REBELS KILLED MAJOR LOGAN

Falls While Leading His Battalion in an Attack on 1200 Rebels.

WESSELS CAPTURED THE INSURGENTS

Admiral Watson Reports on Wreck of the Charleston—Cruiser Seems to Be Stuck Hard and Heavy Sea is Rolling—Hong Kong Has Been Cabled for Salvage.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A cable dispatch received at the war department announces that Major John A. Logan, Thirty-third volunteer infantry, has been killed in a fight in Luzon. He was leading his battalion in action. He is a son of the late General John A. Logan, of Illinois, and Mrs. Marie Logan is now a resident of Washington. He leaves a widow and three children at Youngstown, Ohio. The news of the death of the major was contained in the following dispatch received from General Otis under date of Manila today:

"Wheaton reports, November 12, that there was an engagement near San Jacinto between the Thirty-third volunteers and 1200 entrenched insurgents. Our loss included Major Logan, who was gallantly leading the battalion, and six enlisted men killed. Captain Green and eleven men were wounded, most very slight. The enemy were routed, leaving eighty-one dead in the trenches. Their total loss is believed to be 300.

"Lawton reports from San Jose that in the vicinity of San Nicolas, north of Tayuig, Wessels captured thirteen carts with the insurgent war department records. A printing press and complete outfit of the insurgent newspaper and a large quantity of rice were captured. The cavalry is still actively engaged and the infantry is pressing on from San Jose and Araga. The roads are impracticable for any wheel transportation and the horses are foraged on rice and growing rice straw.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The following was also received at the navy department from Watson today:

"Manila, Nov. 14.—An escaped Spanish prisoner at San Fabian reports seeing Lieutenant Gilmore on November 1 in Tarlac with five men, all well. He crossed the mountains from Baler in May with thirteen men. The location of the other eight men is unknown. Have cabled Hong Kong for salvage for the Charleston."

Wreck of the Charleston.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Admiral Watson cables to the navy department the following official report of the wreck of the cruiser Charleston:

"The Charleston was wrecked on an uncharted coral reef, three miles northwest of Guinapak rocks, north coast of Luzon, at 5:30 in the morning, November 24. Everybody was safely landed on Kamiguina island with rifles and two Colts. The natives are friendly. McDonald made Lingayen gulf in a sailing launch. When he left there had been no opportunity for an examination of the wreck. Northeast monsoon. A heavy sea is prevailing.

"It is reported that the ship struck easily, then thumped violently; the fire-room compartment was flooded, the first water-tight doors closing promptly. The ship lies settled aft, the water one foot from her name. She is well out of the water forward, apparently on a very steep bank. Ten days' provisions and 100 rations were landed."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and proscribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hobart Improves.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 13.—Improvement in the condition of Vice-President Hobart continues, and Mrs. Hobart and other members of the family feel confident that the life of the vice-president will be preserved for a long time, even if his complete recovery is not considered a possibility by his physician. Today he was able to partake of all his meals at the usual times. Mrs. Hobart, who has been at his bedside almost continually since his serious illness began, felt so encouraged at the improvements this afternoon that she consented to go for a drive. This is the first time that she has been willing to leave the Hobart residence for even a few moments during the last two weeks.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. —ADOLPH L. MILLETT, Manchester, N.H. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

W. G. Magers Must Hang.

SALEM, Nov. 13.—The supreme court today affirmed the judgment of the lower court in the case of W. G. Magers, twice sentenced in the circuit court for Polk county to be hanged for the murder of A. R. Sink, in September, 1897. This is the second time the case has been passed on by the supreme court.

Saturday afternoon Maude Kirby celebrated her ninth birthday by entertaining a number of her little friends. They played games and had a general good time, after which Mrs. Kirby served a nice lunch. Maude did not forget to remember some of the older "boys and girls", who received one of the cute little invitations sent out. The play-mates present were: Norma Dietzel, Myrtle Rorden, Margaret Whealdon, Jean Whealdon, Margaret Sampson, Frances Sampson, Norma Vaue, Geraldine Kelley, Georgia DuBois, Eva Shepard, May Walthers, Lella Langhry, Jessie McArthur, Carmel Bolton, Ruth Warner, Nellie Hostetler, Lou Hostetler.

COSMOPOLITAN COIN.

Talk of Introducing One Into International Business.

Such a Departure Has Been Viewed with Favor by Commercial and Banking Men for Some Time.

For many years commercial men of all nationalities have spoken and written on the subject of the introduction of a system of coinage which should have a universal standard. The proposition has failed to meet with success on account of the difficulty of persuading the people of different countries to abandon their own systems of coinage, which appear to them part and parcel of themselves as much as their language itself.

"The time seems approaching," said a financier, "when it will be possible and perhaps advisable for the great nations of the earth to meet in convention and adopt a coin which shall be cosmopolitan, the weight and fineness of which might be determined by the convention and the minting of which might be intrusted to a body of experts made up of representatives from all the nations who care to enter into the project. It may be some time before this comes about, yet it would greatly facilitate international business, especially since large international transactions have come to be quite common. Such a coin would probably never supplant the coin local to the various countries in which also the cosmopolitan coin became current, yet with education taking such strides as it seems to be doing everywhere it ought not to be difficult to instruct the children in schools in the table of the proposed coin and give them practical illustrations in its use. Such a coin would not be welcomed enthusiastically by small traders in different countries who are wont to profit by the unfamiliarity of travelers with the coin of the realm and their natural bewilderment in attempting to fix in their minds the comparative value of articles considered in relation to the money they have always handled, but it would be a boon to the great traveling world's public, to our globe-trotting commercial travelers, to opulent tourists and to indigent emigrants. The current is surely in the direction of a universal harmonizing of commercial interests and the elimination of all the little lucky cards and a relegation of all things and people in trade to a sound basis of intrinsic merit."

"The subject of a cosmopolitan coin is not a new one," said a member of a banking firm. "In some of the aspects of the case it appears to be very desirable. It has been suggested that the various commercial nations agree upon a gold coin, of uniform weight and fineness, to be given a name which would be understood in most of the countries agreeing to its coinage. Each country is to coin its own pieces and to be responsible for their accuracy. The coin is to have on one side the stamp or legend of the country coining it and on the other its universal name. It will readily be seen that with such a coin in universal use, both in practice and accounts, commercial transactions would no doubt be greatly facilitated. I do not look, however, for its early accomplishment. Its desirability is not sufficient to overcome the long established customs of the various countries so as to lead them to relinquish the names and styles of their various coins. Conservative England, for instance, with its cumbersome system, is not likely to relinquish its pounds, shillings and pence and adopt the decimal system of France, Germany, Italy and the United States. And it is not likely that the latter would give up their quick and handy decimal system for that of England. On the whole, the idea is a very good one, but, like many other good things—like the proposed metrical system, for instance—impossible of accomplishment for various reasons at present."—Chicago Chronicle.

Home of Cottonseed Oil.

Little Rock, Ark., is the largest producing point for cottonseed oil in the world; it also leads in the quality of barrel staves, the product being shipped to the wine groves of California and to the distilleries and also exported. It has the largest cotton compress in the world; has the first rock in the Arkansas river for a pier of one of its bridges, and was the home of Sandy Faulkner, the author of the famous bit of music, "The Arkansas Traveler." It was also the home of Albert Pike, the celebrated poet and mason, and is especially celebrated as the birthplace of Fay Templeton, the comic opera singer. It was the seat of war during the Brooks-Baxter reconstruction imbroglio, and the land upon which the city is built was first owned by Spain, and came from France into the United States with the Louisiana purchase.—Chicago Tribune.

An Intemperate Cat.

There is a cat in a certain Strand tavern which is addicted to drink. The habit, it seems, was contracted almost accidentally in the first place. The cat had accustomed itself to watch the fillings of the wine decanters in the bar, and to lap up any of the liquid which might have been spilled. As it frequently happens that a considerable quantity of wine is lost during the day, pussy has indulged in her bad habits to such an extent that towards evening she cannot walk without staggering. The favorite beverage is port wine, but if that is unobtainable pussy satisfies her cravings with sips of whisky or any other spirit which comes in her way.—London News.
