WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

We learn that Mrs. Chas. Curtis is quite ill of pneumonia at her home on the corner of Tenth and Union street.

If you want a stylish street hat it can be found at the Campbell & Wilson millinery parlors, where they have just received a new lot in all the different styles.

John Osborne, the fellow who was arrested on a charge of larceny from a dwelling, was arraigned today, and to-morrow at 10 o'clock was the time set for his hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Williams are moving into their cosy new home on Fourth street. It is one of the prettiest in the city, and the inside furnishings the very latest. Such homes are a credit to the city.

Mrs. Brown is still improving and unless unforeseen complications arise will no doubt get well. It looks as if Brown would contaminate the county jail with his presence for the next three months, as his case will not now come up till the next term of court.

Wheat is not a frequent visitor to The Dalles these days. There must be some more at least to come, but no doubt the condition of the roads is keeping the farmers from hauling it. At the warehouses, they are paying 45 cents, while the Diamond Mills today paid 50 cents.

Keep the gates closed. From now until "summer comes again" the festive town cow is to be "mofarich of all she surveys," and her right the council will not dispute. Henceforth she will play hookey of her own free will. Those who have kicks to register, prepare to kick them now.

The muddy streets are indeed most disagreeable, and make the pedestrian feel in anything but a pleasant mood; but when we hear every farmer and stockman who comes into the city telling of the way the grass is coming up and the good prospects for stock, we feel ashamed to complain.

It is no more than right that any person or persons coming into a city to dispose of bankrupt stocks or close out goods from stores in other places, be taxed heavily. They but injure the business of substantial citizens who have invested their money here, pay taxes and build up our city. The marshal should see the ordinance is enforced.

The young people of Liberty district are preparing for an entertainment and box social to be given Friday evening, Nov. 24th, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of the school and district. The young ladies are requested to bring boxes containing lunch for two, and those furnishing refreshments will be admitted free. An admission of 15 cents will be charged to all others.

Not only in the Western states are things lively and workmen in demand, but reports from all over the union are the same. Rev. W. C. Smith, who returned this morning from Pennsylvania, says he never saw such prosperous times there. In and about Pittsburgh laborers are in demand, and it seems impossible to get help enough to carry on the business all over the state. It takes wide awake men and any amount of them to keep up with the Republican times.

He tore into the postoffice yesterday red-eyed and with murder in his heart. Glaring at the postmaster in such a manner as to make him think his time had come, he said: "I sent $73 to my brother several weeks ago. Where is it? He didn't get it." After further expostulations and threats he said: "I have your receipt, where is the money?" The postmaster calmly asked to see the "receipt". He put his hand into his pocket drew forth a document and lo and behold it was the money order which his brother failed to receive and which the government had stolen. He sneaked out "all alone," and hasn't been back since.

Now that the council has extended to cyclists the privileges of the sidewalks, with the exception of Second street, it is to be hoped the right will not be abused and they be led to regret the move. A few days since a young girl was coming down the street at a lively rate, when she ran into an old man, almost knocking him over. She neither stopped to apologize nor see whether he was hurt or not, but sped on as if nothing had happened. There is no reason why the sidewalks should not be used, unless it is some such one as described, and it hardly seems fair that all should be deprived of the privilege for the thoughtlessness of a few.

Saturday afternoon Maude Kirby celebrated her ninth birthday by entertaining a number of her little friends. They played games and had a general good time, after which Mrs. Kirby served a nice lunch. Maude did not forget to remember some of the older "boys and girls", who received one of the cute little invitations sent out. The play-mates present were: Norma Dietzel, Myrtle Rorden, Margaret Whealdon, Jean Whealdon, Margaret Sampson, Frances Sampson, Norma Vause, Geraldine Kelley, Georgia DuBois, Eva Shepard, May Walkers, Lelia Laughry, Jessie McArthur, Carmel Bolton, Ruth Warner, Nellie Hostetler, Lou Hostetler.

If this exodus from the paths of single blessedness in Wasco county continues to increase, the path will soon be overgrown with weeds and it will be a difficult matter for the old maids and bachelors to make their way through the trackless waste. Still another marriage notice reaches us, which was sent from Portland, and reads thusly: "Two more of Wasco's young people were happily joined in the holy bonds of matrimony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. F. S. Campbell, in Portland, on Nov. 8, by Rev. F. T. Harter, pastor of the Evangelical church. The contracting parties were Miss Mellissa J. Cox and Mr. Malcolm P. Foster, of Nansene. After receiving congratulations the happy couple left on the California train for San Francisco to spend a two weeks' honeymoon. They will live at Nansene."

SEWER QUESTION DISCUSSED.

At the Council Meeting Last Night—Cows May Run at Large.

Councilmen Keller, Clough, Johns, Gunning, Stephens, Johnston, Shackelford, Kelly and Wilson were all present at the adjourned regular meeting of the council last night, when some important city business was transacted.

The question of improving Federal street on the bluff was first brought up, and the marshal was instructed to commence work at once. Grade stakes will be put in today and work began to-morrow.

Several years ago when there was a case of smallpox in the city and it was decided to move the patient to the pest house, which was then surrounded with residences, the people there objected so strongly that a new one was built farther out near the cave. Last night the marshal was instructed to take charge of the old house situated near the reservoir, and rent it if possible.

On motion of Johnston the petition of B. F. Laughlin and others, praying for the right to put in a side track on First street was granted.

The sewer question was then brought up. It will be remembered that at the last meeting on motion of Gunning, the council determined to reconsider the resolution on the proposed construction of the sewer system. Johns, however, moved to defer the reconsideration till last night, which was carried, consequently the matter came up before them last evening. Another vote on the original resolution being taken resulted in its being lost. Gunning then introduced a new resolution, which carried.

The difference between them was as follows: The first provided for a part of the system to go through the alleys and private property from Laughlin to Taylor (the latter street being on the west side of the brewery). Since the passing of the resolution some considered it not advisable, therefore the new resolution, which provides that instead of going through alleys and private property that portion of the system be put in up Second street. Upon vote it was carried by 8 to 1. Work on the new system will not be commenced till spring.

On motion of Wilson the marshal was instructed not to enforce the bicycle ordinance forbidding riding on the sidewalks; provided that the cyclists stay off of Second, that no fast riding be allowed, and that they dismount when they are about to meet a woman or child.

Skakelford moved that the ordinance against cattle running at large be not enforced during the winter. The matter of enforcing ordinance No. 295, relative to the license which must be paid by persons coming into the city to dispose of bankrupt stock of goods, or to close out a stocks of goods, was brought up and the marshal ordered to strictly enforce it.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all druggists.
