AN AUDACIOUS DECLARATION.

Chicago contractors and architects have declared their purpose to "break up the present trades unions." This is an idle boast, says the Spokesman-Review. In a contest of that nature, the unions would have the moral and material support of an overwhelming majority of the people because the law-abiding character of the Chicago unions has not been called in question. There is no complaint of violence, and the contractors have declared war, not to uphold any high-minded principle, but simply to advance their own selfish interests.

Lawful trades unions, made up of respectable, law-abiding workmen, are essential to the welfare of the wage-earners. In this era of fierce competition and gigantic combinations of capital, there is greater need than ever before of strong organization in the ranks of labor. The wage-earners of the country must be well paid, or the citizenship of the republic will suffer, because the wage-earner who is underpaid and overworked can not meet those obligations to his children which are so essential to the growth of the best qualities of citizenship. An unscrupulous, greedy employer has no moral right to put his employes on scant wages, and thus deprive a part of the rising generation of good food, good clothing and good education.

The sweeping declaration of the Chicago contractors will be condemned as it deserves, and we believe the selfish object will not be attained.

ON ITS LAST LEGS.

Nearly all accounts lead the inquiring mind to the conviction that the back of the Filipino insurrection is broken. The season is on when the American forces can pursue. The sole object of the insurgents is to keep out of reach of the Americans. This they cannot do much longer. Squads may secrete themselves in the mountains and give some trouble for months by timid bushwhacking fighting, but this will do little damage, and will soon die out. Lawton, MacArthur, Wheeler, Wheaton and Funston—if the latter gets back in time—will soon wind up Aguinaldo's ball of insurrectionary yarn. Already the insurrection is on its last legs, and when its legs give out it is done for. Then a suitable government will be gradually established, and the wall of the anti will die out in this land.—Telegram.

Your Face
