pease & Mays' linen sale Saturday and Monday.

Miss Edith Crawford, recently of Iowa, will address the people at the Christian church Saturday evening on the subject of "Christian Women's Board of Missions."

The Dewey wedding is the latest fad. The groom at least will not object since it is not an elaborate display as are most church weddings. There'll be more weddings than ever now.

Some lady lost a new saxonny mitten, fancy knit, in front of W. E. Garretson's store Tuesday, and is no doubt regretting her loss. If she will call at the store Mr. Garretson will give her "the mitten."

The McDaniel trial will begin on the 27th in Portland and continue for ten days. As the time for trial grows nearer, the outlook for the prisoner grows darker, and the mother of the murdered girl is firm in the belief that he is the right one.

This morning a comparatively new valise was found on the sidewalk on Fourth street, saturated with rain. It contained articles of clothing belonging to a gentleman. The owner can find his valise by applying to the sheriff, to whom it was brought.

Yakima farmers with spuds to sell are feeling very good these days, as the tubers are not only yielding well but are already bringing a very remunerative price with every prospect of an advance. H. M. Gilbert, of Nob Hill, even at present prices feels hopeful of clearing $3000 on his 40 acre field.—Sentinel.

It is said that there is a great scarcity of wood choppers down the river, and that wood men are now trying to get gangs of white men and chinamen to work. Some say there is danger of a wood famine; but with so much wood on the lower river, which could be brought up in case of necessity, we need not suffer much from fire.

Tuesday or Wednesday night next is the time for the grand display of falling meteors. Along toward morning is the time to look for them, and 'twill not be necessary to have the plea of lodge, sick friend, or any other excuse for staying out all night these two nights, for surely many will avail themselves of this subterfuge, when it occurs but once in thirty-three years.

The good book tells us that when we see the buds putting forth we may know that summer is at hand, and while no one will question such infallible truth, yet in The Dalles at least there must be an exception even to that statement, for just at the verge of winter, we find on our table today some beautiful apple blossoms, which were gathered from the orchard of H. Falk, on Ninth street. They are healthy looking blossoms and the trees have borne one crop this year, so that this is the second blossoms.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. E. M. Williams and her sister, Miss Sampson, entertained a number of their young lady friends very pleasantly from 2 until 5 o'clock. The greater part of the time was spent in a guessing game, which showed how quickly the guests could name the great generals and famous men of modern days by pictures culled from various newspapers, magazines, etc. Miss Ruch won first prize in the contest and Miss Maie Cushing booby. With vocal and instrumental music, conversation, refreshments and a general social time the afternoon was happily spent.

Word reached town Tuesday from Lone Rock that the people of that place are excited over a gold strike recently made by John E. Johnson and some others near the head of Ray creek, some forty or fifty miles from Lone Rock. But little development work has been done on the ledge as yet, the principal prospect hole being but six feet deep, but the rock is said to be literally full of gold that is easily visible to the naked eye. Frank Ralston went over to the prospects a few days ago and after doing a few days' work returned for a load of supplies, satisfied that a bonanza had been found. We will await further developments with interest.—Condon Globe.

The manager of the minstrel company proved himself a gentleman last night by the thoughtful manner in which he proceeded when Mrs. Eastwood, who was in the audience, was taken with a bad fainting spell during the performance. Seeing that the people were agitated and that some one was ill, just by a snap of his finger the stage manager stopped the overture, and, asking the audience to keep quiet, quietly told one of the stage hands to get some water, thus avoiding any excitement or disturbance to anyone and greatly benefiting the lady, for had the crowd gathered round as in most cases, she would probably not have come to, the trouble arising from heart disease. Mr. Eastwood feels very grateful to them and especially to the business manager, who so kindly assisted him in helping his wife from the building. A little tact at such a time often prevents much unnecessary excitement.

About 4:30 yesterday afternoon, while sitting in a chair at his home in the East End, near the Standard Oil Company's headquarters, George Jones complained to his wife that he had a pain in the back of his head, which seemed to extend from one ear to the other, and as she came over to him asked her to hold his head. She did so, and as it fell back he gasped twice and died. For several years Mr. Jones had been troubled with heart disease, which baffled all the physicians' skill, and for a month has been confined to the home; but yesterday he seemed to feel much better, and was about the house all day. He was a native of Wales, and has lived in The Dalles for about twelve years. For six years, up till '93, he was employed by R. E. Saltmarsh; but of recent years has not been able to work. He was well known to all business men, and being a good natured, honest man, was well liked. He leaves a wife here and some brothers and sisters in Wales. The funeral will take place at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. Jos. De Forest.

Yesterday the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, through their superintendent, W. T. Gardner, made application for the care of Jessie Brooks, aged 11, and Elsie Brooks, aged 9, complaining that their father had abandoned them, and that their mother, Mrs. Fannie Brooks, was not a proper person to have charge of them. While not cruel or neglectful of them, her character is not such as to warrant her bringing up children. The matter came up before the county judge yesterday afternoon, the mother and children appearing in court. While not denying the charges made against her, she was loath to give up her children and produced a letter from her husband saying that he had procured work and asking her to come to him. She made promise that she would in case her children were left with her, and the court therefore decided to give her a trial; but in case her part is not fulfilled she must forfeit the children. Such a move has long been considered advisable by residents who knew the state of affairs and feared for the children's future, although they seem to be well cared for otherwise.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Edward Kehrein Meets His Death Alone Yesterday.

Last night about 8 o'clock, M. Rand and J. H. Richardson, night clerk at the Cosmopolitan hotel, found Edward Kehrein, who occupied a room there, dead in his bed, seemingly having been dead some time, though in looks apparently asleep.

The last seen of him was Wednesday night at 11 o'clock, when he came out of his room and told Mr. Richardson he could not sleep, and then walked with him down to the Umatilla House when the train came in. Mr. Richardson came back to the Cosmopolitan and found him standing on the outside, but being busy did not notice him again. Missing him yesterday all day, Mr. Rand, who stays there a great deal, asked Richardson if he had seen him. He said no, and they both went up to his room, where they found him lying on his right side in bed, dead. The body nor room was not disturbed, and from all indications he died while asleep, which verdict was also affirmed by the inquest this morning, when it was thought he must have been dead six or eight hours when found.

He has been in The Dalles off and on for years, and on September 26th last, returned from Huntington where he had been for a short time. While there he claimed he was poisoned with poison oak and it seemed to go through his system so that he has not been well since.

He said to Mr. Richardson on Wednesday that if any other man felt as he did, he would kill himself. But so far as the jury could find there was no indication of such means being used.

In examining his room a small book containing $120 in greenbacks was found and $15 in gold. Other papers show that he had $3000 in the German Loan and Saving Bank in San Francisco. He was for years a sheepherder. Mr. Liebe, who has been attending to his business for him, says he is a German and that he served in the Union army in the civil war and was drawing a pension. Was formerly from Wisconsin, and was a sober, industrious and strictly honest man. He was a single man and had two sisters in Germany.

The body will be given a respectable burial from the undertaking rooms of Wm. Mitchell tomorrow afternoon.

CORONER'S VERDICT.

In the matter of the inquest upon the body of Edward Kehrein,

We the jury, summoned by W. H. Butts, coroner of Wasco county, State of Oregon, to enquire into the cause of the death of the body now before us, after viewing the body of the deceased, and hearing the testimony of the witnesses produced before us, and after careful consideration find the facts and conclusions following, that is to say: That the name of the deceased is Edward Kehrein, whose age was about 57 years; that he was about five feet, six inches high, weighing about 145 pounds, having sandy hair and mustache; that his middle finger of the left hand was cut off at the hand; that he came to his death on the 9th day of November, 1899, in Dalles City, and in the Cosmopolitan Hotel, said death being brought about from natural causes, the exact nature of which are to this jury unknown.

Dated at Dalles City, Oregon, this the 10th day of November, 1899.
